Early in September of 1985 Lee High began to take form once again and the General lifestyle took on a new definition:

Rē • jù • vē • nā′tion (n.) result of a 7.4 million dollar facelift given to Lee Ex. 1-Forty-two new classrooms, a vocational education building, a swimming pool and a gym were added. Ex. 2 — Graffiti no longer adorned the freshly painted walls and garbage made its' way to previously starved trash cans.

Ad • vēr′si • ty (n.) hardships created by continued construction Ex. 1 — A hazardous ramp, known as the "interstate," between the main academic halls and the temporary buildings had to be closed down and a detour was set up around the new gym and pool. Ex. 2 — The Homecoming parade was canceled because the campus grounds were so torn up by construction and bad weather.

Dē • tēr • mi • nā′ tion (n.) General response to all the implications of tightening academic standards Ex. 1 — After being stripped of most privileges and many pleasures, students regrouped, set more academic oriented goals and began the year with an unmatched fervor. Ex. 2 — Students aimed to go beyond the required an attitude that set them apart from years past.

On the Foot'ball Field

Nowhere was the "new" General spirit more apparent than at the football games. Although the team lost week after week they were never defeated. The players gave it their all and the fans responded with undying support, giving the games new meaning:

Rēbuild'ing (n.) the state of the General football team for the past several years Ex. — With only 7 starting seniors, the pressure was great on inexperienced sophomores and juniors.

Win'ning (n.) performing to the best of your ability Ex. — Despite their won/loss record General players were winners by virtue of their dedication and persistence.

Hōme'cŏm"ing (n.) a time to reminisce days gone by, celebrate the present and anticipate the future Ex. 1 — School spirit which was already high was given an additional boost by Homecoming festivities that included a bonfire and the crowning of a new queen, Erin McCormick. Ex. 2 — Players were given t-shirts saying "Yes Lee Can, And Will"; however, the Sharpstown Apollos proved to be too tough an opponent.

Out'sîde the Clàss'room

Despite limitations put on the student body by House Bill 72, extra-curricular activities not only did not falter, but attained a level of excellence not seen for many years:

Char • is • mat' • ic (a.) what the club leaders were in their attempts to inspire their followers Ex. — As new rules discouraged participation in extra-curricular activities, club presidents were challenged to make their clubs seem both rewarding and appealing.

Crē • ā'tive (a.) the new ideas various clubs used to promote participation and spirit Ex. 1 — Student Council sponsored a "CleanLee" campaign to maintain the recent campus improvements and give all students a sense of belonging through activity. Ex. 2 — When the Homecoming parade had to be cancelled, the parent's Booster Club and the Spirit Committee put together a bonfire to keep the General spirit lit.

Ef • fect'ive (a.) the results of club activities Ex. 1 — Anchor Club's Fall toy drive proved to be timely for needy children at Hermann Hospital. Ex. 2 — Once again Key Club held a blood drive to supplement an always meager supply.

WILL

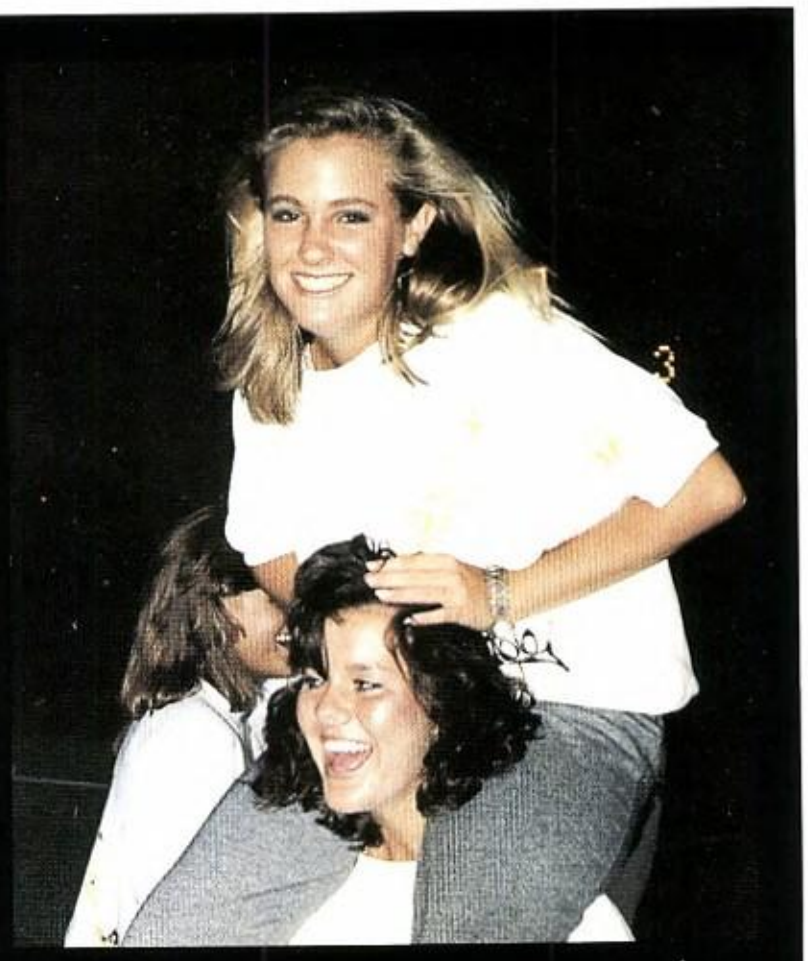
Å • wāy from School

With the increasing pressure put on the students in the classroom, not only to be educated, but to do it by the rules, students felt the need not only to relax, but to rebel. "Vacations" for Lee students were not a time to rest, but a time to lose sleep and party. The activities were broad, but most had a common bond:

thēme pärties (n.) a gathering in which students took on various roles Ex. 1 — Some of the student body engaged in mock warfare as others headed south of the border for a "fajita fest." Ex. 2 — Guys and gals shed their designer labels and donned "no-name" brands for a generic party.

for′mals (n.) a time to play dress up Ex. — Students "put on the ritz" as they sweated and danced to the "Magic of Mardigras."

cas′ū • ăls (n.) co-ed get-togethers usually held just to avoid loneliness Ex. 1 — Freshmen followed tradition and converged at establishments such as Mr. Gatti's. Ex. 2 — No longer stimulated by the mass of "open" parties, seniors reverted to primitive fun such as bowling and watching movies at home. Ex. 3 — The YMCA generously provided space for post-game dances and buses for transportation to the football games.



Bē • yond′ Lee's Mî′crō • cosm

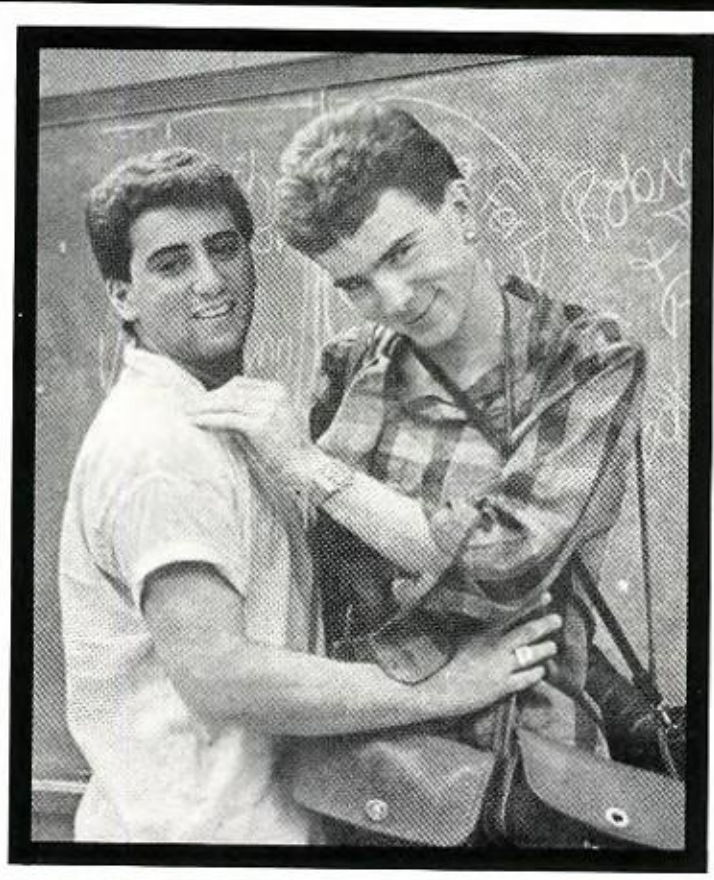
Just as Lee redefined itself so did the world around us:

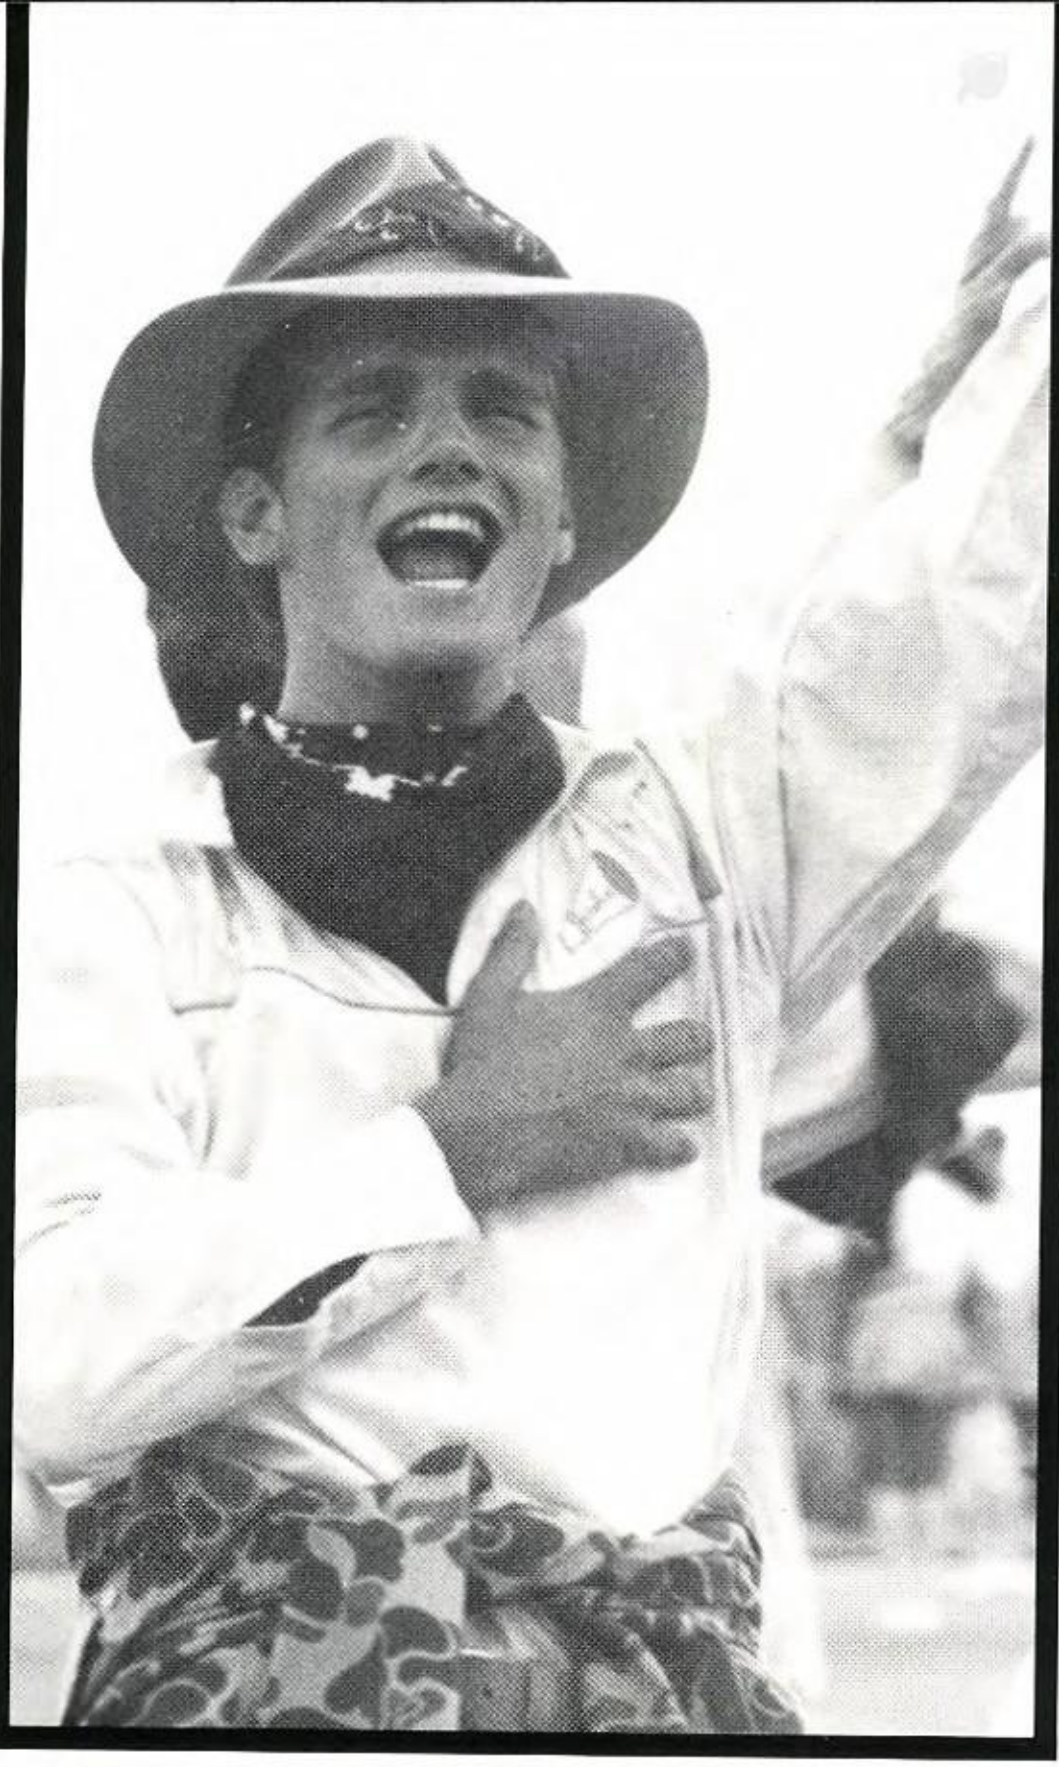
Out′rāge (n.) Ronald Reagan's attitude towards terrorism Ex. — U.S. fighter planes intercepted the highjackers of a cruise ship the Achille Lauro, en route to Tunisia and brought them to justice in Italy, giving Reagan a rare but much sought after victory over terrorists.

Con • fū′sion (n.) the feeling created by conflicting reports on Houston's well-being from ex-mayor Louis Welch and the incumbent Kathy Whitmire during the mayoral campaign Ex. 1 — Outspoken Welch defined Houston as a city on the verge of financial ruin, while Whitmire claimed just the opposite in her jingle, "We've come too far to turn back now." Ex. 2 — In a unusual turn of events, traditional campaign issues were overshadowed by moral topics like gay rights and A.I.D.S.

Añx • î′ e • ty (n.) the nation's reaction to an A.I.D.S. (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) epidemic Ex. — When Rock Hudson, an A.I.D.S. victim and famous actor, died, the entire nation became aware of the disease.

Time and again the students were tempted to accept mediocrity, but they were determined to turn their lives in a new direction and give life at Lee new meaning.





Fā′vŏr • ites

Some students rose above the crowd and earned the recognition and respect of their peers. The qualities which made them outstanding were:

rē • spect′ a • bil • i • ty (n.) the dominant characteristic of pupils whom the teachers felt were best able to represent their classmates Ex. — Most representatives tended to be intelligent, responsible, and industrious.

beau • ty (n.) noteworthy physical appearance Ex. — Not yet mature enough to look for beauty in the eyes of the beholder, students gravitated towards those known as "fine," "incredible," or "hot."

pop • u′lar • i • ty (n.) a measure of how well known and well-liked students were Ex. — Most popular were most often seen by their peers as "cool," "fun," and "outgoing."

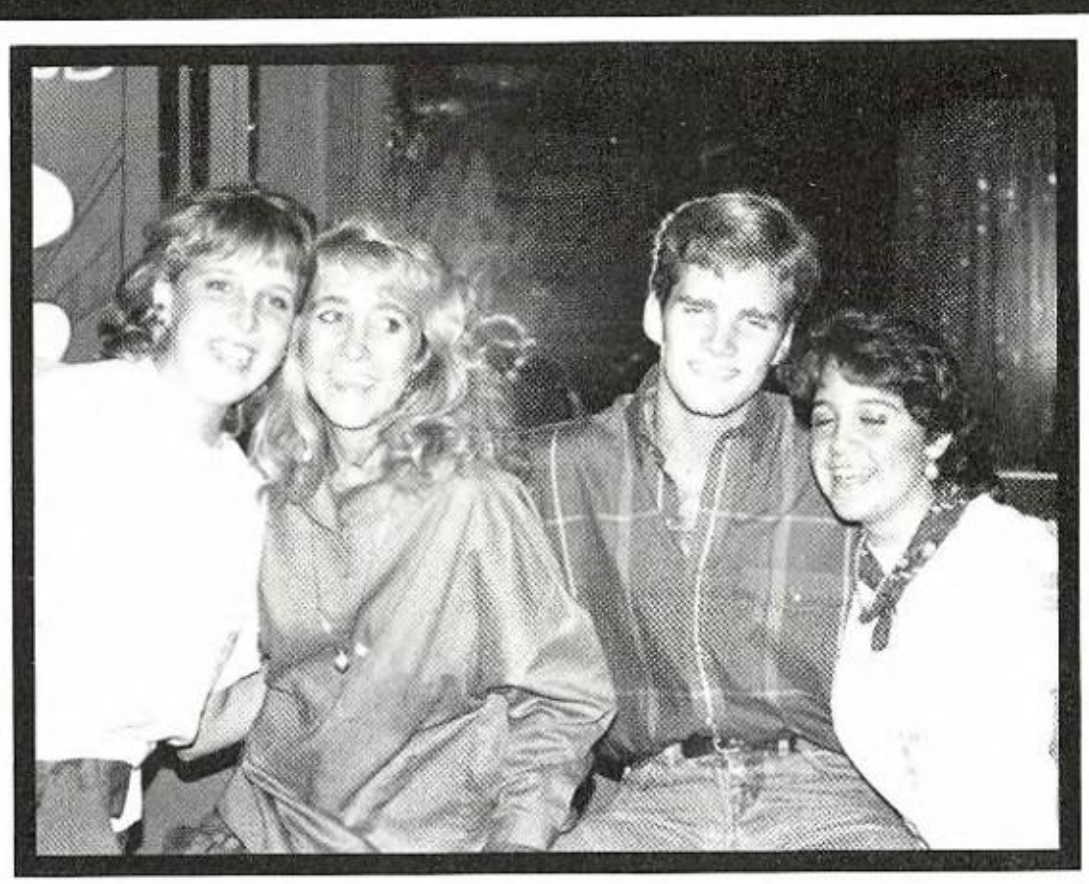
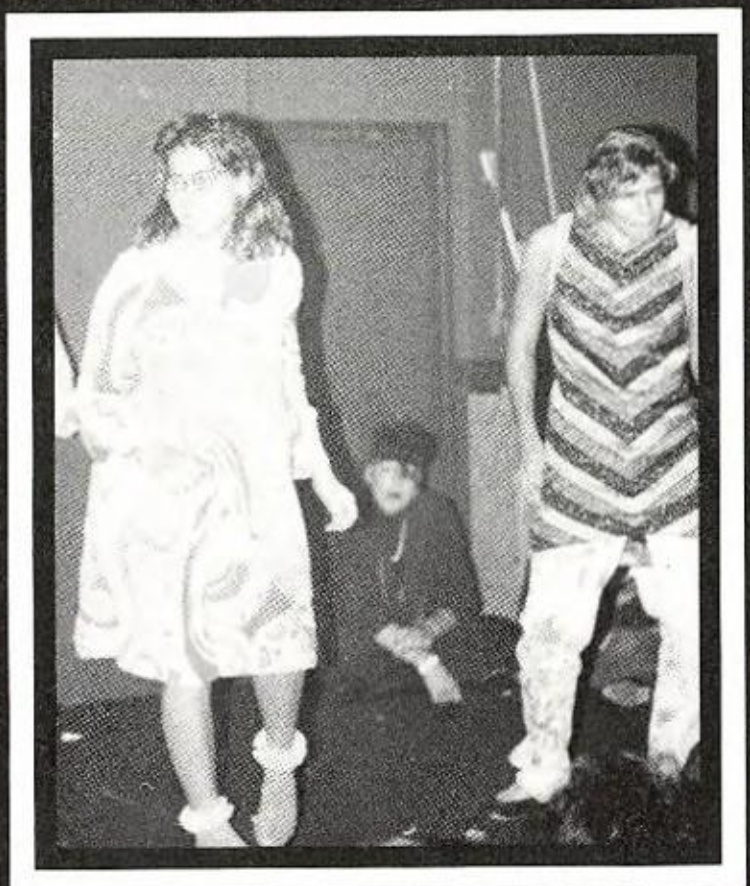
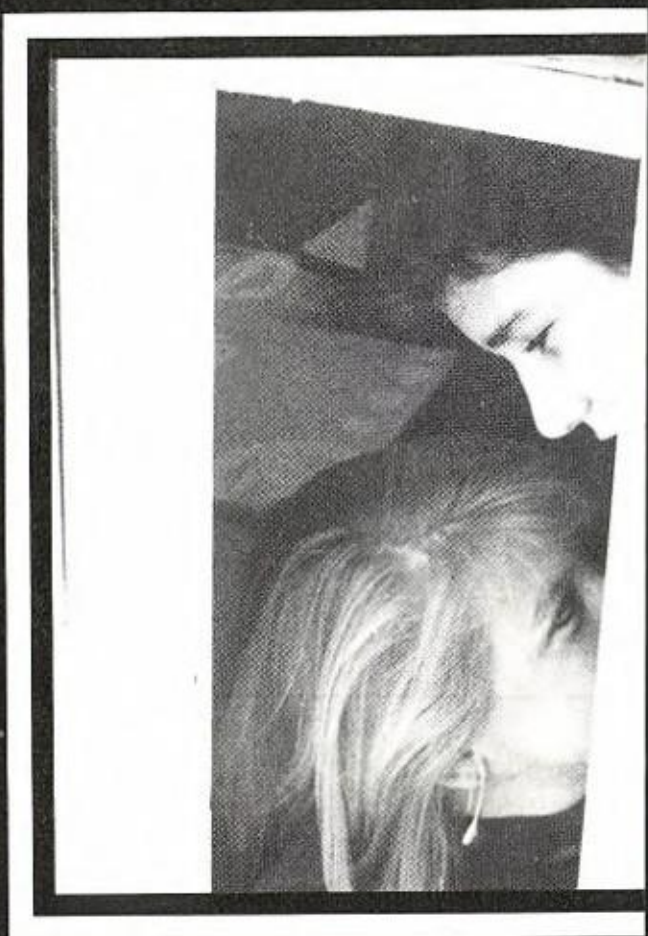
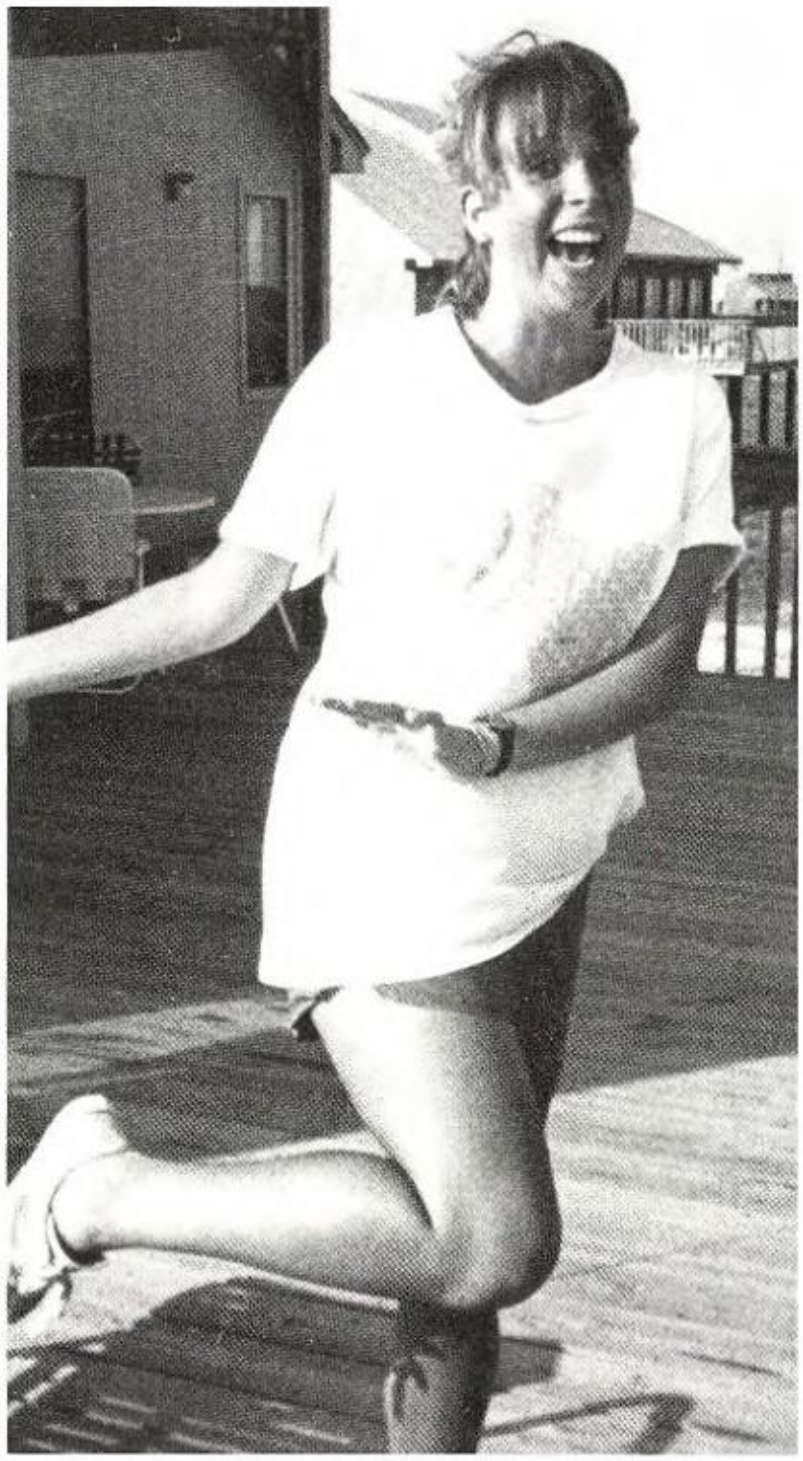
In order to experience life to the fullest students became involved in various activities. The balance between work and pleasure varied from student to student but the end result was the same:

An • tic • i • pā' tion (n.) feeling created by an upcoming event or weekend. Ex. 1 — On Mondays the most asked question was "What did you do this weekend?" while on Tuesdays through Fridays it was "What are you doing this weekend?" Ex. 2 — Events such as Career Day and College Night were planned months in advance. In • tēr • ac' tion (n.) the opportunity to get to know and work with one's peers Ex. — Clubs brought students with common interests together and offered a chance to socialize. Mem' ō • ries (n.) the outrageous stories of activities which were destined to be told to children and grandchildren. Ex. — Students will always remember the theme parties, formals, club functions and other activities with which they entertained themselves.









As the summer of 1985 quickly came to an end, students of Lee prepared themselves for one more year. Last-minute trips to the beach abounded, and kids threw end-of-the-summer parties, helping to make special memories last. On September 3, a myriad of fish edged their way into the ideal life of Lee, as sophomores began to move on up the ladder. The juniors tried their best to get to the top, only to realize that there is no substitute for the seniors of '85-'86!

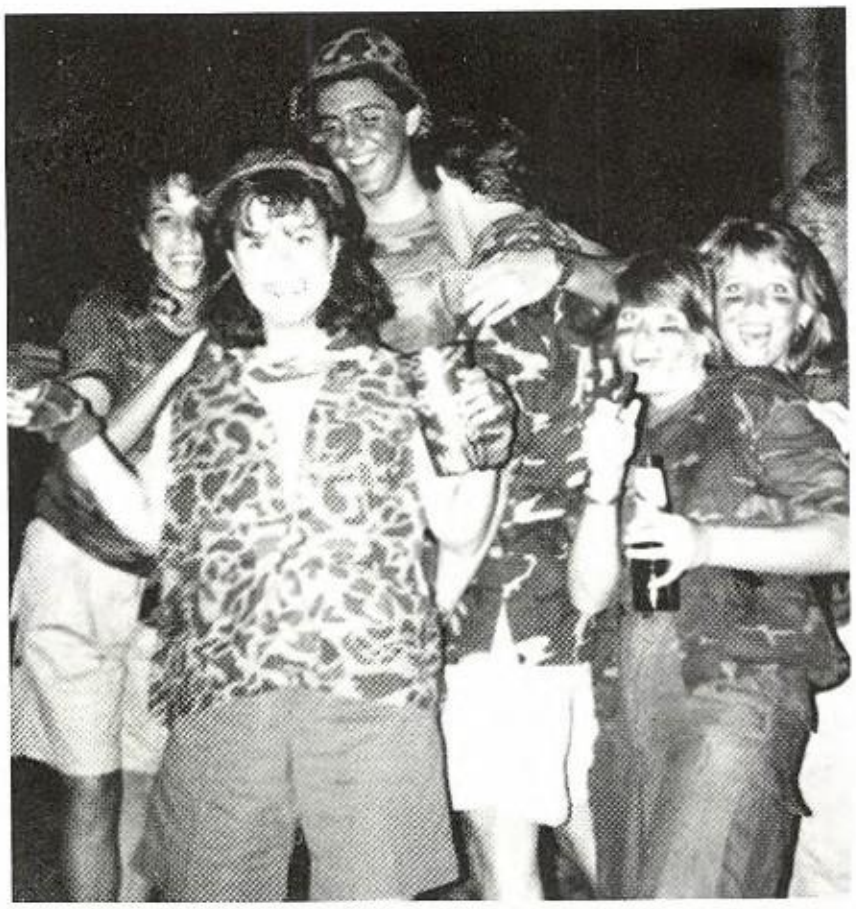
Middle: "Come on, Dina! Grin and bare it all — this is our chance to make the cover of the How-to-be-sexy-yet-full-bodied Journal.!" urges Amy Eccles to Dina Davis.
Bottom: These raving beauties seem to be content, but Staton Culver and Chris Tucker think they would be "Better Off Dead."

SUMMER '85 — SOME LIKE IT HOT



Top Left: Sophomore beached beauties Helen Vaughan and Meredith McConn know that if their sunbathing won't catch attention, their straight teeth will.
Top Right: Kristin Berly and her canine friend illustrate that "birds of a feather flock together."
Left: A light-headed Jil Laughlin leans up one last time to answer the frequent question: "How's the intelligent blonde today?"

LEE'S SPIRIT GETS OUT OF HAND

Top Left: Spirit Committee members are shocked to see that, without them, there are still Lee General fans in the stand.
Top Right: "I've got him RIGHT where I want him!" says a determined Shelly Walker of her easy-going boyfriend, Scott Broussard.
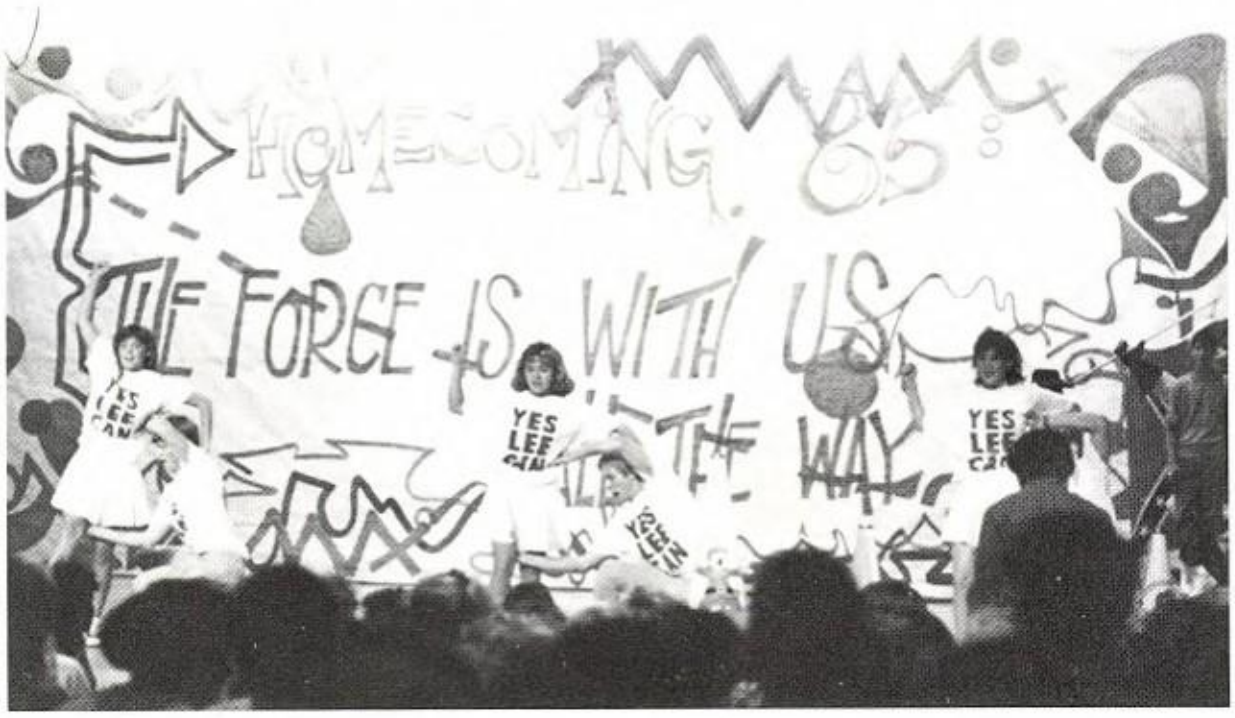
Middle Right: "This is not a problem. I'll have them organized momentarily," claims Laura Thorsell, while Allison Poellinger knows better and comes to the rescue.
Right: Kirstin Torgerson and Cynthia Wolff despair in knowing that it's going to take more than Spirit Committee to win a football game.

Left: Pam Stewart tries her best to break between Stewart Vandervoort and Mark Drury, but everyone knows there is no breaking them apart.
Middle Left: Leave it to Spirit Committee to create new ways to get around those obstacles on the road.
Middle Right: Hey! Somebody tell Donito Flennoy and Nicole Santikos that they are cheering for the wrong team.
Bottom Left: When you've got the Spirit Committee, what else do you need? A football team?
Bottom Right: Mary Margaret Speed and Tracey Jones smile in knowing that Lindy Turner finally has a real man, like Troy Pidgeon, to hang on to.

HOMECOMING '85 . . .

The Homecoming of 1985 was a time for tremendous excitement! This year, instead of having the traditional parade and pep rally, the cheerleaders and Spirit Committee held a bonfire the night before the big day.

The next night, October 25, Erin McCormick was crowned Homecoming Queen with Tammi Bedford and Joanne Estrada as finalists. The Lee Generals played against the Sharpstown Apollos. Despite the supportive spirit, the Generals lost 35-7. Even so, Lee carried on the burning flame of tradition.



Top: The cheerleaders go all out in trying to boost Lee's spirit for Homecoming '85.
Right: The Homecoming court, Erin McCormick, queen, with Tammi Bedford and Joanne Estrada as finalists prepare to leave the field.

A BURNING TRADITION

Top Right: The bonfire died, but Lee's spirit had just begun to grow.

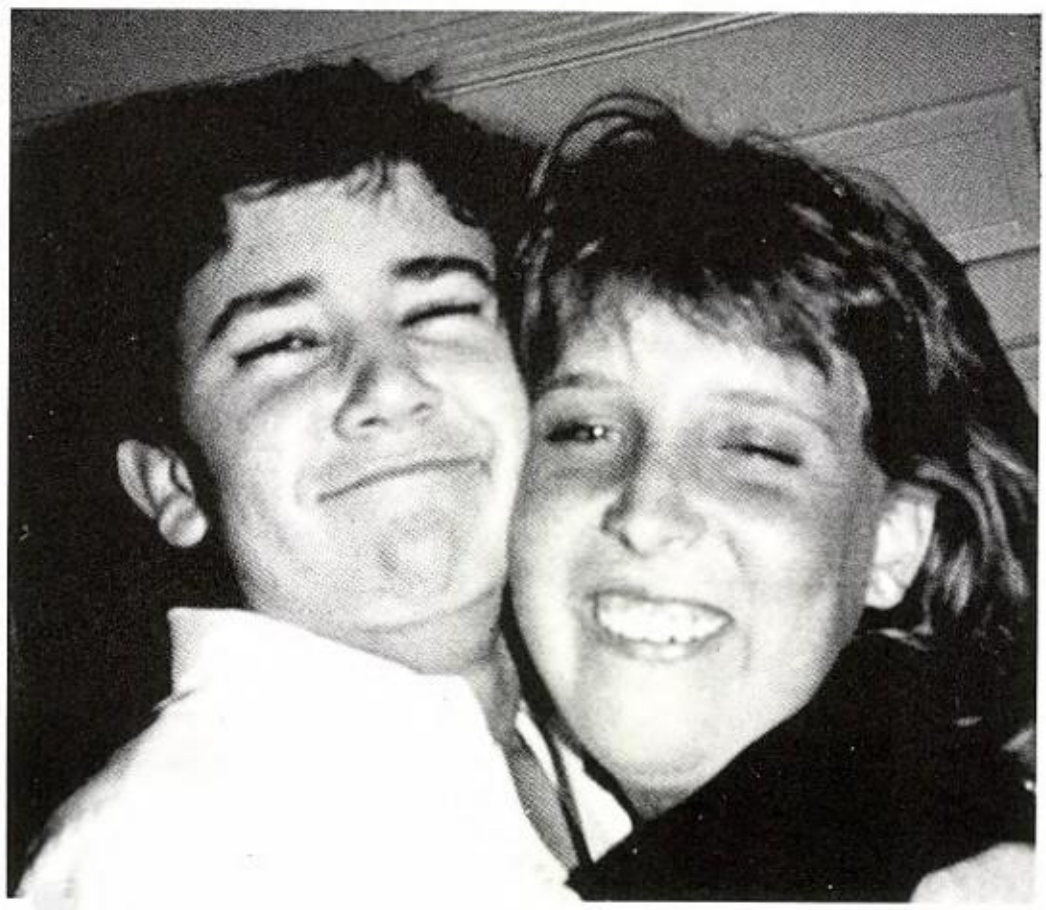
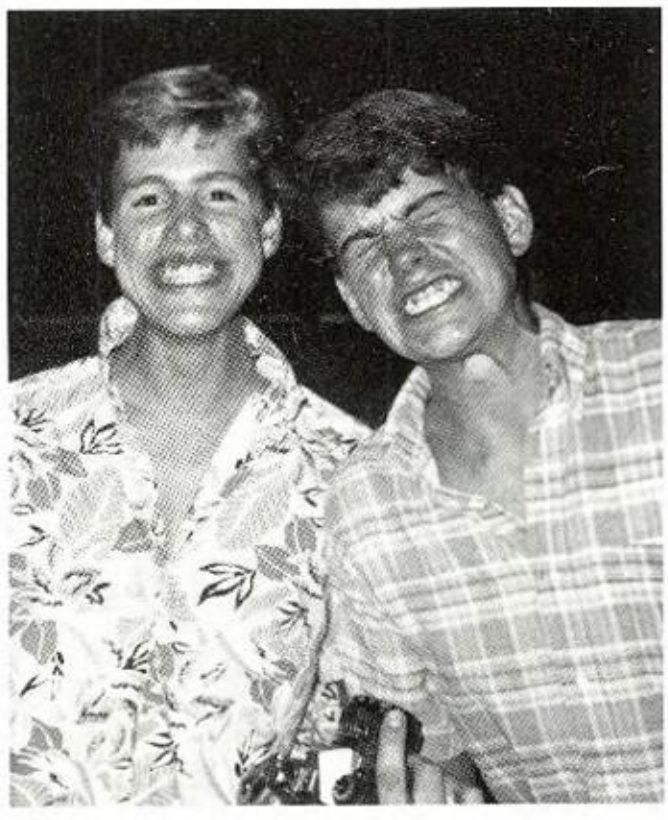
Top Right: Dina Davis finds it more respectable to portray a lizard than a rabbit like Amy Eccles.
Middle Left: "This is not my idea of French class!" exclaims Cindy Justice, while Beth Ford and Billy Sanders are more than willing to participate.
Middle Right: True space cadets: Stiles White, who appears to be in another world, and Peter McKechnie, who is more down to earth.
Right: "Oh, I'm in Heaven!" smirks a sarcastic Jeff Nalley, while Karen Coates seems to be disgusted at the entire situation.



GETTIN' GOOFY

Top: Ginny Southerland knows better than to look at Medusa look-alike Michelle Wallace: she doesn't believe in getting "stoned."
Left: After a final attempt at teaching his Hispanic friends "The Bird," Edward "Morris Day" Griffin gives up and asks, "What time is it?"
Bottom Left: Obviously, Pam New, Jennifer Cummings, and Carolyn Hamm checked out of the institution a little too soon.
Below: "Watch where you put your knee!" cries Scott Broussard, while Michael Atkinson can only grin with satisfaction.



CHEERLEADERS OF '86

Without the cheerleaders' continued support, Lee would never have been as spirited as it was this year. The group attended football, volleyball, and basketball games and held weekly morning pep rallies. The cheerleaders of '85-'86 were John Cheeseman, Danny Copeland, Kendall Griffith, Edye Humphrey, Lisa Lovett, Erin McCormick, James McKissick, and Bishop Meyer. Miss Beth Bogan, acting as the Cheerleaders' supportive sponsor, urged them on to an outstanding season.

Top: The cheerleaders of 1985-1986 display their talents in building the perfect pyramid.

KEEP THE FANS GROOVIN'

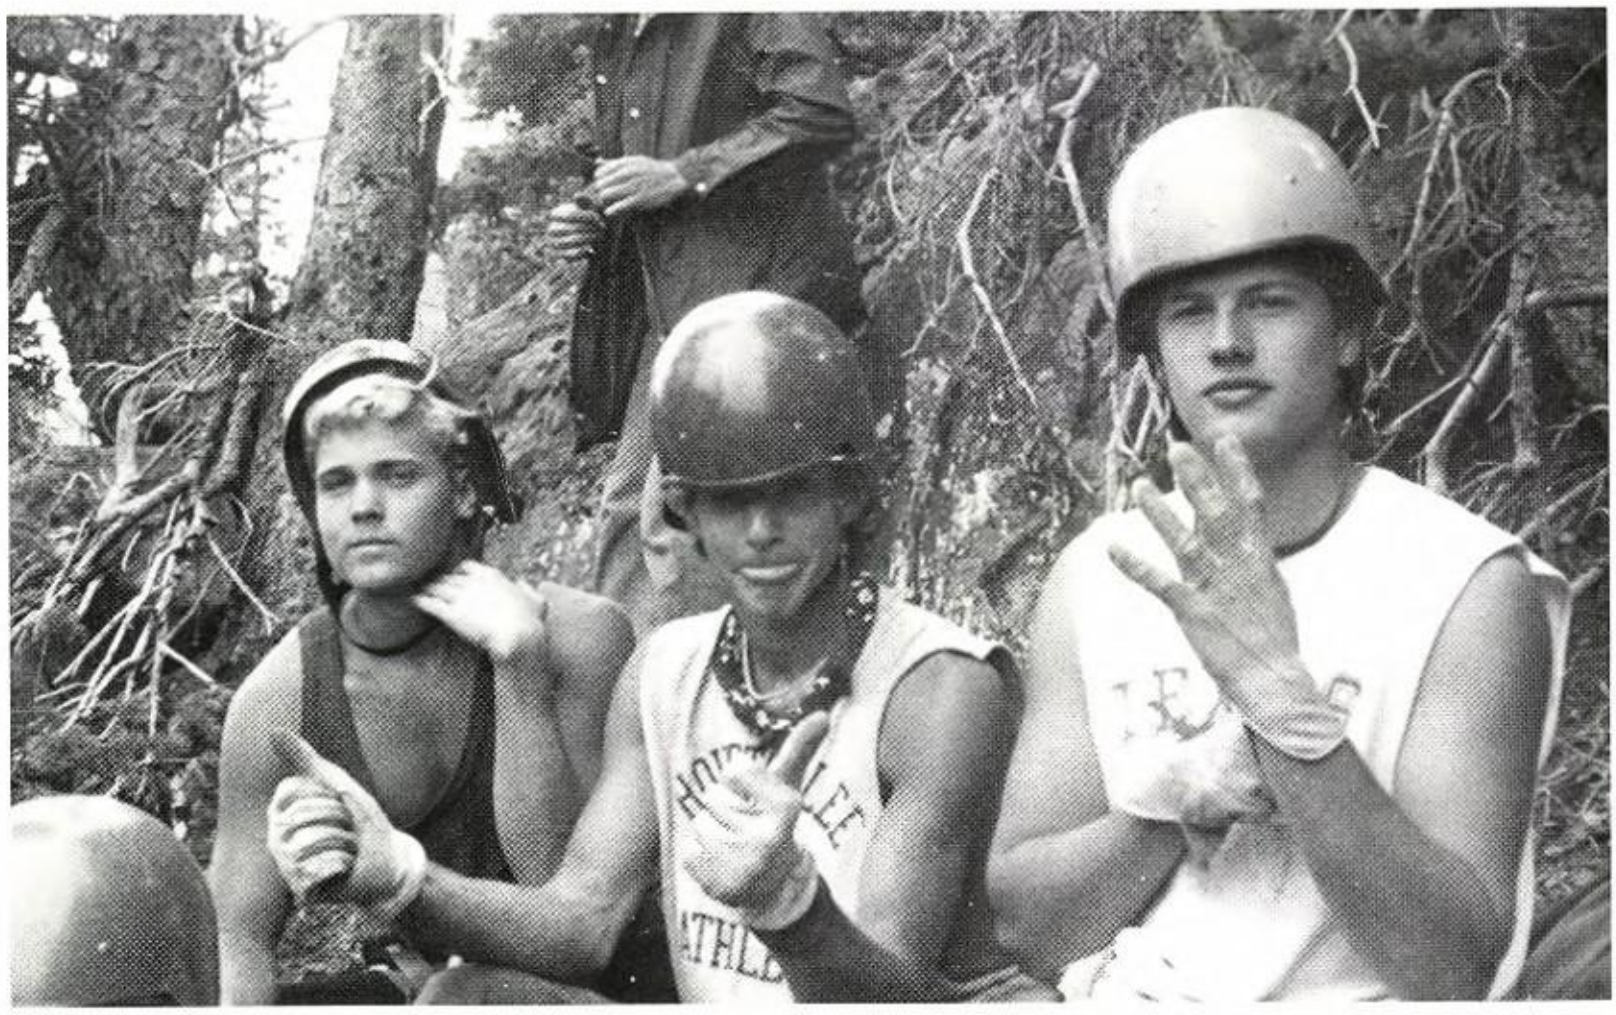
Left: "Maybe if you started flapping your arms, we could fly!" suggests helpful Bishop Meyer to his partner, Lisa Lovett.

YOUNG LIFE



Once again, Lee students took an active part in the non-denominational Christian group, Young Life. Meetings were held every Tuesday and were open to any sophomore, junior, and senior. During the holidays, Young Life organized a ski trip to Purgatory, Colorado. Other activities offered were Wilderness, a back-packing adventure, and Windy Gap, a summer camp in North Carolina. Overall, Young Life this year was a great experience for everyone and it never could have been done without the leadership of Mark Goodson and Colleen O'Grady. Thanks, guys!

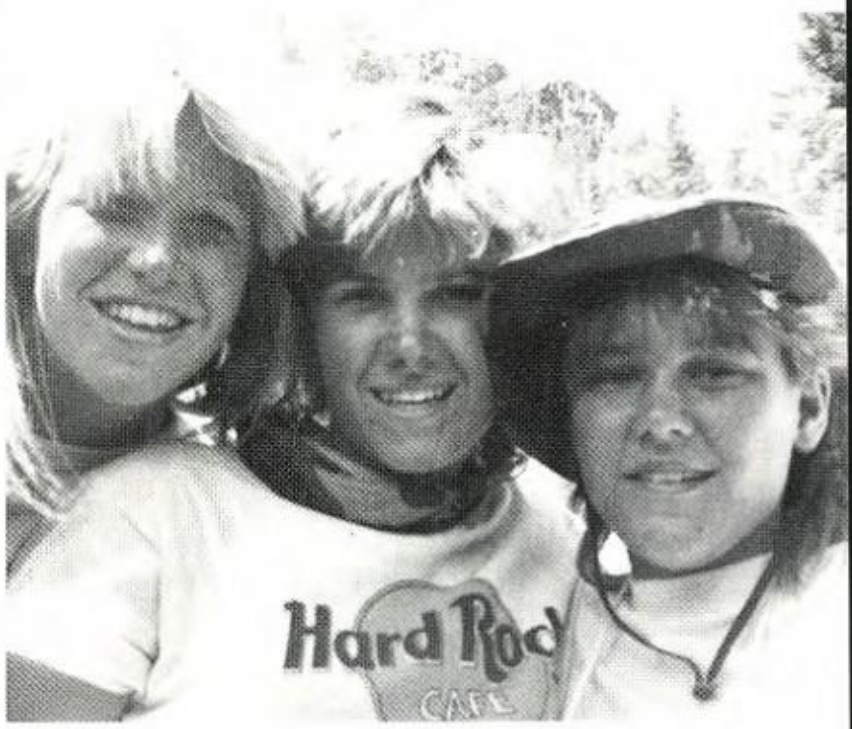
Top: "No guts, no glory — just go for it," prove Matt Adams, Matthew Alvarez, and Bill Brown as their 'wildlife' motto.

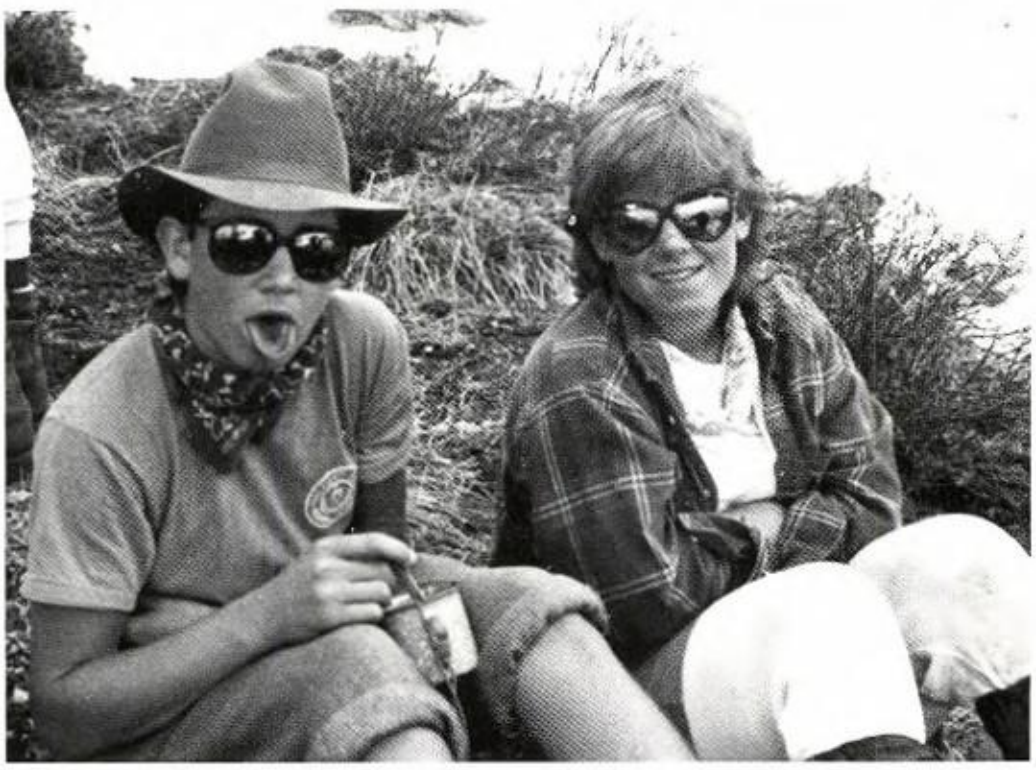
Middle: Regretfully, Brett Larson exclaims that even these three beauties together couldn't measure up to the ones he had before.

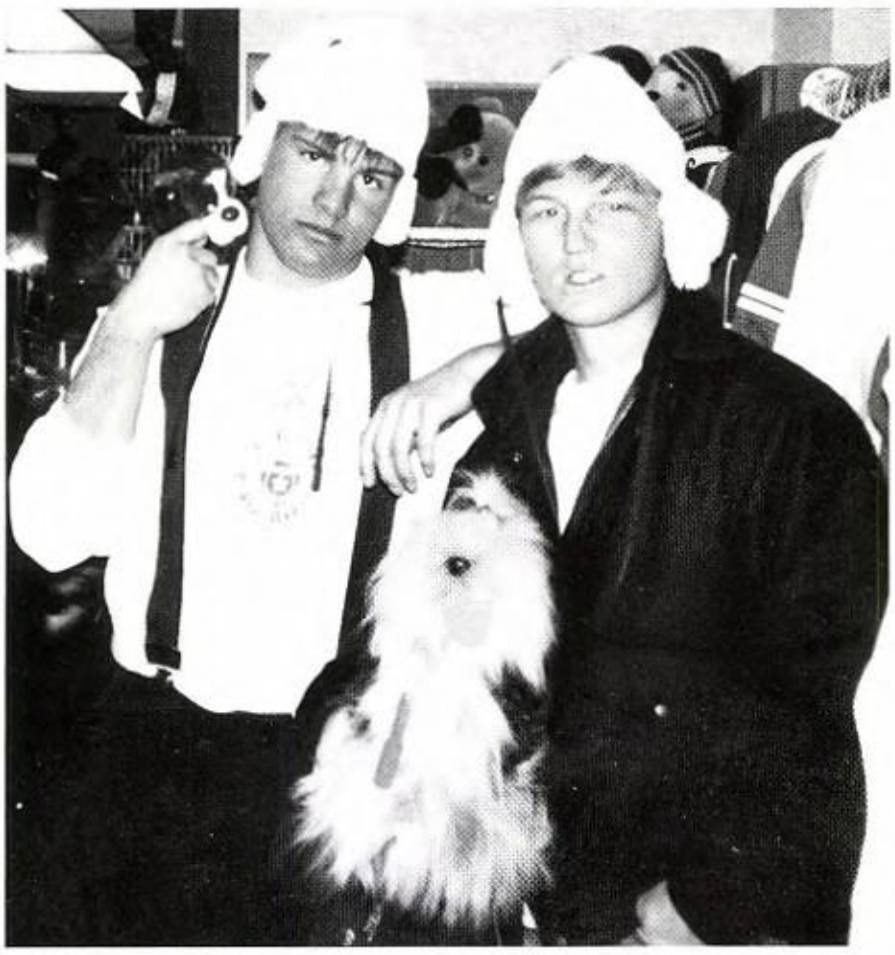
Right: Brooke Wright thinks it would be all right if they went on without her.

Far Right: "Skiing is an art I haven't yet perfected," displays a coordinated Kelly O'Neil.

SEES THE LIGHT







Top Left: What could the Hound Dogs do without their infamous leader, Charlie Zander, as they belt out their tunes to Young Life?

Top Right: Meredith McKay, Jana Jones, and Laura Thorsell agree with Fernando — "It's not how you feel, it's how you look."

Above Left: "That freeze-dried chicken chow mein will even make your tongue curl," grumbles Jeff Nalley as Jana Jones moans in disgust.

Above Right: "Don't we look great?" brag senior guys, but as you can tell, they're only standing still.

Right: Richard Ferrell, still in his hospital attire, came to get Victoria Giammalva to return with him to the mental institution.

Below Left: "Kamikaze my body!" whines Cary Prince to pilot Dean Crassas who is willing to take the dive.

Below Middle: "When learning to parallel, keep your knees bent, legs slightly spread apart . . ." instructs an experienced Matt Blackmon to an amateur Brooke Wright.

Bottom Middle: Jennifer Hensen and Brad Olsen are comforted knowing that even through vague and smokey times they'll always have each other.

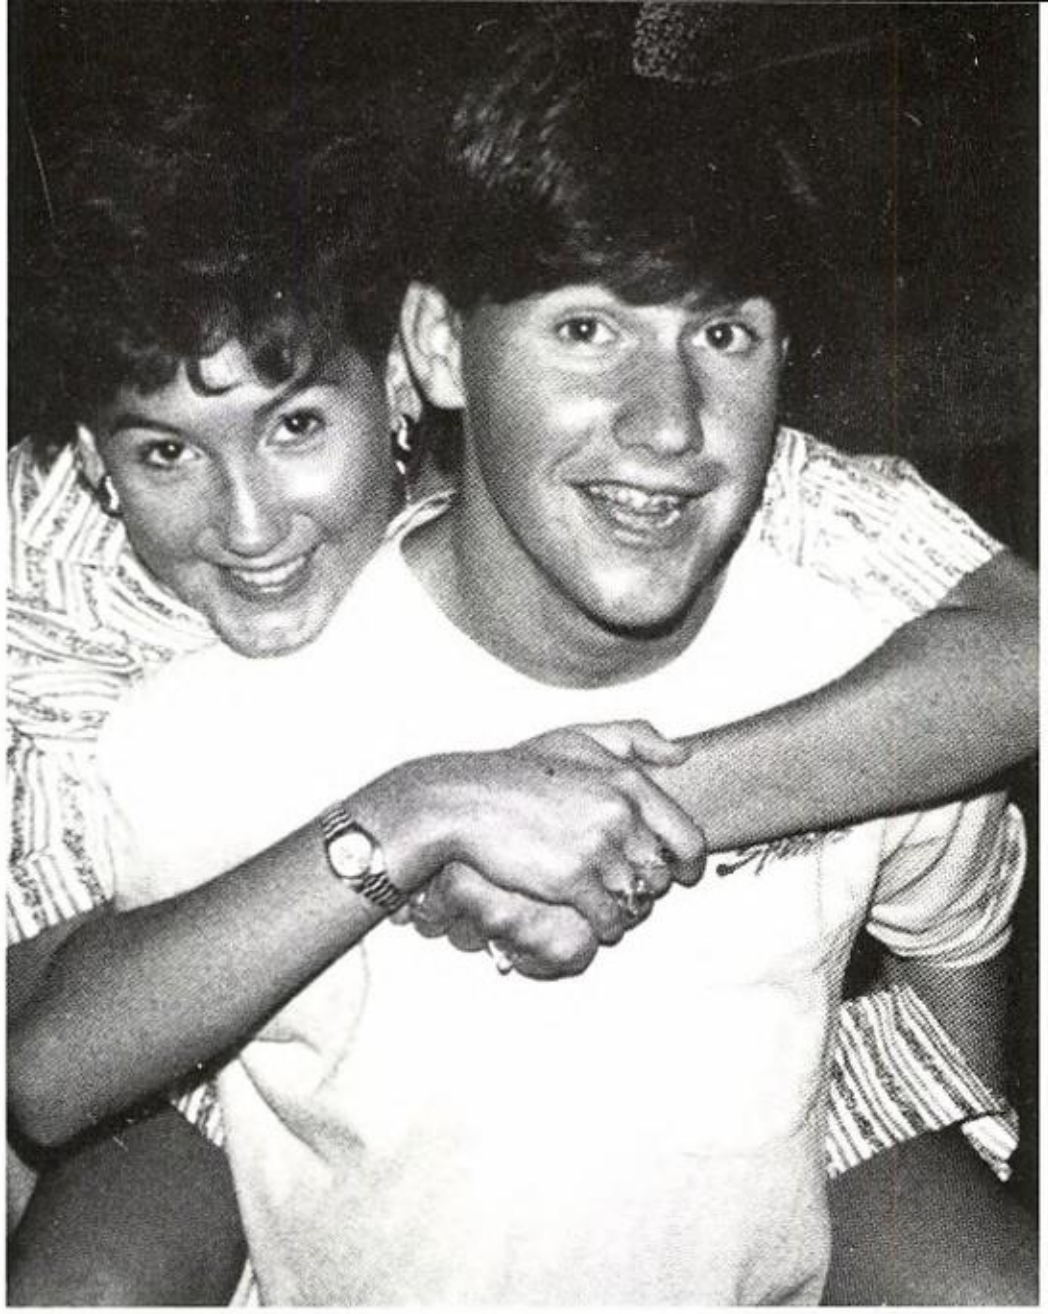
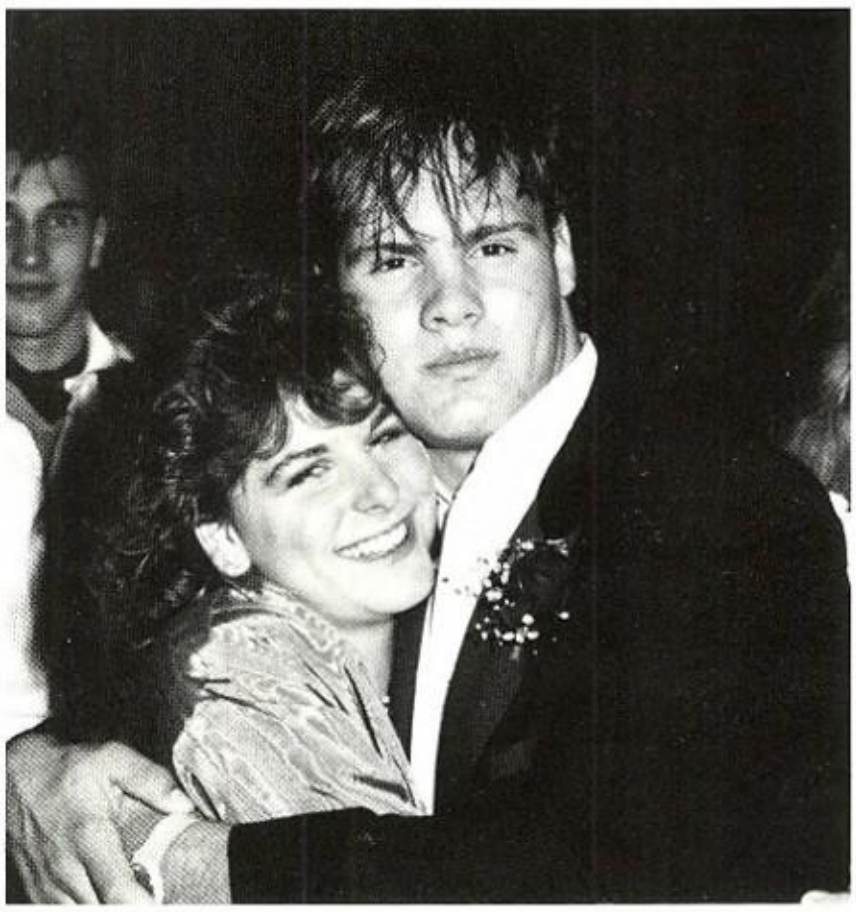
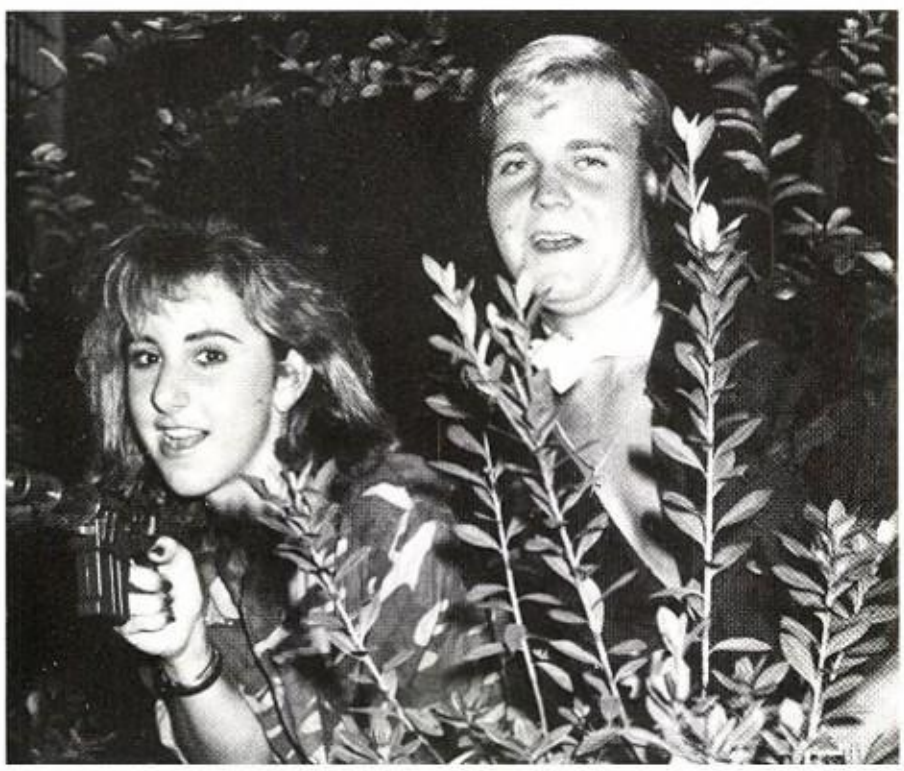
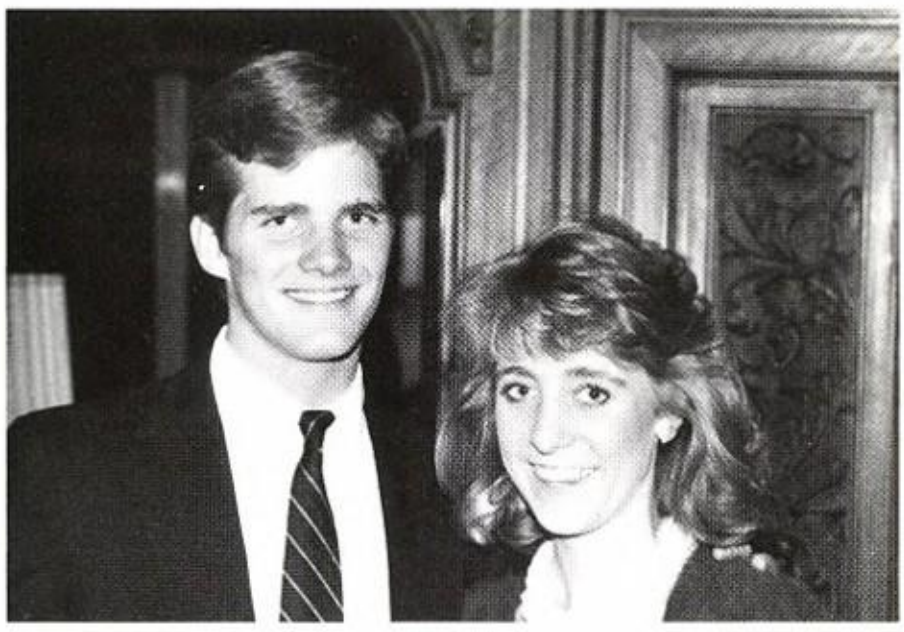
COUPLE









Top Left: "Hey I like you and everything, but I'm not that type of guy . . ." says a surprised Kyle Schuenemann to his attacker, Kiki Busby.

Top Right: Cynthia Wolff surprisingly enjoys being in dog-heaven on her date with Todd Cole, who looks like a rather smug pug.

Above: Let's have some fun-in-the-sun," suggests Shannon Terry to an agreeable Dan Montgomery.

Left: "Let's go over to my pad, the atmosphere is a lot more casual," suggests a devious John Cheesman to a willing Ashley Cook.

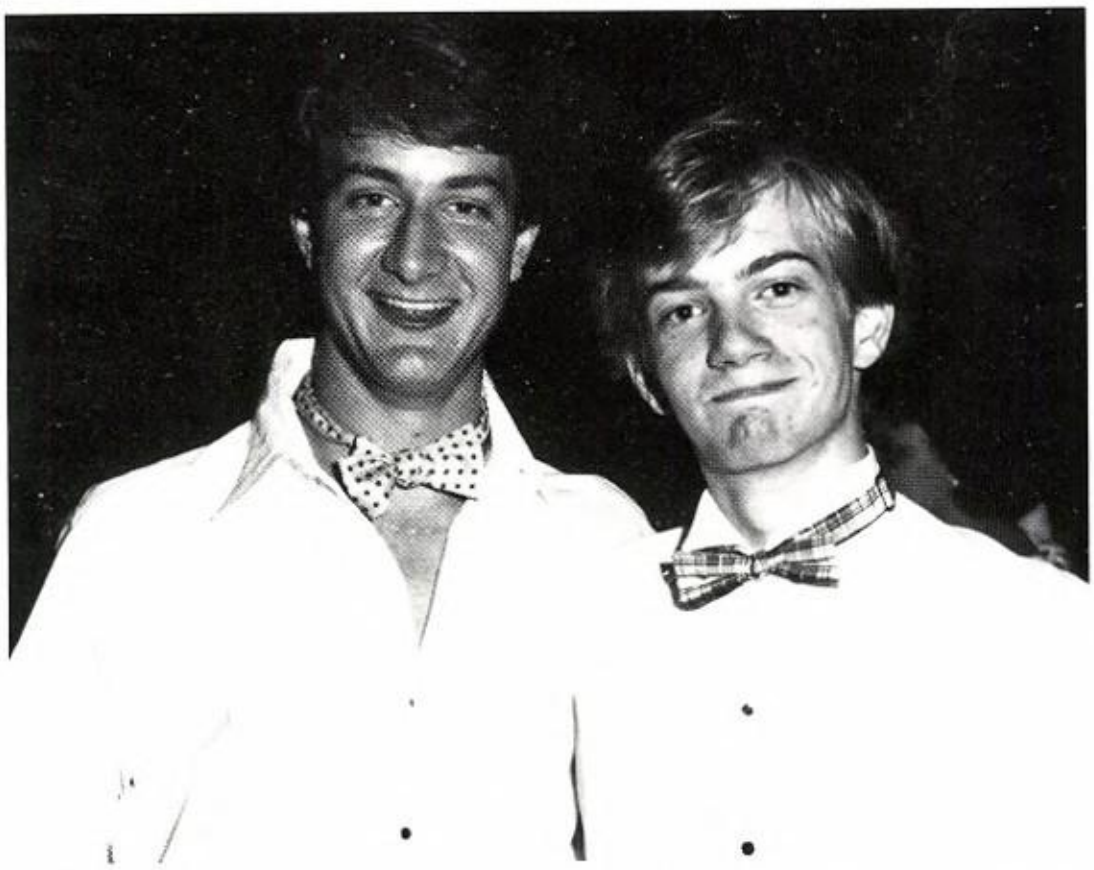
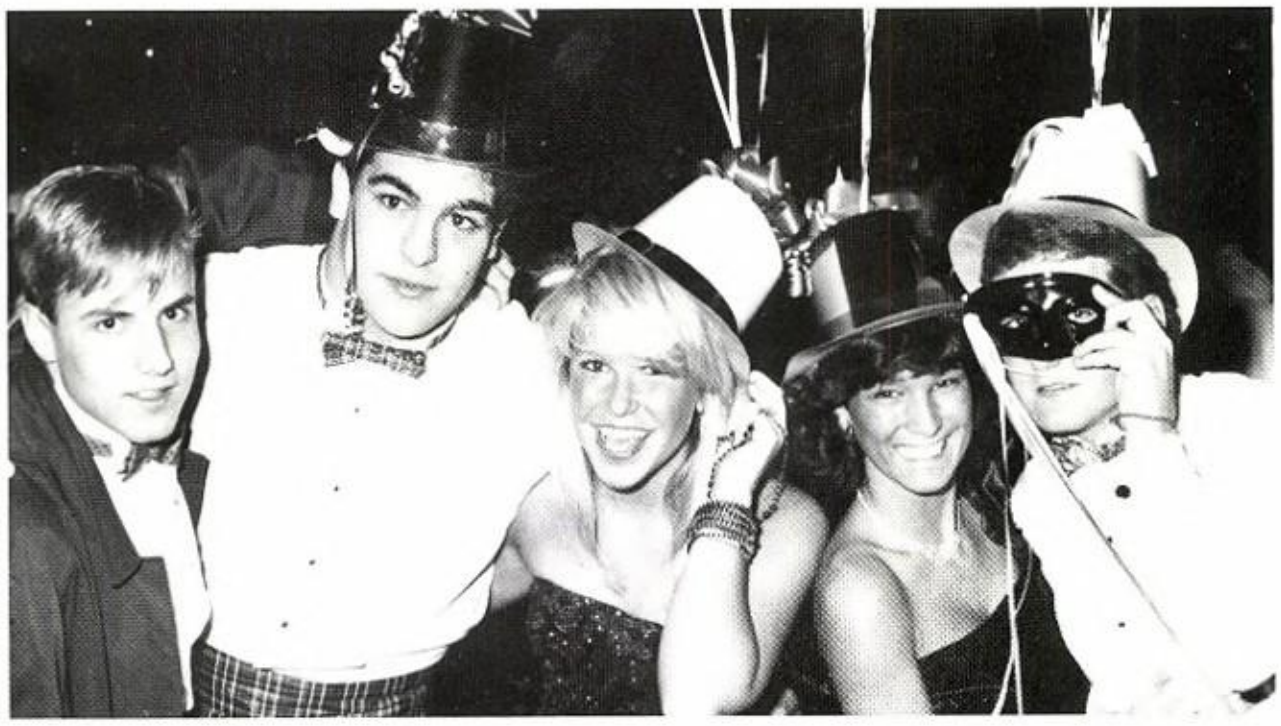
Right: Andy Biggs knows he'll suffer in comparison if his shirt was unbottoned like the macho man himself, Kit Robbins.

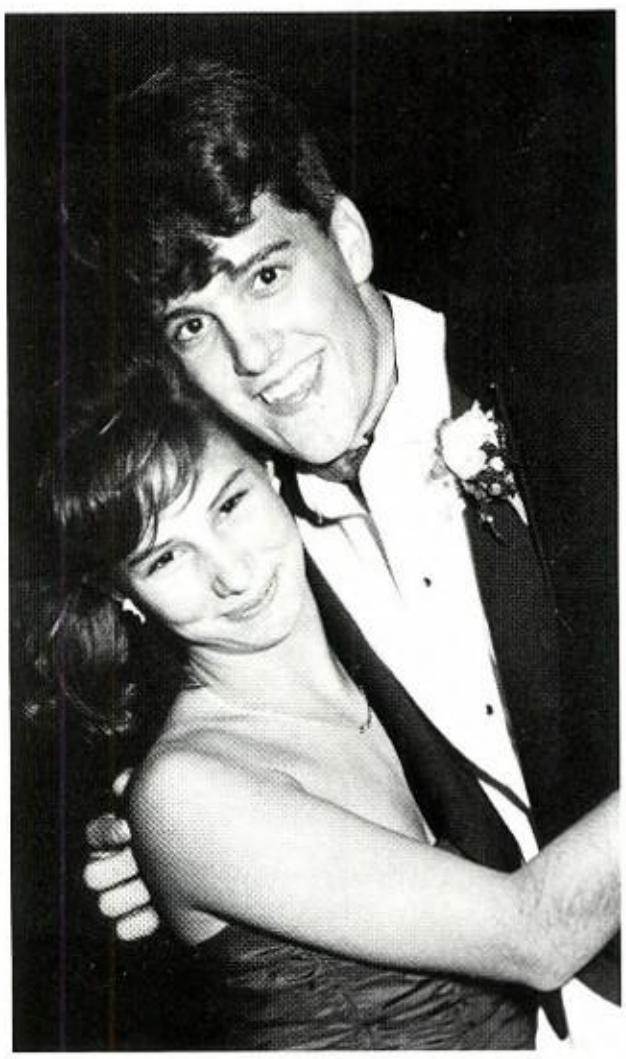
Below: Julie Harp is worried that her date may escape while she poses with Helen Vaughagn.

Bottom Right: Senior women Catherine Geddy, Pam Stewart, Starr Alvarez, and Allison Poellinger try to cover up what they've REALLY been doing the last two hours.



HIT THE TOWN





Top: Carleton Riser tries to hide his identity as Kelly O'Neil's date, but Jorge Rodriguez couldn't be happier with his dates Mark Drury and Meredith McKay.

Above Right: "Come on, Rick! Don't do that to me yet! The night is still young and our fun has not yet begun!" claims Stephanie Farinola as a much too happy Rick Stelzer leans on her for support.

Above Left: Greg Watson prepares for the night's activities as Kyle Schuenemann wishes his date would be equally accommodating.

Above Middle: Leigh Glazer and Cynthia Wolff look Jolly As Possible So as not to let on that they've been searching for a missing penny for two hours.

Left: Quien es mas energetic, Mary Lou Retton or Laurie Erdeljac?

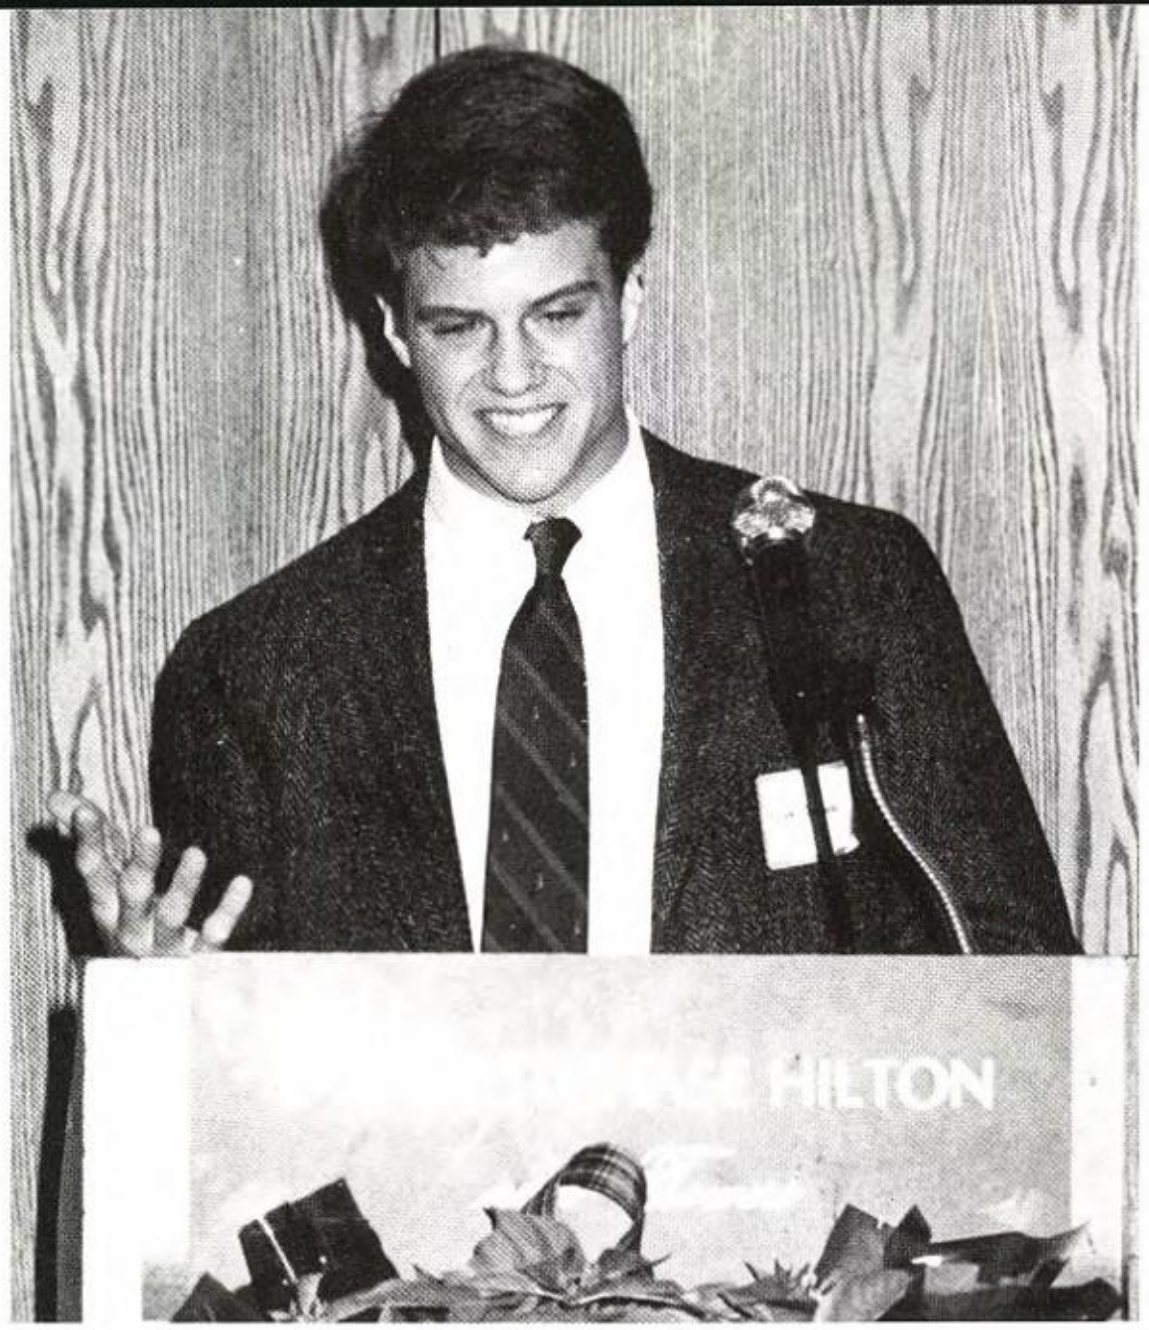
Right: "I really enjoyed being, duh, the quarterback of the soccer . . . no, I mean the polo . . . or is it . . .? remarks an obvious football scholar Peter Gardere.

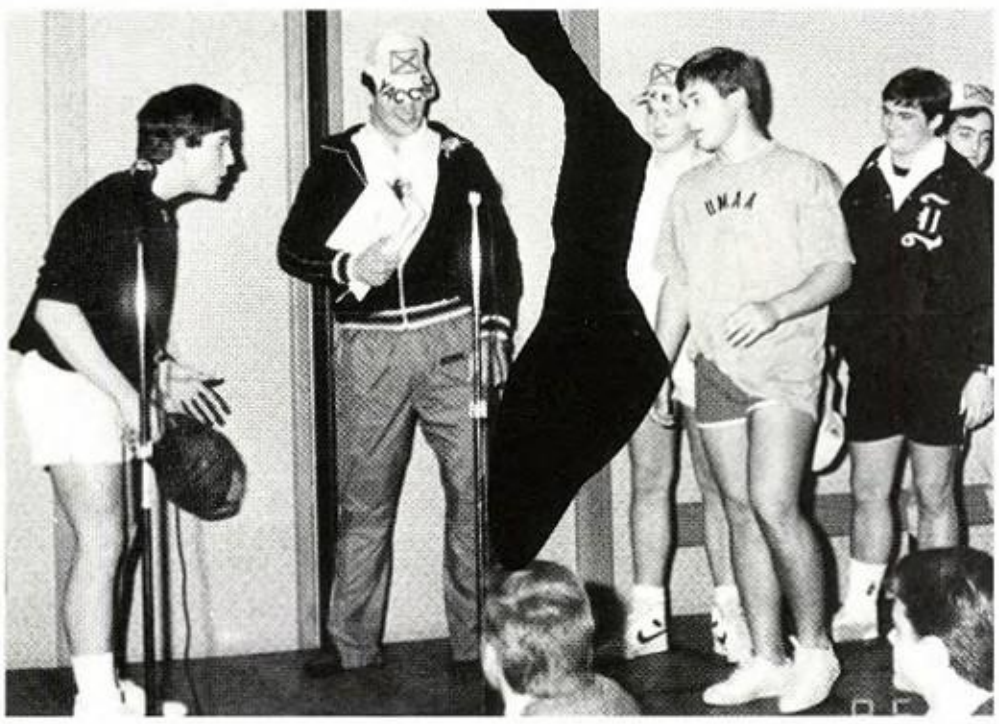
Below: Lindsay Gordon, in order to be the 'sparkling' attraction of the slopes, makes sure her braces are shiny and clean.

Middle Right: "It wasn't finger-lickin' good but we're not complaining about a free meal!" state studly football celebrities.

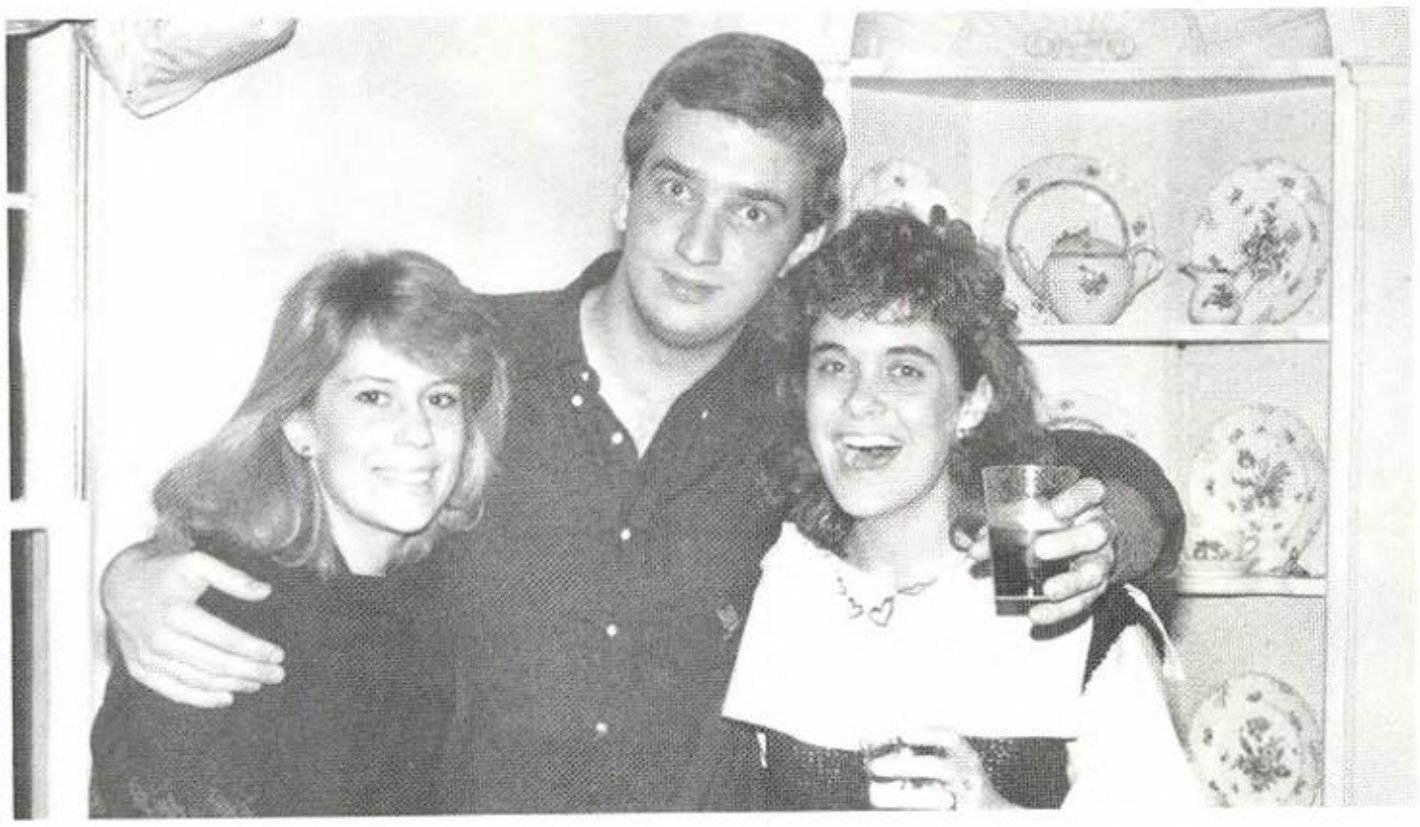
Bottom Left: Football players question Coach Yaccino, "What was that you promised us 4 years ago?"

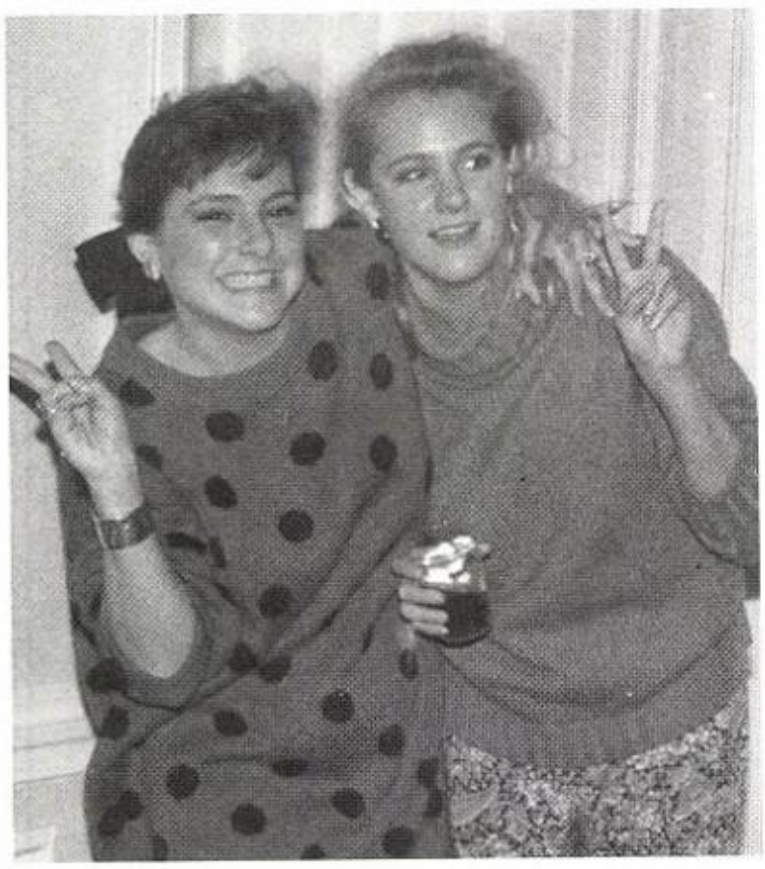
Bottom Right: "We'll have a BLUE (jean jacket) Christmas without you!" chime Eric Taylor, Polly Jones, and J. J. Daniels to a left-out Lias Glauser.

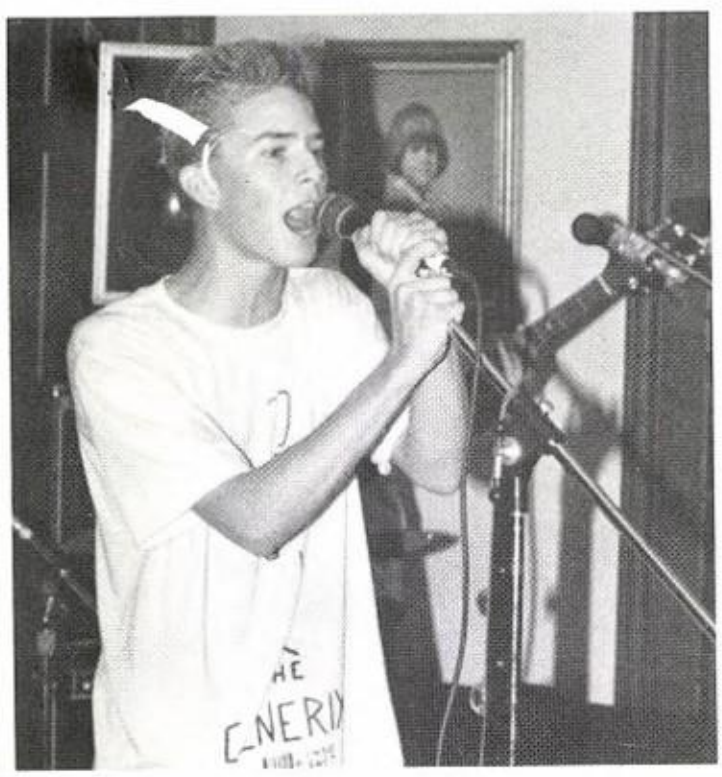




SPIRITS RAISE HOLIDAYS







Top: "I'm your man of a thousand pleasures," boasts Richard Spence, but April Hoelscher and Julie Harp have no intention in taking part in his silly games.

Middle Left: "May peace be with you this holiday season," greet Cary Prince and Jil Laughlin.

Middle Right: "Stop poking fun at me!" squeaks Ginny Southerland, but the hands seem to have a different motive.

Bottom: After fasting in an attempt to bring attention to the USA for Africa cause, Stiles White resorts to eating the microphone.

WE PLEDGE TO THE BIG RED

Above Right: After being 'dumped' four times by her boyfriend to a party, Holli Dealy doesn't look like very attractive bait.

Middle Right: Surprised that Cynthia Wolff would attack him so, Jeff Nalley fights her off with the help of Kendall Griffith and Sherri Creel.

Bottom Left: "I don't know about you, Shannan, but I think the picture says it all," states Laurie Erdeljac to Shannan Terry.

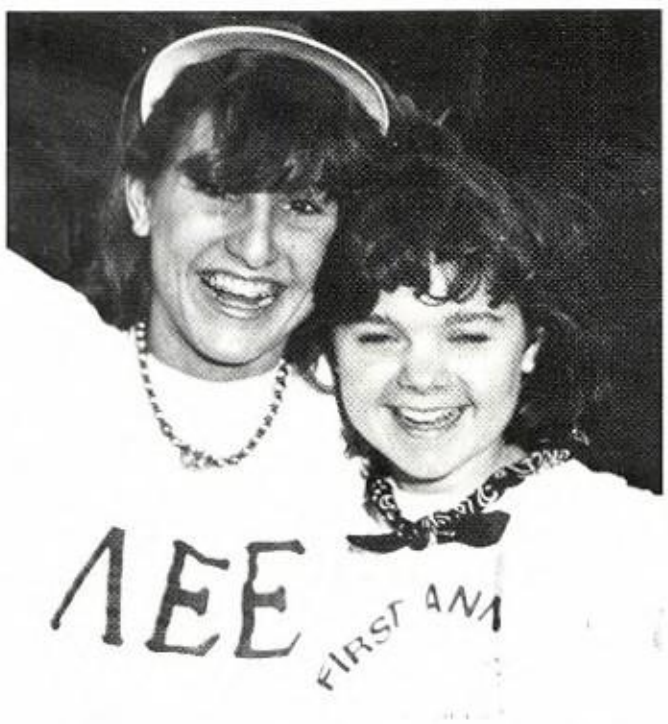
"and the blue"



Top: Stephanie Farinola, Lou Thompson, and Christina Fafatas grin ear to ear while Barbara Shavlan follows graciously along, hoping her friends won't see a copy of this picture.

Middle Left: Tyla Miller seems to be worried about what is in Christina Fatafas's eyes.

Middle Right: Pilar Martinez and Lisa Mercer look like moles but have accepted their lowly position as slugs.

Bottom Left: "Here practice on this — we L-E-E girls have a reputation to live up to," offers Lou Thompson to Kristin McNeal.

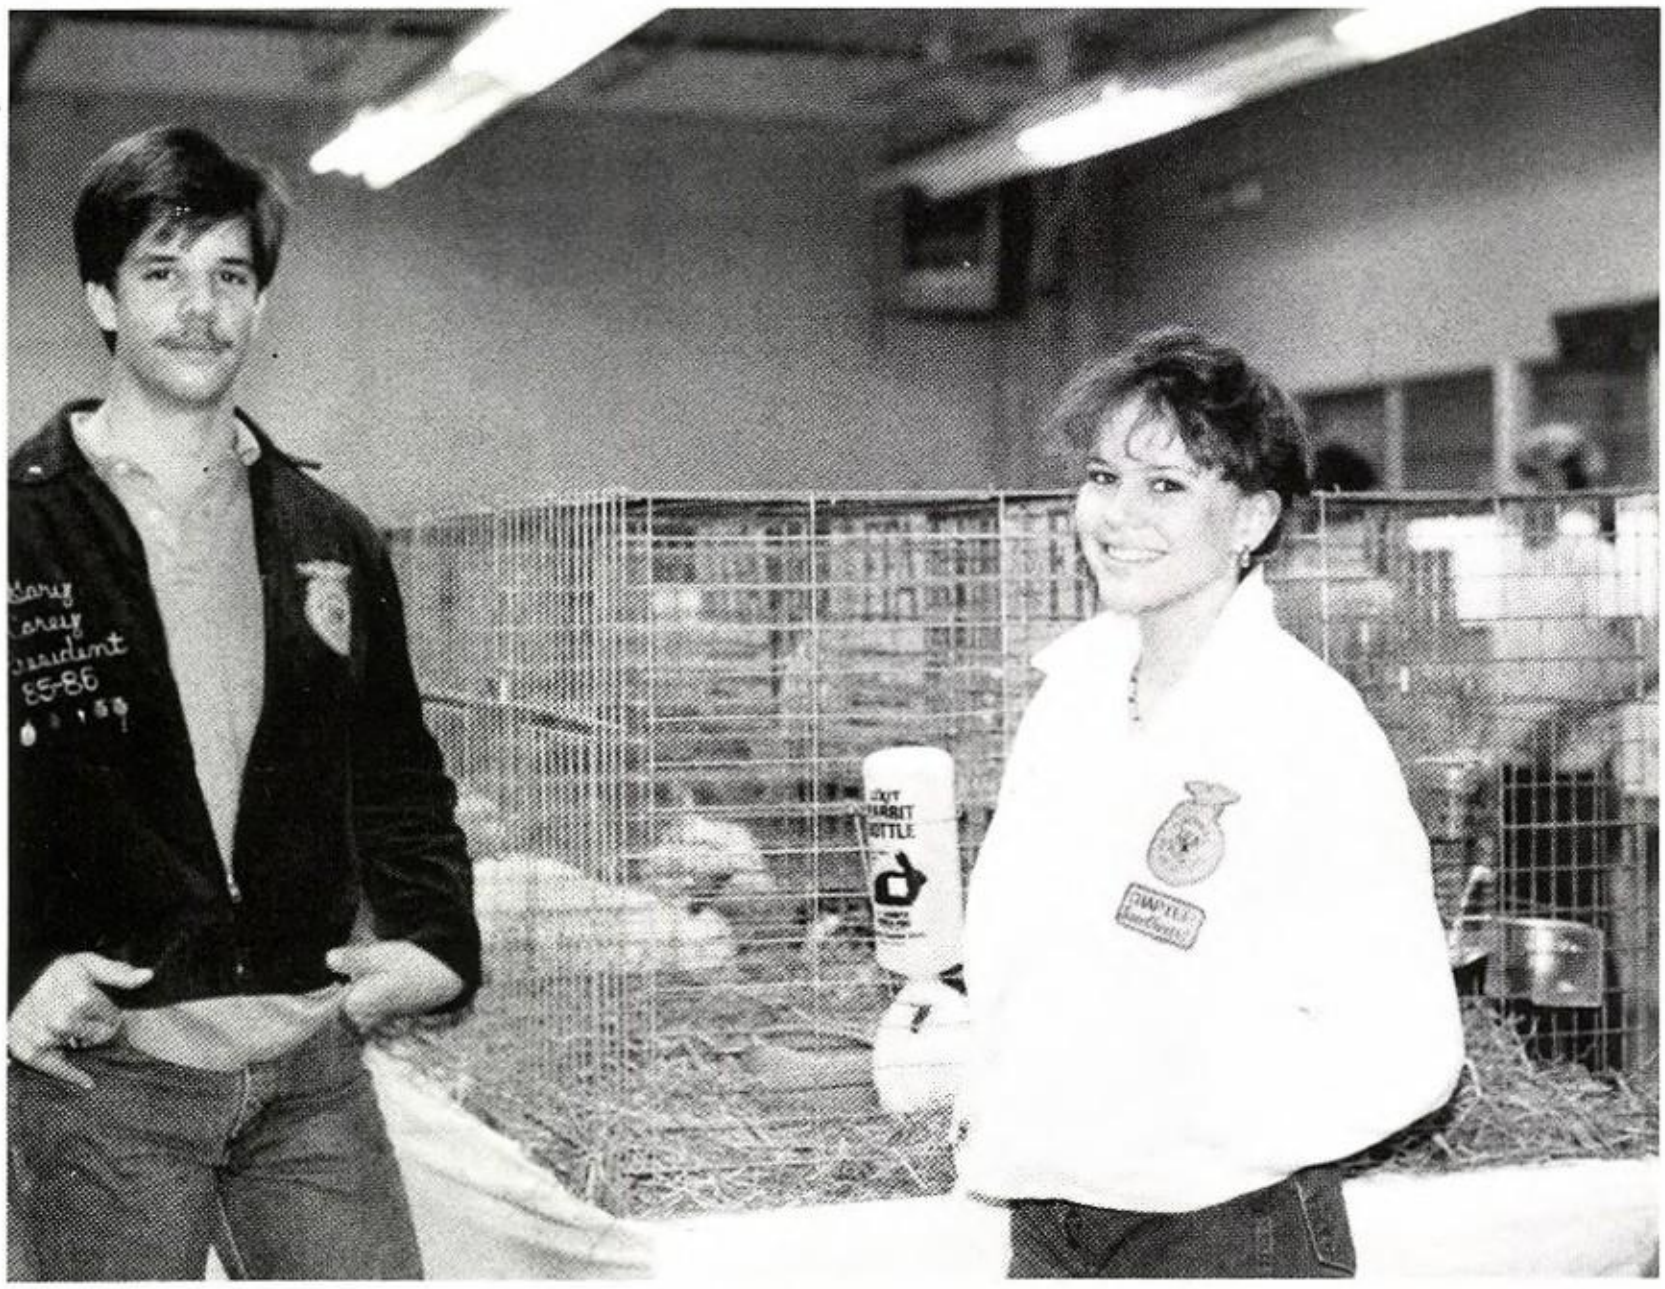
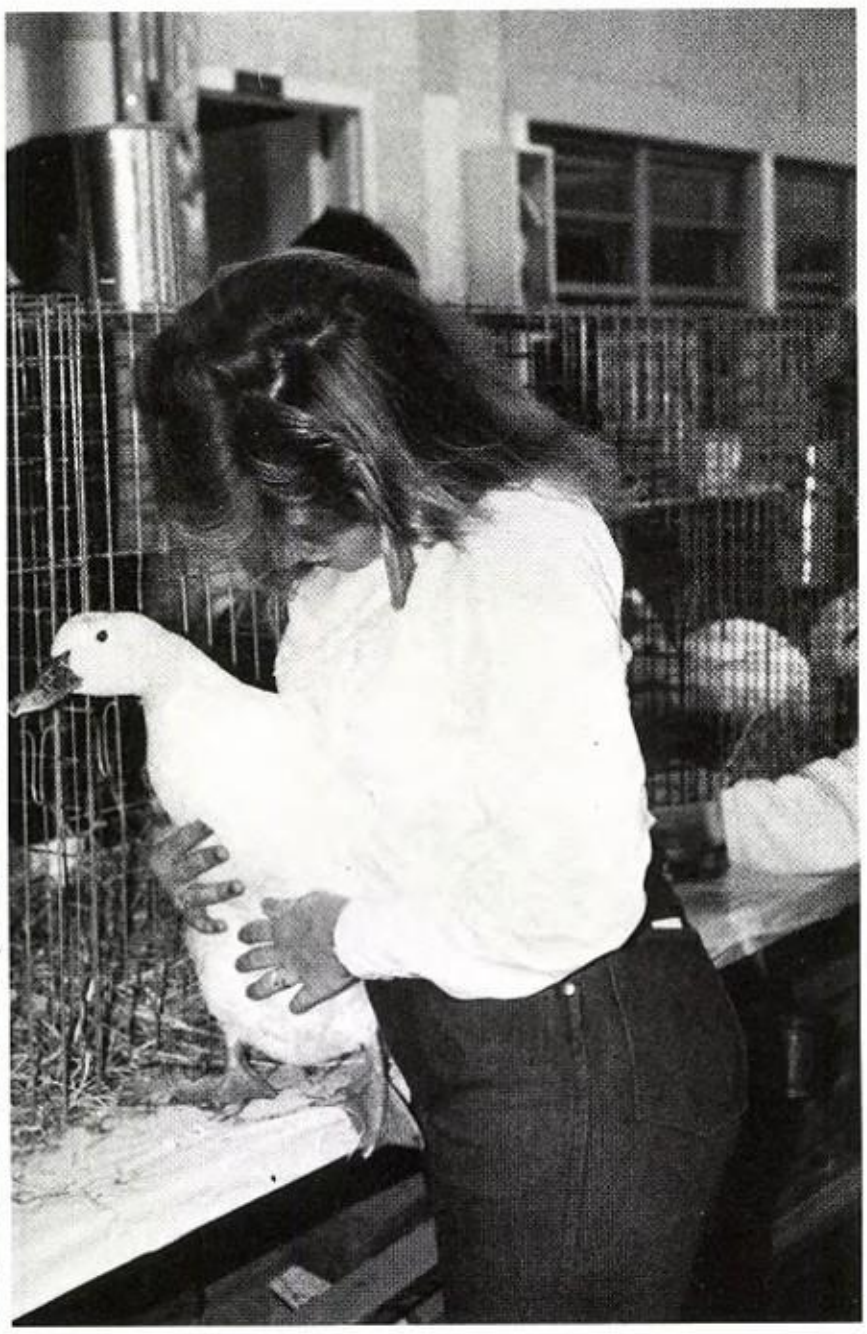
KIDS HAVE ANIMAL TENDENCIES

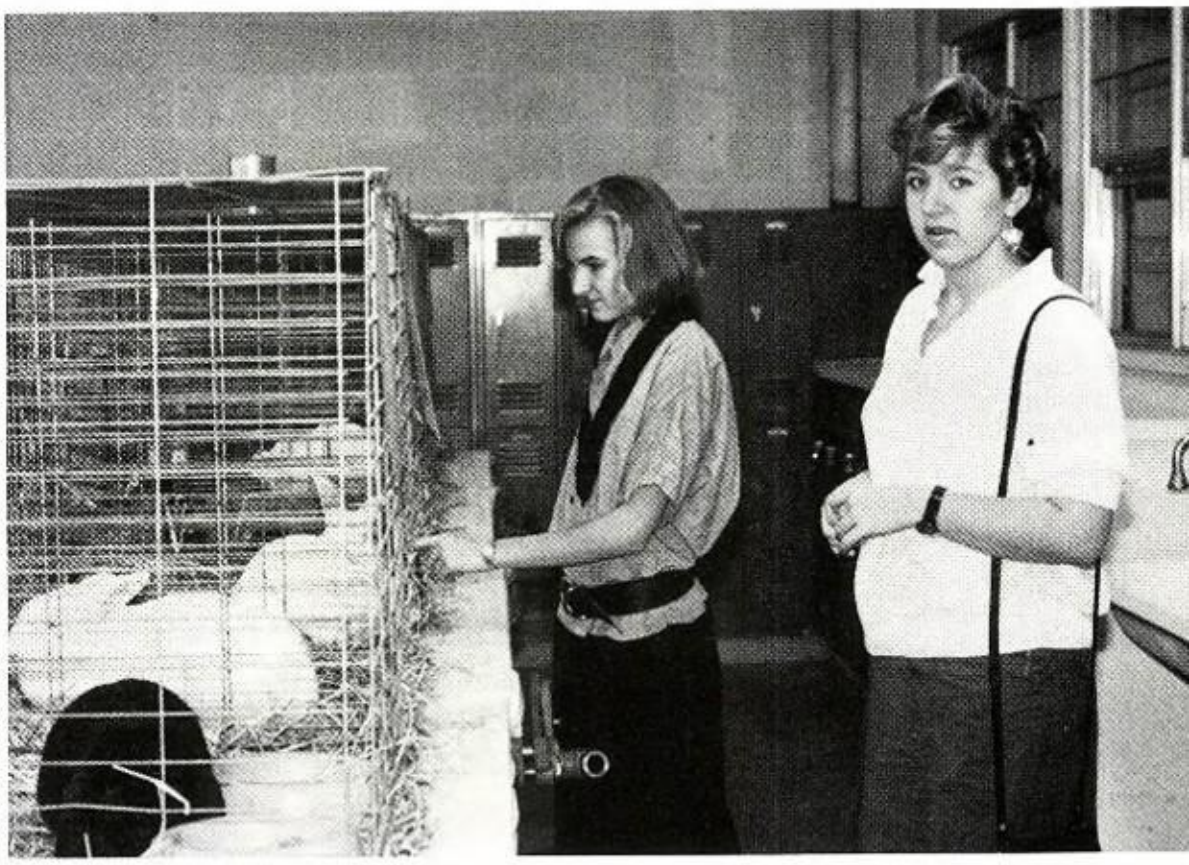


Above: FFA President Gary Corey and Sweetheart Katherine Remmert kept the FFA Livestock Show on its four feet.
Right: Members and participants in the show worked hard to get things ticking.

This year the annual FFA Livestock Show was held on February 3. Because of the construction, no large animals could be shown. Instead, many rabbits, roosters, hens and plants were exhibited. Katherine Remmert won first place in the four categories for rabbits. Members who were eligible also participated in the Houston Livestock Show.

Out of 66 entries Monty Ranshaw won fourth place. FFA members also had the opportunity to lead visitors past animals being shown in the Astrodome Arena. Mr. Roy Sheffield is the proud sponsor of FFA.





Top Left: Being the active Lee students they are, Pam Stewart, Maribeth Swallen, Dean Crassas, and Robert Gokin trek out to see the livestock show.
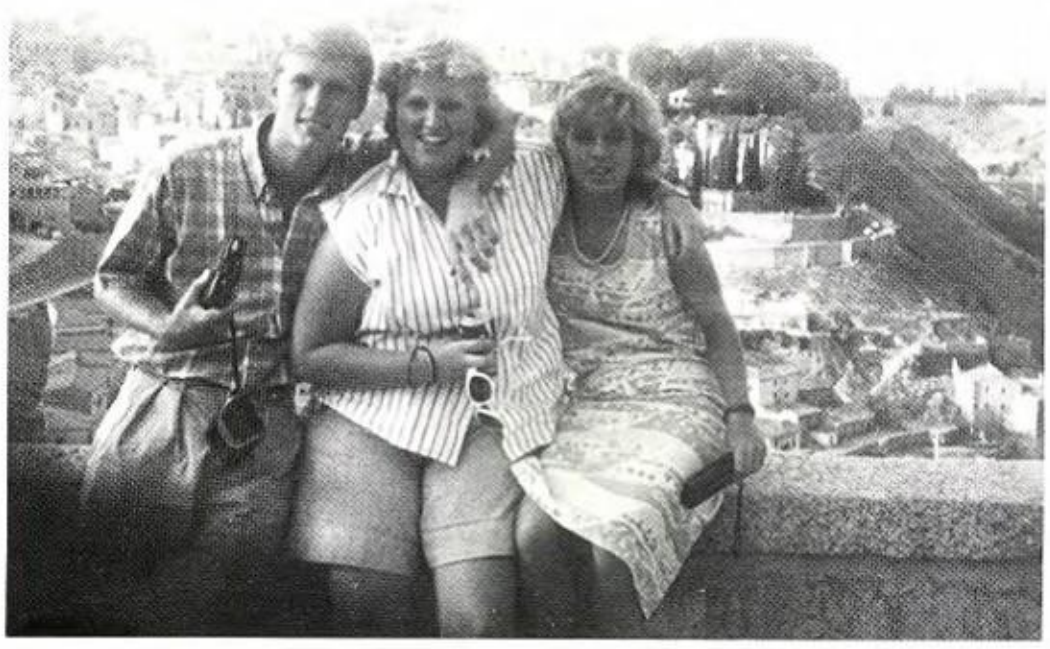
Above: Lee students who visited the show were both intrigued and amazed at what they saw.

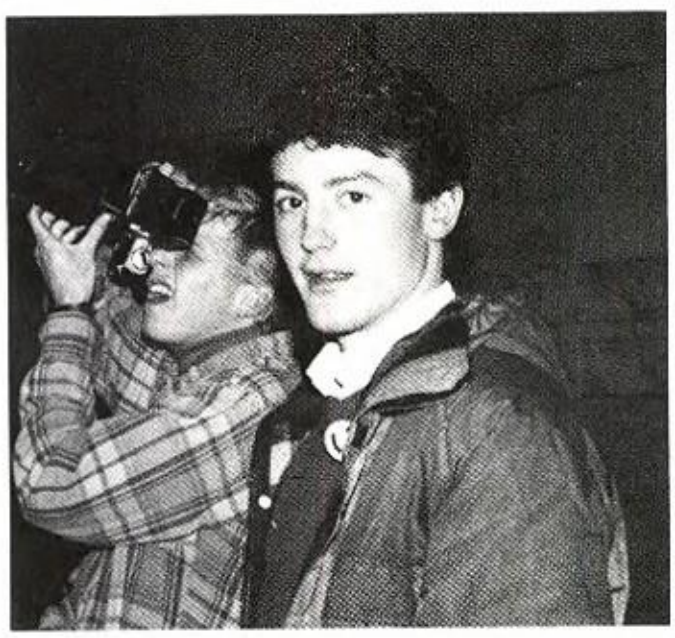
TRIPPING IN EUROPE

During the summer, Mrs. Bronwyn Rack and Mrs. Cindy O'Brien chaperoned an extensive two-week-long trip to Europe, open to any Lee senior. A large group of students took part, touring the major cities of Spain, Italy, Switzerland, France, and England. The students learned a great deal of Europe's diverse cultures, bringing back their knowledge to their friends in Houston. Because the trip was such a success, Mrs. Rack and Mrs. O'Brien plan to make it a yearly tradition.

Top: Clarke Mosely and Robert Johnson don't hand around Pam Stewart and Barbara Gladden unless they have their daddies' credit cards.
Right: Holley Martin and Bishop Meyer agree with John Cheeseman on this lady's striking resemblance to John's wife, Ashley Cook.
Bottom Left: Laurie Erdeljac has her eye on the camera, but Holley Martin has her mind on FOREIGN OBJECTS.
Bottom Right: "... and all I promised them was a Diet Coke!" exclaims Pam Stewart about her friends Bishop Meyer and Catherine Geddy.



CLOSING IN ON WASHINGTON, D.C.



From February 16-22, Lee seniors took part in a trip called CloseUp. This week-long trip to Washington, D.C. taught students aspects about government that could not be learned in a typical classroom. The group attended seminars where politicians involved with military, defense, domestic issues, and international relations spoke with the students, answered their questions, and defended their positions. One day the students spent a complete day on Capitol Hill learning about Congressional matters, speaking to their Congressmen and visiting the surrounding sights. Dr. Burton Parks was the sponsor of CloseUp, and the students had quite an enjoyable, as well as enriching, time.

Left: Brad Moore zooms in on a D.C. chick while Peter Swearingen has already used all of his film on boys.
Bottom Left: Andy Koehl asks Assistant Attorney General Burns how he can mke Traveler as good as SABER.

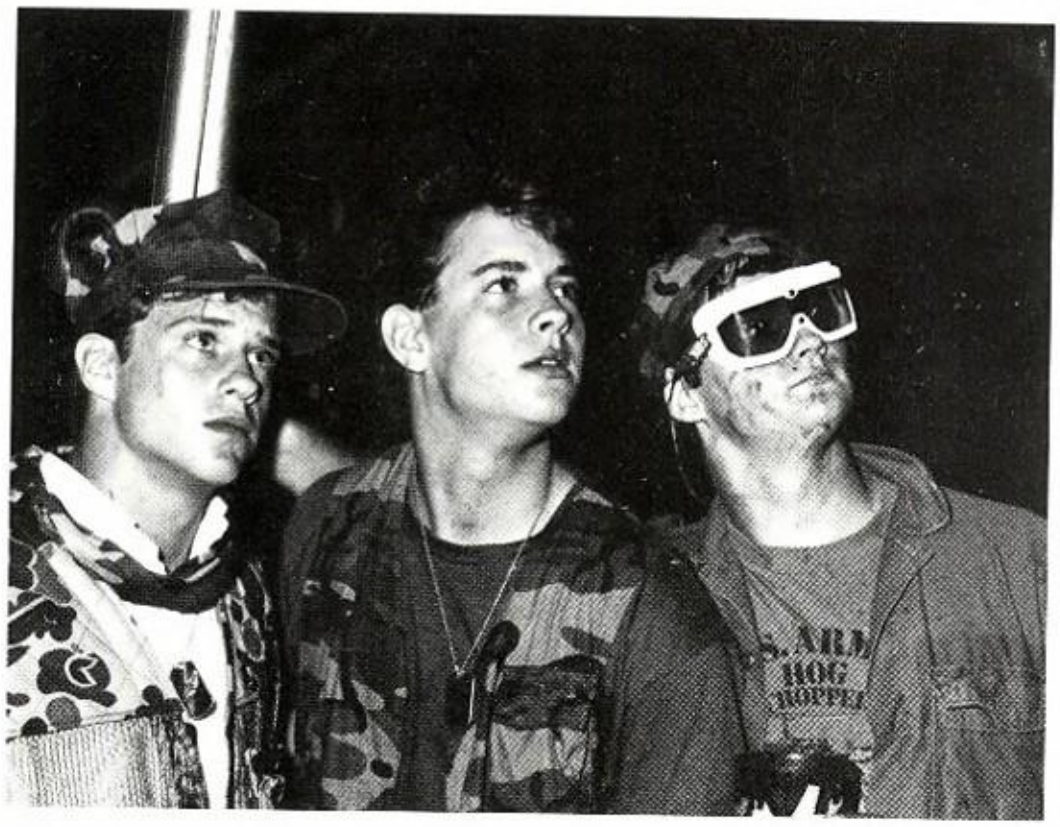
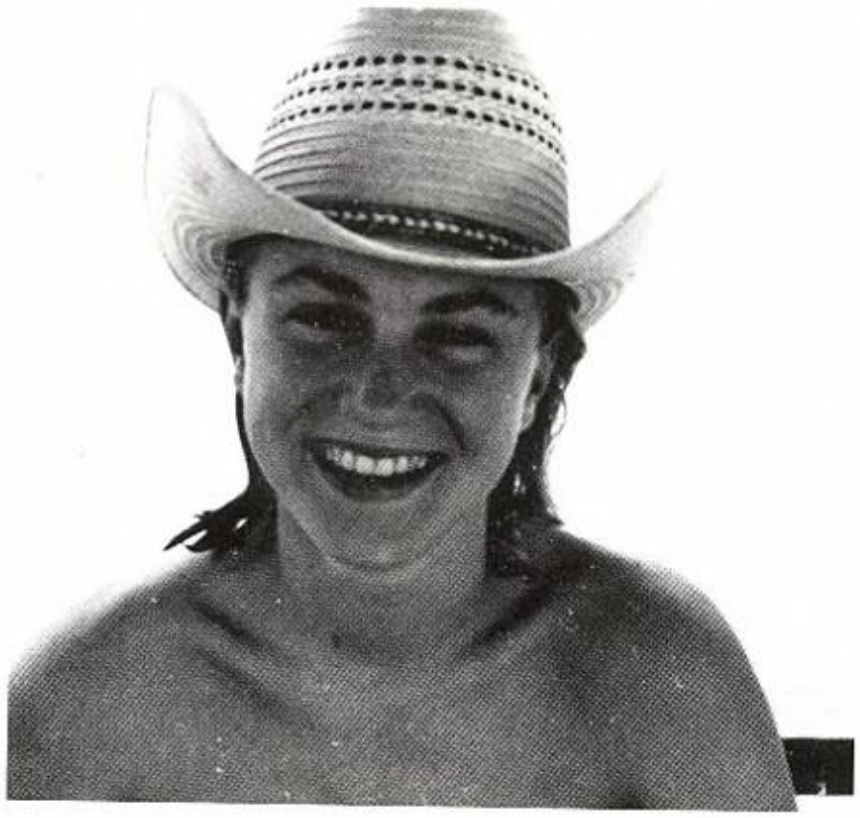
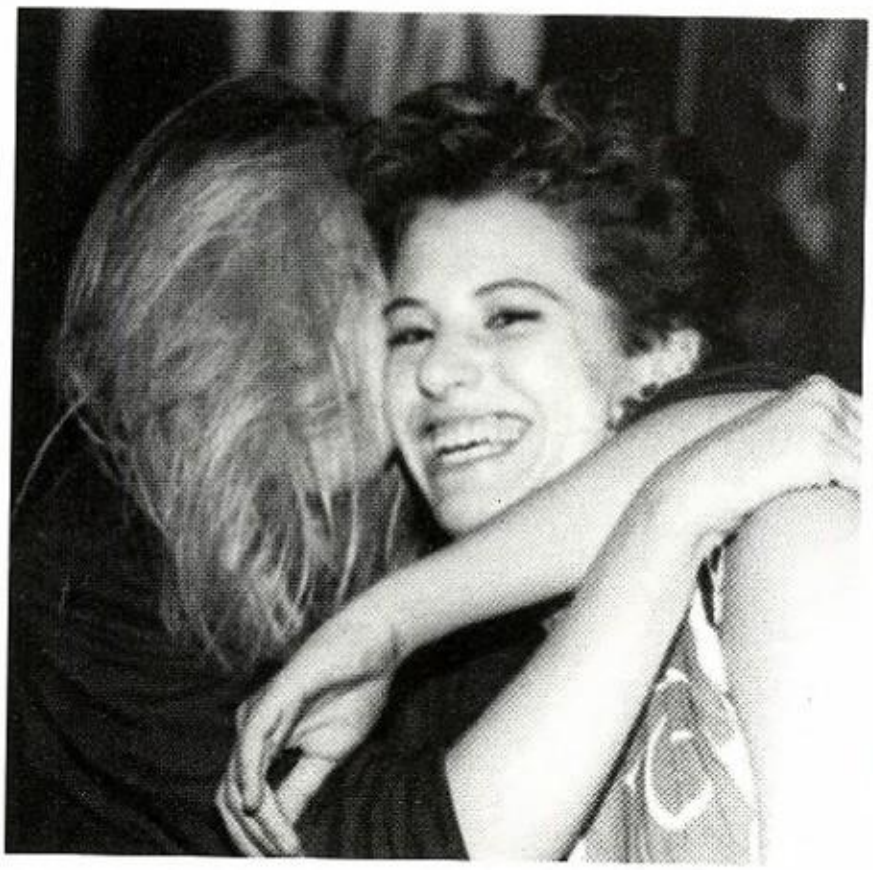
TAKE A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE







Top: This little piggy (Peter Gardere) went to market with Sherri Creel, this little piggy (Troy Pidgeon) stayed home with Cynthia Wolff, and this little piggy (John Neal) went "Wee-wee-wee" all the way home.

Above: Jil and Joan Laughlin prove that, in walking to their own beat, they really are the wild ones at Lee.
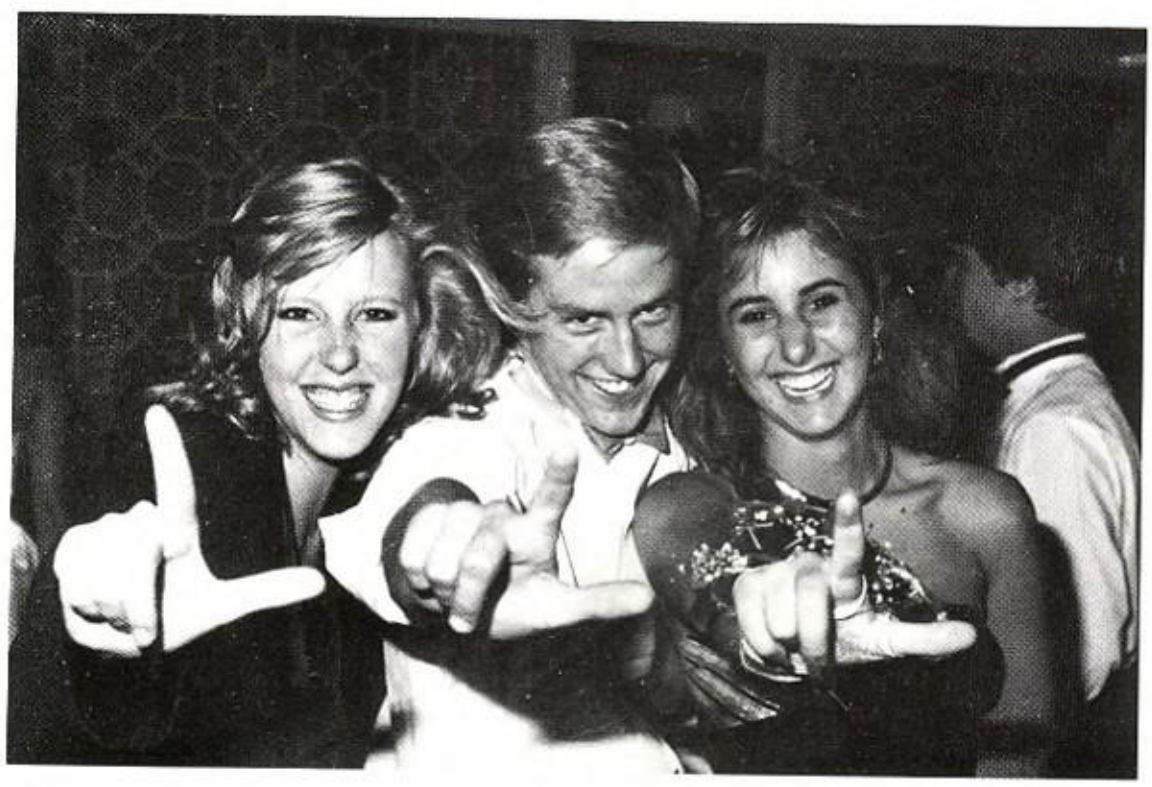
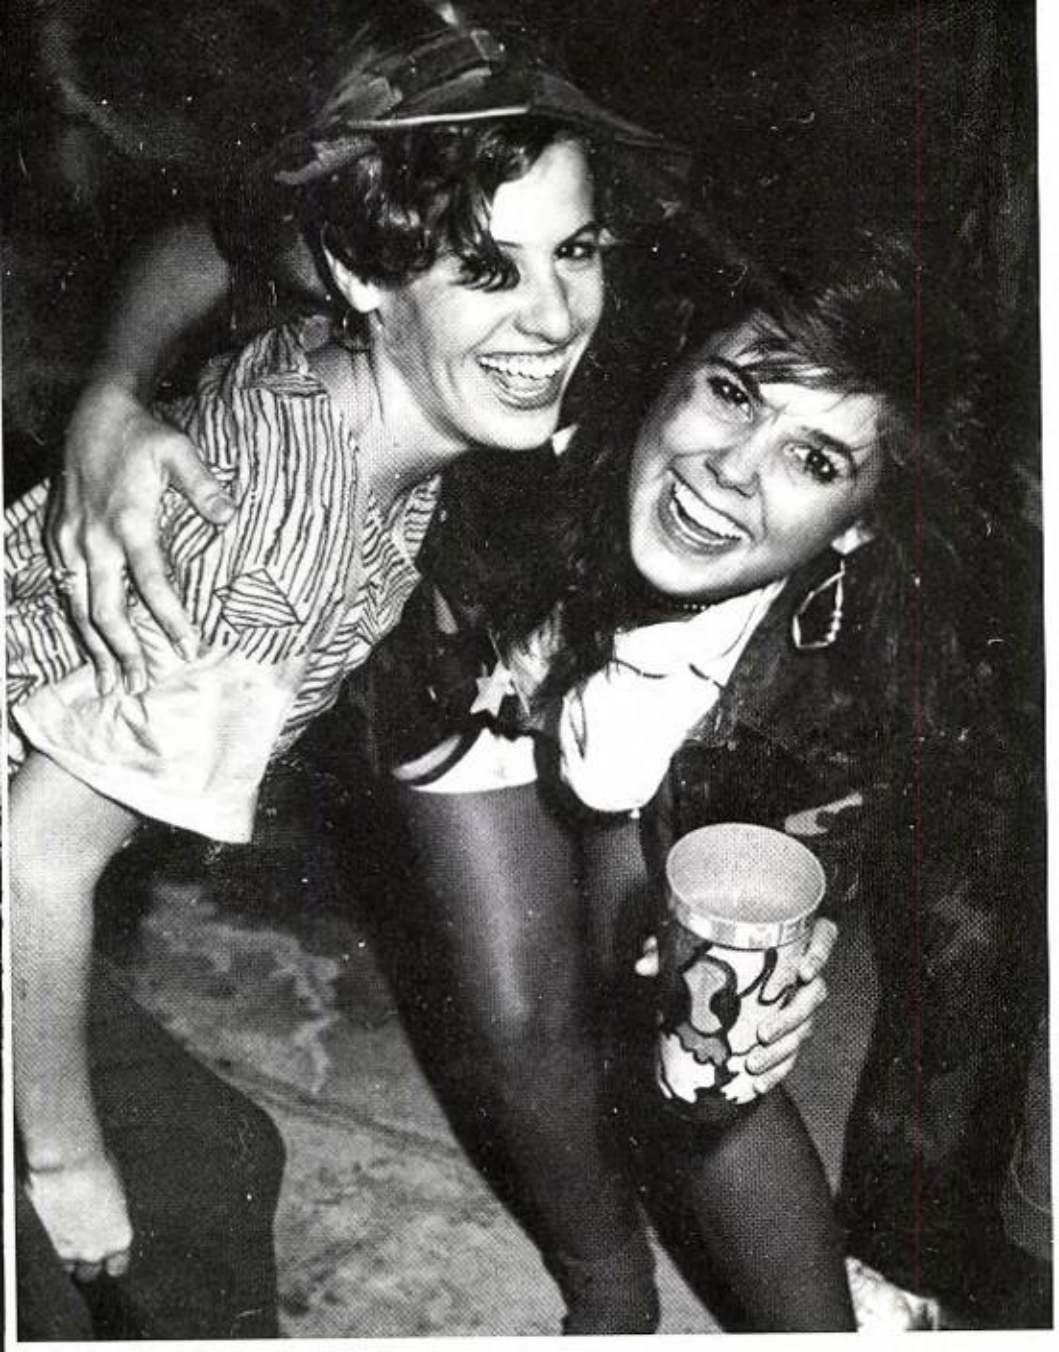
Right: "We're addicted to LOVE . . . of Lee!" chime Melikka McNeely, Danny Copeland, and Laurie Erdeljac.





Left: Joan Laughlin and Melissa Lee laugh in knowing they can come to Big Red parties without any initiation, as well as any invitation.
Middle Left: Katie Oesch decides to go for two, actually one-and-a-half, with Duffie Sharpe and Terence Day.
Middle Right: Krista Treadaway, Jennifer Tindall, and Sherri Van Eman wish their boyfriends were as easy to hang onto as this bar.

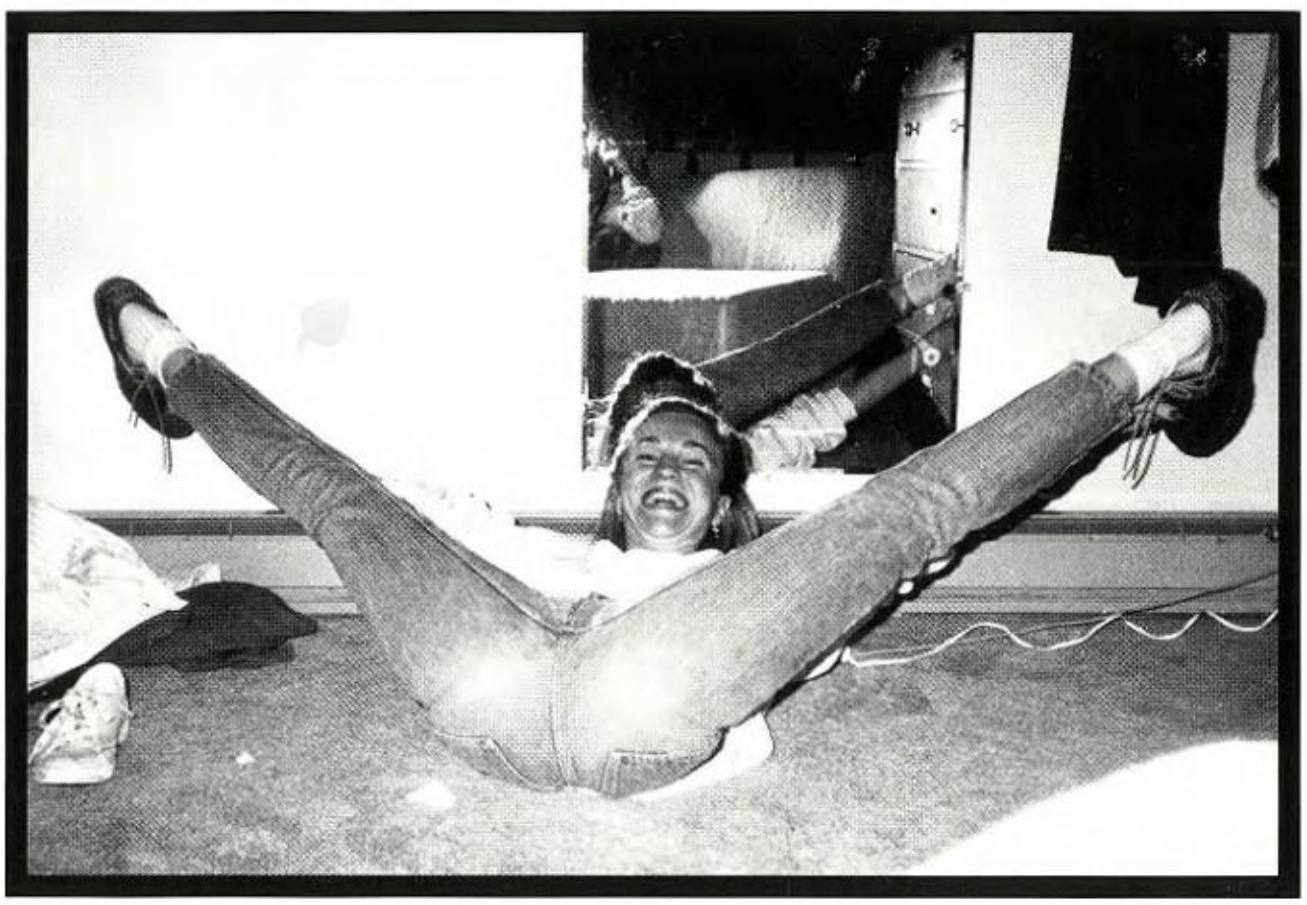
Yŏung Lēad'ẽrs

Students who set the pace for the masses were renowned as young leaders. They earned the respect of their peers in both academic and non-academic pursuits. These select few had distinctive personalities; yet, there were common threads that wove the pattern of success:

Dip • lō • mat'ic (a.) the ability to passify people Ex. — Leaders had to unite people with different ideas so they could work together as a group.

Out'gō''ing (a.) one who uses time and energy to go beyond the required Ex. — Lee's leaders made their presence known by expressing their strong wills, determination and sensitivity.

En • ẽr • ġet'ic (a.) a person who puts in extra effort Ex. — In order to make Lee a better place, young leaders took on extra responsibility both inside and outside the classroom. Ex. 2 — Young leaders used their own time to represent their peers with little reward beyond personal satisfaction.



STUDENTS SHOW SIGNS

As the heads of clubs and other organizations at Lee, certain students displayed unique qualities of leadership. These students helped to lead the student body through the school year. They set goals to strive for and set the pace for others to follow. This group of individuals possessed the ability to rise above the confusion and direct the students toward success.

Upper Right: Head Cheerleaders Danny Copeland and Erin McCormick, Drum Major Brian Fairchild and Lieutenant Officers Mickey Young, Kim Bumbera and Gavra Jauer try to improve the General attitude.

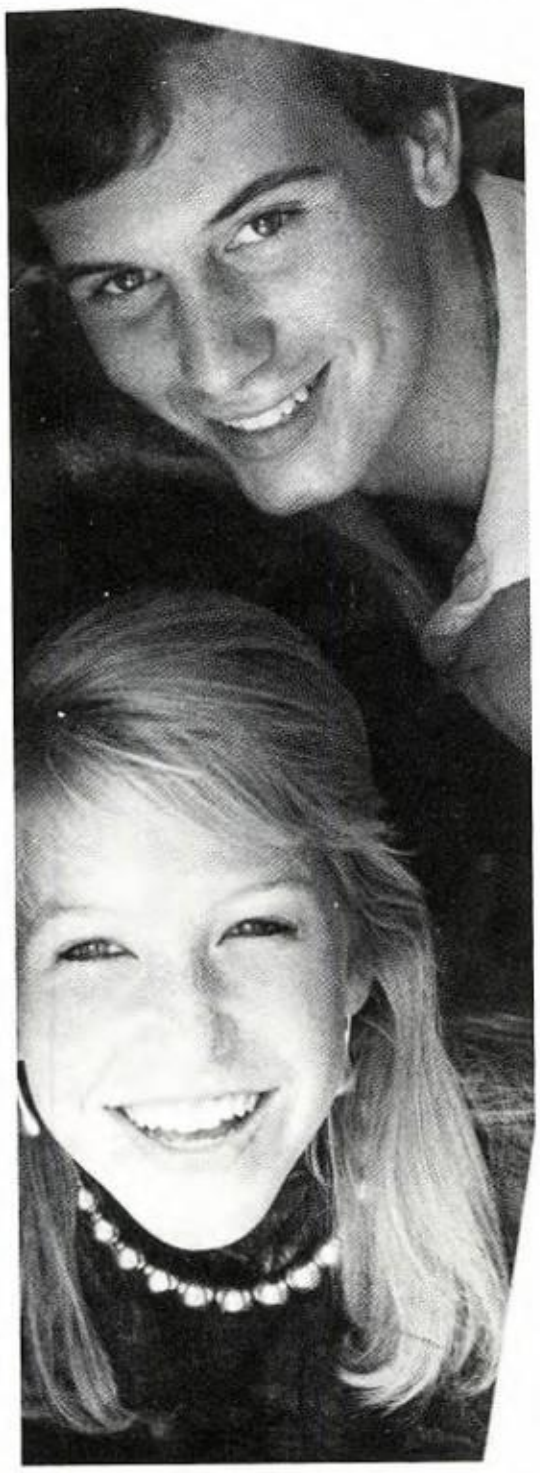
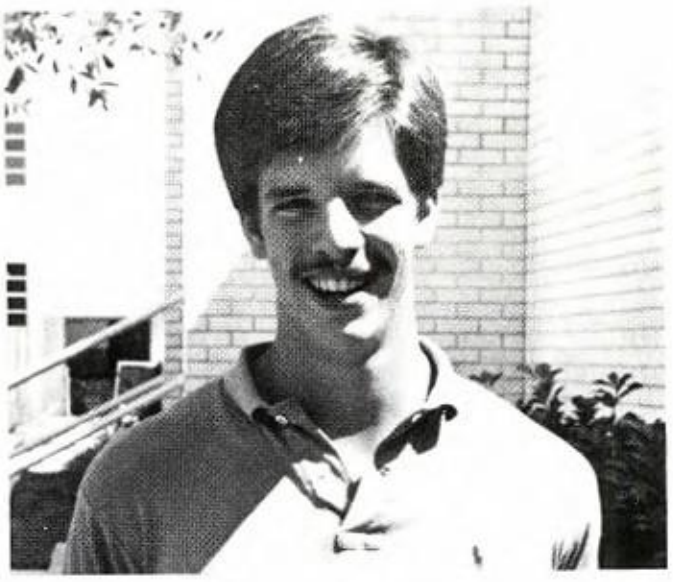
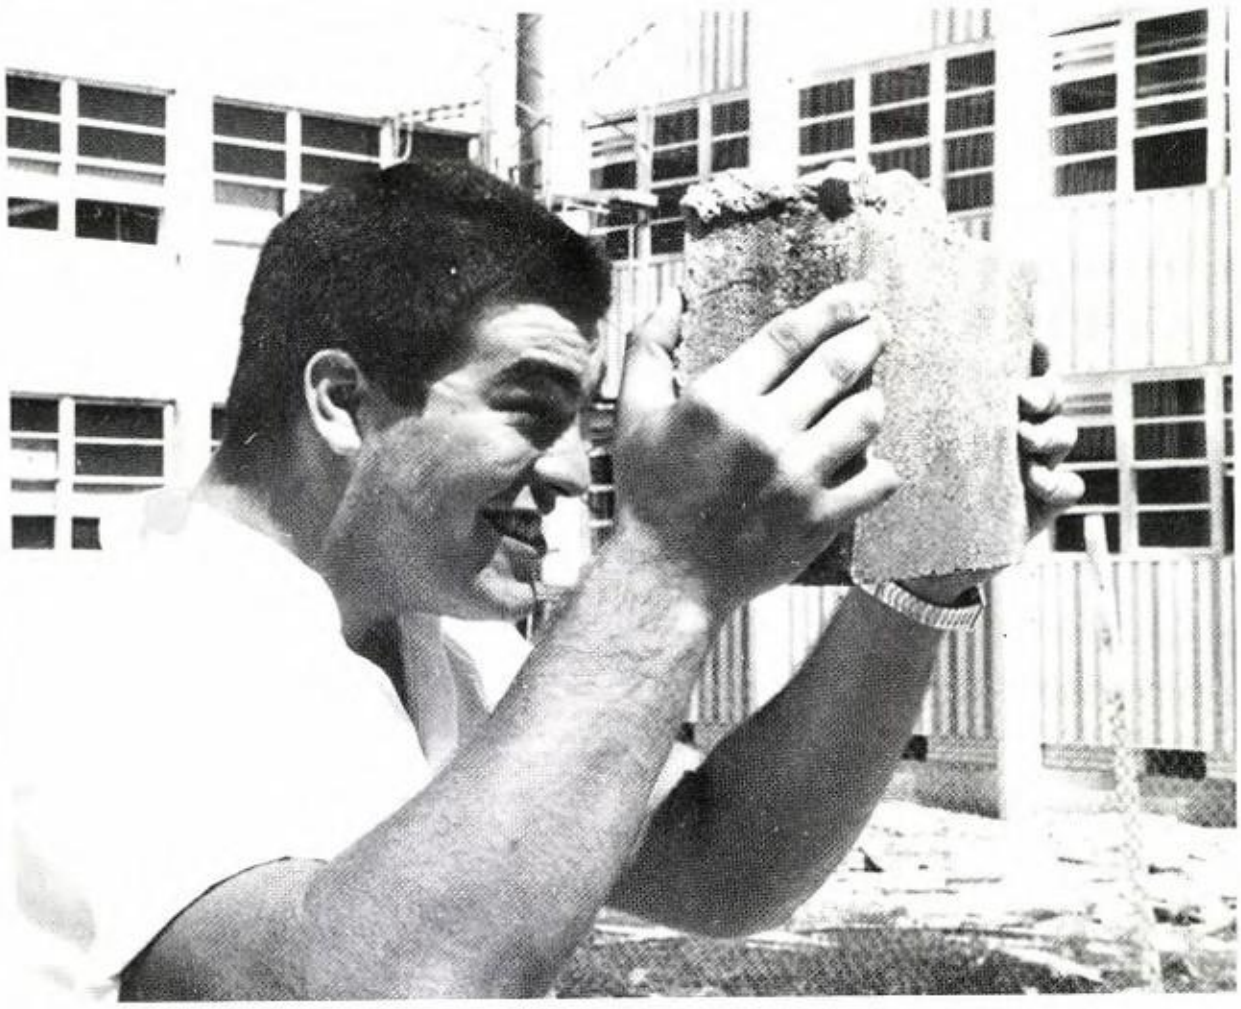
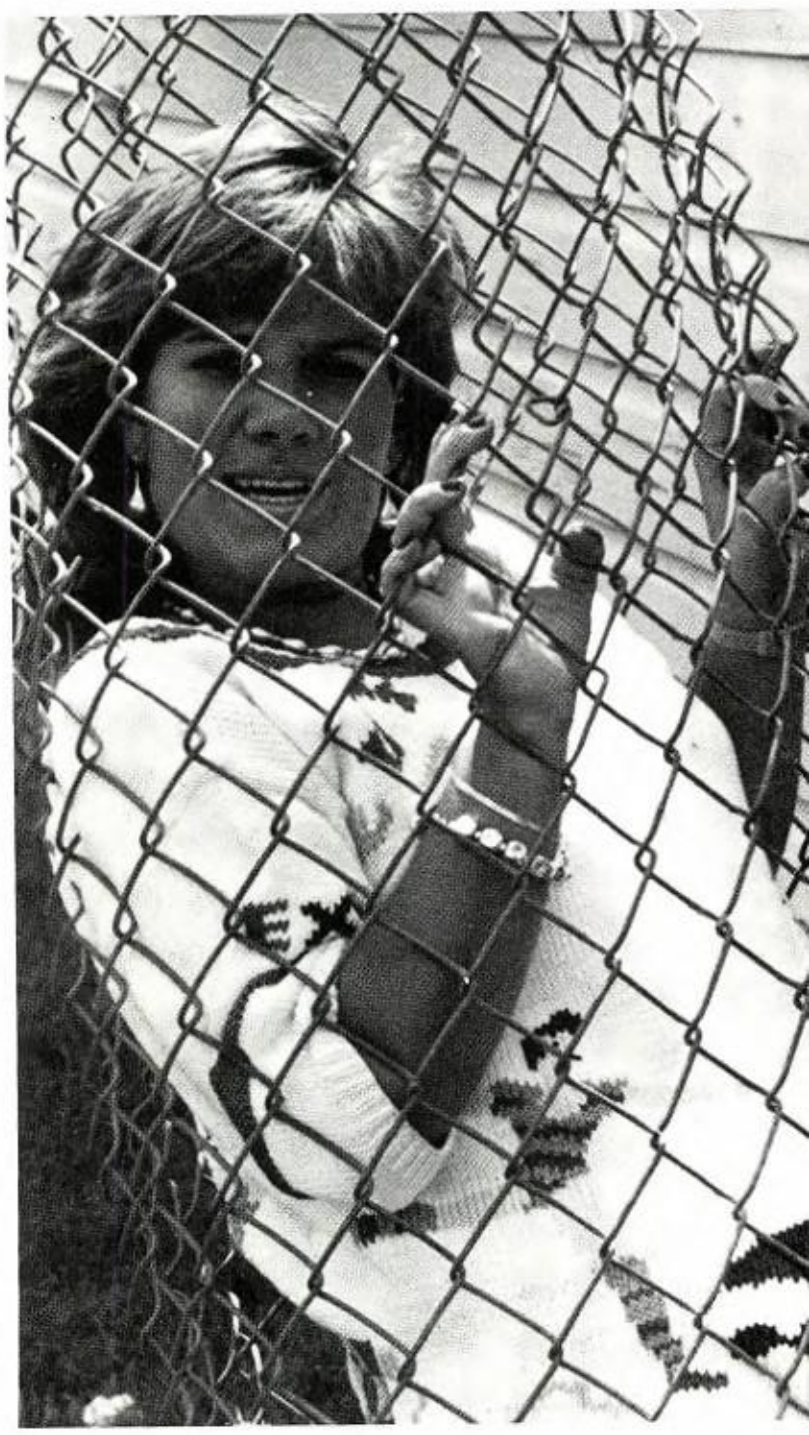
OF LEADERSHIP





Far Left: Spirit Committee President Meredith McKay and Key Club President Will Frederking hold the keys to success.
Left: FFA President Gary Corey gets into the swing of things.
Center: SABER-Editor Kirstin Torgerson's smile proves that the sign in her arms is a myth. Or is it?
Lower Left: Interact President George Rodriguez proves that all Interact members have hard ideas.
Below: Jana Jones is all wrapped up in her duties as President of Student Council.





SCHOLARS

Due to their remarkable scores on the NMSQT, seven students were commended for their scholastic achievements and six others received the distinction of being National Merit Semi-Finalists. Excelling in their Math and English courses helped them achieve these honors.

SCHOLARS SHOW

Certain students exercised their ability to get involved and excel in certain areas of study exceptionally. These students displayed their leadership and talent in specific fields and were honored for their achievements in the specified department. They served as a model for all other students. Through their achievements in high school, these students have prepared themselves to be the leaders of the future.

SCHOLARS NOTICED

Recognition was given to these students because of their dedication and hard work. They are the outstanding seniors in each field of study stated. The time that they have devoted to their studies throughout their high school careers is exceptional. Persistence and dedication are qualities that distinguish them from others, putting them in a "class of their own."

PSUEDO-SCHOLARS CAN

Yes, you have heard the saying, "save the best for last" and that's exactly the case here. You might not know these people look up to them, idolize or admire them like other scholars, but they must know how to do something right because they were there when SABER needed three more pictures. Their accomplishments may not seem so spectacular in your eyes, but don't put them down. Their futures are dim and they need to feel important once in their lives. Through their work, everyone's lives have been made better. The hard work and suffering put into there awards is unimaginable. If you ever see these people again, please demonstrate your appreciation for their hard work in the specified area.

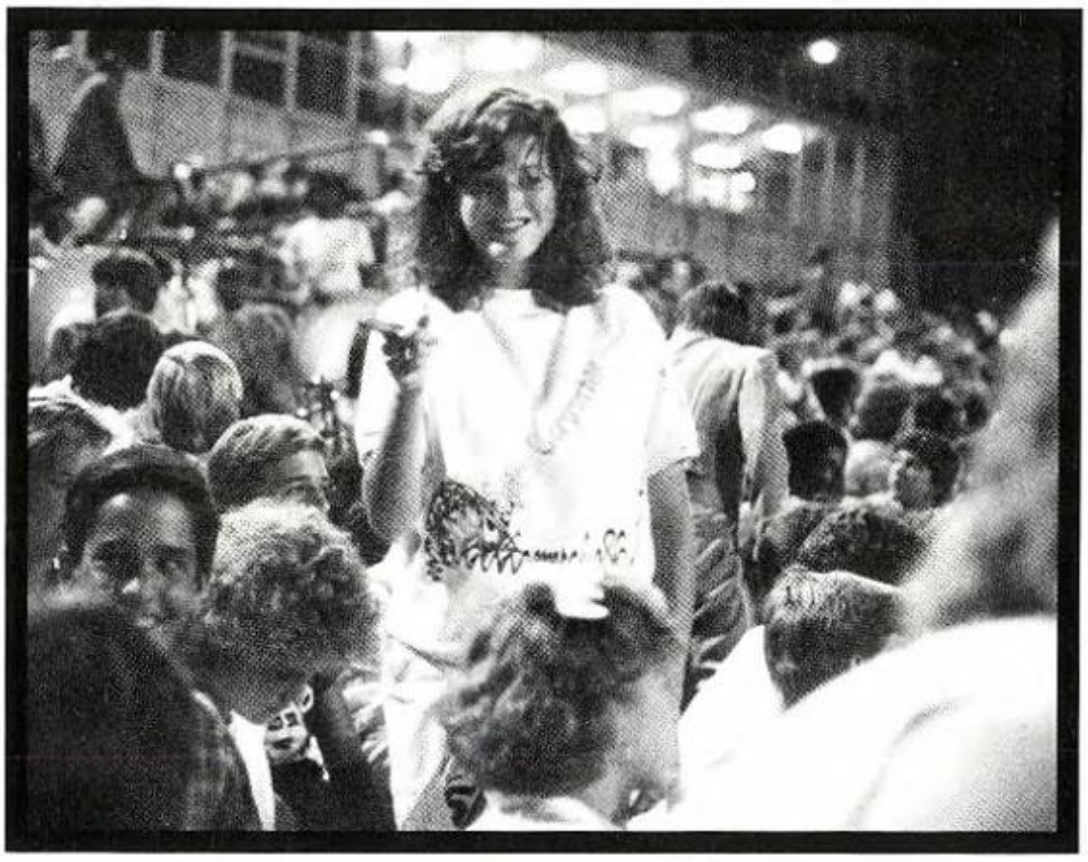
Clubs

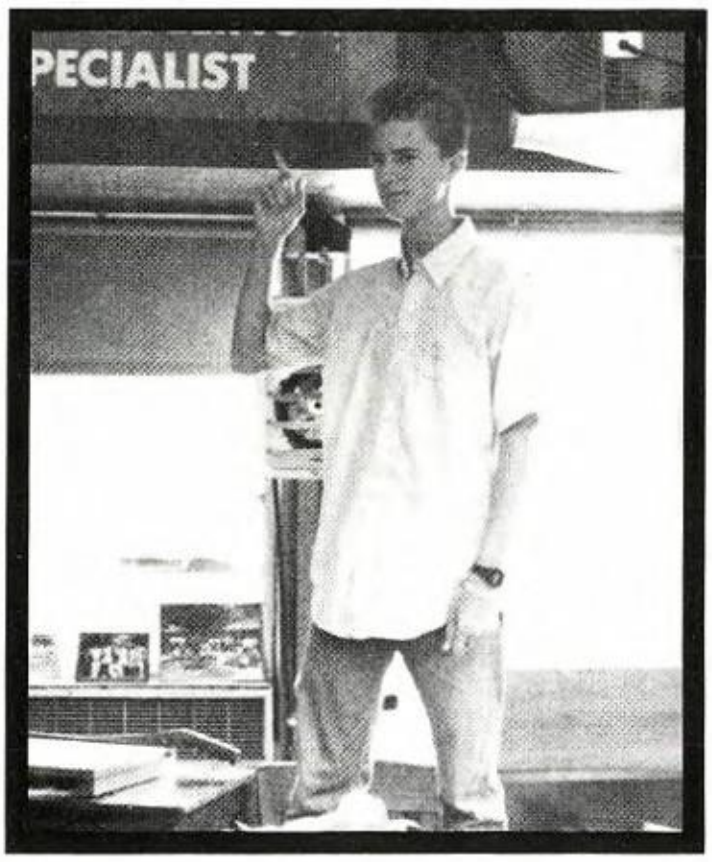
At Lee the education did not stop within the confines of the classroom. By participating in various organizations students became well-rounded individuals and learned practical lessons which could be applied to everyday life. Clubs offered students the opportunity to explore interests in diverse fields such as community service, foreign language, drama and politics but they all promoted similar ideals:

In • tĕr • ac'tion (n.) — the act of socializing Ex. — Although Lee's students seemed to have mastered all the social graces, clubs gave them yet another opportunity to sharpen their skills.

Rē • spon • si • bil'i • ty (n.) — the only drawback to life as a teenager Ex. — Students begrudgingly met the requirements of the organizations with which they were affiliated.

Fun (n.) — the primary goal of most clubs Ex. 1 — While hard work was required, fun was most often the result of club activities. Ex. 2 — Clubs such as SABER held daily meetings to discuss the best possible strategy in the pursuit of a good time.





SABER AND WIZ — NOWHERE BUT LEE

As they followed the yellow brick road, SABER staffers brought the story of Oz to life. The staff diligently sought to create havoc throughout the campus and of course succeeded. To start the year, Jil doodled on Lee High and seniors took a road trip to Camp Coushatte that proved dangerous when Jeff Nutt and James got blitzed by Aztecs. Reportedly Ranger Rick is still looking for survivors.

The first deadline was full of surprises and the Wicked Witch went on a rampage. An APB was put out on Tamme and the entire staff practiced their ABC's and 123's. Meredith was "spirited" as Cynthia tested out the samsonite typewriter. Naturally the pages went in with plenty of time to spare (2) minutes and 11 seconds). Jana was sick during this deadline.

On the second deadline, Carol finally mastered her dummies.

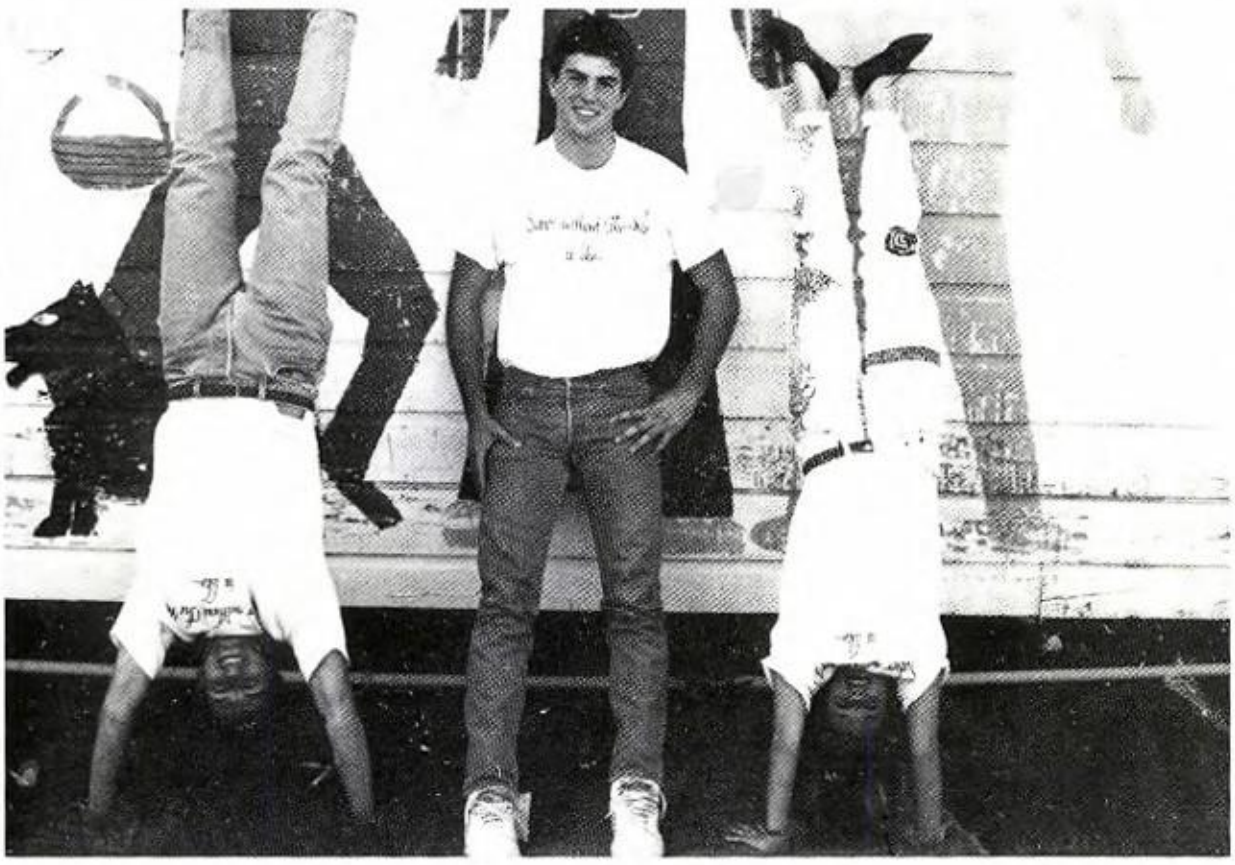
Cary Prince, Activities Editor; Carol Schawe, Clubs.



Ron Franklin, Boy's Sports assistant is about to perform the Ugandan body slam on Will Frederking, Boy's Sports Editor; and Jil Laughlin, Girl's Sports Editor.

No not the juniors, the other dummies. Jana was sick during this deadline.

The last deadline brought unexpected trauma. Senior staffers kidnapped Wiz and took her to see Julio sing, "Fillins, nuting more dan fillins." Tin man Nalley and Scottie were stolen by the policemen for "monkeying around" and the recovery team "led" by Dan and Wiz was sidelined by the C_6H_2O in Mom's purse. J/K and Wiz all got "screwdrivered" on the way to the big "D" to see the color which was of course a little blurry. In January, Sherri Creel was added to the staff. Dan was ready for the final D-Day and was about to lunch it when the WW wondered where his pictures were. Will, chairman of the Roy Arnold fan club, found it "just not possible" to finish by the deadline and headed to see Hulk Hogan for inspiration.

SABER BRINGS ROOF DOWN

Matt finally finished his section but he "Aded" two deadlines. Cary "Toto" Prince knew she was "barking" up the wrong tree when she asked Torg for an extention. Allison and Laura had finished their pages in September. Jana was sick during this deadline.

The year's greatest excitement came when Lisa Massey tried to "teach" other students how to fly. Instead of going off the roof, she went through the roof. Fortunately, the perilous ten foot drop didn't prove fatal. Staffers closed out THE YEAR with a banquet where Ms. Wisdom announced the new staff which of course could never live up to OZ of 85-86.

TRAVELER ROLLS ON

The Traveler is the school's bi-weekly newspaper. Sponsored by Ms. Regina Satlof Block, the students produced editorial, feature and hard-core news articles. To become a member of the Traveler staff, one had to take a year of journalism and remain in the top third of class ranks.

With many high school papers feeling the financial pinch, the Traveler remains one of the few bi-weeklys in the area. The staff produces an eight or ten page paper covering all the activities at Lee and the community around it. Staff members are always winners of individual achievement awards at ILPC.

QUILL AND SCROLL BULLDOZES TO TOP

OFFICERS: Andy Koehl, ink supplier; Allison Poellinger, scribe; Kirstin Torgerson, Dictator; Jeff Nalley, Studly-Bo-Dudley.

As usual senior journalists gathered together to form Quill and Scroll, an honor society with the goal of bettering mankind. Modern day Robin Hoods, these warm hearted students stole from the poor and gave to the rich. The Traveler donated TP to supplement the school's meager supply every two or three weeks. SABER staffers beautified the school's campus with their shack and could always be found doing good deeds.

The highlight of the year was the "Save the Shack" campaign, as HISD ruthlessly tried to steal our homes of twenty years. The usually soft-spoken, mild-mannered journalists became super-humanoids and revolted. Knowing "With the shack goes the Wiz" some Quill and Scroll journalists donned t-shirts saying "SABER without the Wiz is like . . . Traveler."

Open Shack was held on March 13, and the Hound Dogs played in a benefit for ShackAid. Naturally, these students had their way and THE shack stayed. Quill and Scroll rounded out the year with a mixer for SABER and Traveler.

MEMBERS GET ACTIVE

The Robert E. Lee Student Council for the 85-86 school year was sponsored by Mr. Joe Hayes. The hard working students combined their efforts to raise money through a candy sale. With the money they earned, they sponsored two children in Africa through the C.A.R.E. program. Also, they spent time working to beautify our school campus with gardening.

Jana Jones, president, did a wonderful job in keeping the stud members involved in charity and volunteer activities throughout the school year. The club's productivity paid off and their reputation of responsible and caring students was well deserved.

CLUBS INTEGRATE

The Inner-Club Council, sponsored by Mr. Joe Hayes, was renewed this yaer through the efforts of the Student Council. The group consisted of the presidents of each of the clubs at Lee.

The council launched clean-up campaigns and promoted school spirit. At meetings of their clubs, presidents encouraged club members to attend sports functions. Inner-Club Council members worked hard during the year to achieve their goal of bettering the school.

NHS SETS EXAMPLES

Among the students at Lee High School, a select few were chosen to represent the school as members of the National Honor Society. Mrs. Stephanie Forbes sponsored the Lee chapter of the NHS this 1985-86 school year. The members tutored other students in academic subjects throughout the year as a service. New students were inducted in the fall of 1985 and the spring of 1986.

LINGUISTS LOOK TO THE FUTURE

Students, with high achievements in Latin, joined the Latin Honor Society. The club furthered knowledge and encouraged enthusiasm for classical civilizations. The club was sponsored by Mr. Howard Callas who also teaches Word Power and all Latin classes at Lee. The club went to several tournaments and competed for trophies and ribbons in academic and non-academic areas.

ESPANOL UNA FIESTA

Under the leadership of Mrs. Ines Anido, the Spanish club once again soared above all others in activity. Creating interest in Spanish heritage and helping the poor Hispanic community were just some of the club's activities.

The club raised money from the sale of candy in school. They used these funds to sponsor a Christmas party at Ripley House and a Thanksgiving basket project for the needy.

The Spanish Club is the largest and most active in the foreign language department.

PARLEZ-VOUS FRANCAIS?

The French Club is an aspiring organization at Lee, sponsored by Alvaro Rodriguez to enhance students' knowledge of the French culture.

The club planned outings to films to get acquainted with French dialects and visited bakeries to develop tastes for French delicacies.

All members are required to be in at least their first year of French and must be interested in the French culture. This year the club experienced an overwhelming membership with which it hopes to continue the French tradition.

SURF'S UP

The Surf Club, under the leadership of Mr. Alvaro Rodriguez, has progressed quite steadily along. Frequent trips to Galveston were planned throughout the year to check out the jetties. During trips to the gulf, they plotted tidal activity and predicted awesome waves. The club also cross-bred sea kelp in search of new species. The highlight of the year was in their final journey to the beach where they held their third annual urchin searchin contest. Shannan Terry captured first prize.

SCUBA AND CHESS JUMP

Chess Club

Chess Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Doris Countee, participated in three tournaments this year. Each member in the club was awarded a trophy according to their division. Officers are Bassem Zakhem, president; Syed Rahman, vice-president; Mike Magrill, treasurer; Randy McCarble, secretary.

Scuba Club

Scuba Cub, also sponsored by Mrs. Countee, made two diving trips to Galveston. Each trip proved to be successful as new members learned the importance of diving. Scuba Club's purpose was to certify new members and to teach the students some safety tips on diving. The officers are Mark Tadros, president; Jonathan O'Dowd, vice-president; Jose Candeo, treasurer; Charles Jackson, secretary.

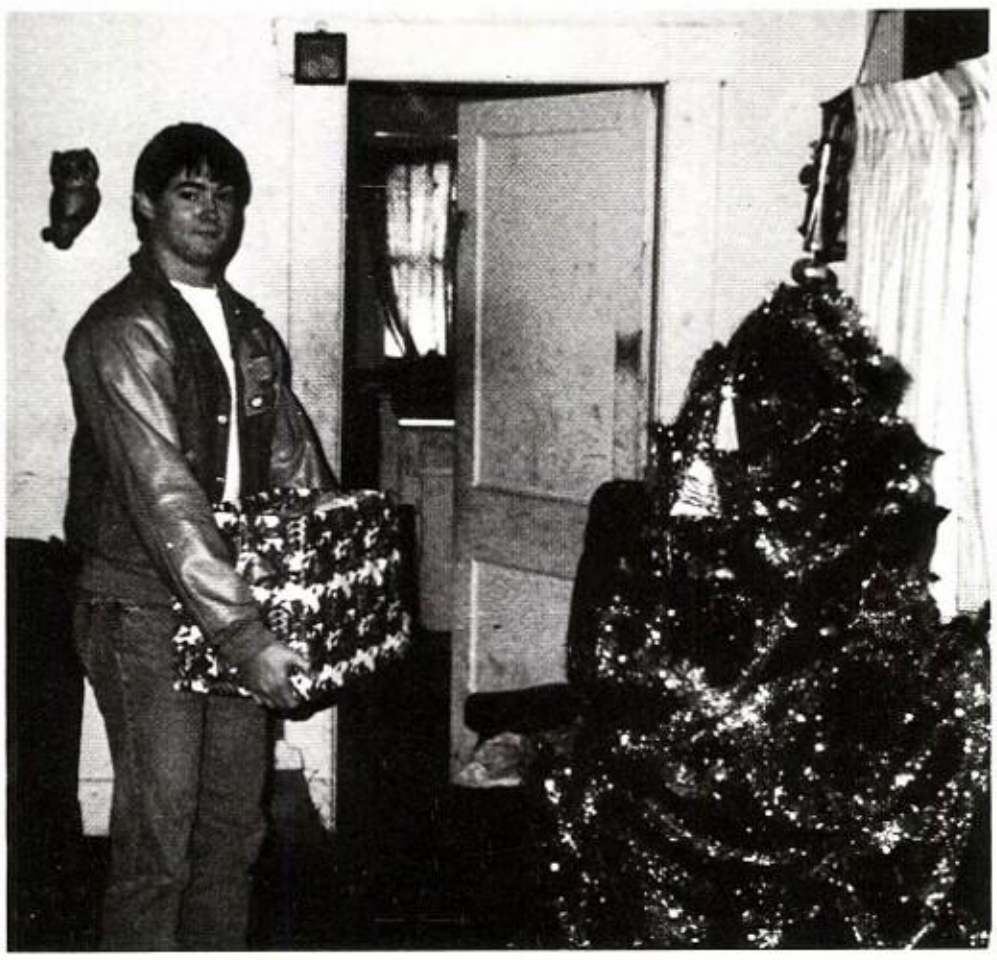
INTERACT PLAYS



Modern day Christmas Grinch, John Neal, steals this family's last gift.

The Interact Club is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Houston. Membership is open to any sophomore, junior or senior boy. Its purpose is to provide opportunity for young people to work together in a world fellowship, dedicated to service and international understanding. It encourages leadership, personal integrity, thoughtfulness and helpfulness to others, based on the recognition of the worth of each individual. Projects include Christmas food and clothing for needy families of Wesley Elementary School and speaking to various elementary classrooms in HISD and FBISD about the importance of grades and athletics. The sponsor is Mr. Charles Gomez.

SUPER TECH SHINES

Super Tech is a club sponsored by Ms. Shuler. They were responsible for almost everything that went on behind the scenes of school productions and assemblies. Some of their responsibilities ranged from set design and set construction to paint and lights. Other jobs ranged from sound, costume and make-up, to business affairs of the group. People in Super Tech are nominated by fellow classmates and members of Dramalee.

Razz M'Tazz and Co. is a troupe of students which create its own shows through improvisation. Built for the young at heart "Razz" creates song, dance, puppets, scenes, and "whatever" into a fifty-minute performance of live vignettes.

Under the direction of Ms. Linda Shuler, the troupe perfected its skills as the year progressed. RAZZ remained very busy throughout the school year; particularly at Christmas time. The performers brought joy and laughter to many elementary school students, churches, community organizations and underprivileged children. RAZZ creates a show in the spring especially for the Lee students. The show is written and performed just for Lee. RAZZ is a fully accredited drama class, and holds auditions for students interested in drama and theatre twice a year.

Dramalee had another successful season under the direction of Ms. Shuler. Dramalee is open to the entire student body for anyone interested in drama or the arts. Outstanding Dramalee members who met the proper qualifications belonged to the National Drama Honor Society called Thespians. Members enjoyed numerous parties, seminars, workshops, field trips and art events throughout the year.

In the spring, members presented "The Wiz" for both the school and community.

During their successful year, Dramalee had the opportunity to perform in the spring U.I.L. one act play called "Kismet." Dramalee also hosted the U.I.L. area one act play contest.

Awards for best actor and actress, minor character, and Super Tech are given at their annual banquet at the end of the year.

Lee's mixed choir, the Southernaires, directed by Miss Eleanor Grant, had an exciting year, performing Christmas concerts, competing in spring contests, and entertaining at school functions. The Southernaires received invitations to sing for the D.A.R. and Transco Tower and were paid for performing at the Lincoln Hotel and the Sharpstown Rotary Club during the Christmas season. The choir performed their annual Christmas program at St. Philip Presbyterian Church. To raise money this year, they sold cheese and sausage, Cadbury candy, and candied popcorn. Outstanding members performed in the UIL Solo and Ensemble contests and the entire choir participated in the UIL concert contest. Wrapping up a great year, the choir attended the annual Dogwood Festival in Woodville, Texas. Cary Prince best described the choir when she said, "We may be a small choir but we're a QUALITY choir."

SOUTHERNAIRES SING OUT

The Southernaires gave a spectacular Christmas performance at the Lincoln Hotel.

SENIORS: Carrie Clem, Pam Stewart, Cary Prince, Greg Moreno, Emily Nagle, Kim Sheppard, Leslie Head and Kim Gates are "one singular sensation."

Under the direction of Miss Eleanor Grant, the Dixiliers, an all girls choir, sang their way through a terrific year. During the Christmas season, the girls sang for the D.A.R. at the River Oaks Country Club, performed at the Transco Tower, and presented their annual Christmas program at St. Philip Presbyterian Church. Over half of the members participated in the February Solo and Ensemble contest. Combined with the girls from the Southernaires, the Dixiliers performed at the UIL contest in the spring. Fundraising projects included selling cheese and sausage, Cadbury candy, and candied popcorn. This year, the Dixiliers continued the tradition of representing Lee and serving the community through music.

CONSERVATIVES GET LIBERAL

Under the leadership of Mrs. Bronwyn Rack and Mrs. Cindy O'Brien, the Young Conservatives of Texas is one of the largest clubs at Lee. Included in their activities are participating in a phone bank for the mayoral election and a Christmas party, featuring the Hound Dogs, at Transco Tower. In the spring, they planned an Easter egg hunt and a food drive for the Mission of Yahweh.

CRITTERS HELPS THE CREATURES

The Critters and Creatures club, sponsored by Ms. Kathryn Timme, was a group of united animal lovers and the largest club of its kind in the nation. Members were involved in many activities to help needy animals. One of these was the CAPS Auction. Students collected coupons and pet food to donate to the auction. Several club members also participated in CAPS.

The club helped with the Greenpeace Run to raise money for animal protection services. Furthermore, members solicited petitions to support the Animal Rights movement. Critters sold candy to support its activities.

SPIRIT COMMITTEE IS NEVER UNDER-ESTIMATED

Unlike the preceding years of Spirit Committee's progress, the 1985-86 committee has proven its superior ability to support its school athletic programs. Beginning with the challenge of overcoming criticism and lack of spirit, the committee redeemed its power through successful and influential attempts to promote school spirit. Each of these girls devoted time and expense to insure the fact that Lee's student body would support its team. For the homecoming favor for the varsity football players, the committee had shirts printed that stated, "YES LEE CAN AND WILL."

The shirts, worn by the players on game day, seemed to give them a new outlook and higher hopes for the homecoming game. Sponsored by Mrs. Doris Countee, the Spirit Committee made a positive impact on the student body and their participation and support of athletics.

LIEUTENANTS STRUT STUFF

The Lee Lieutenant Jazz Team, sponsored by Mrs. Ann Hair, provided half-time entertainment at football games. During the year, they performed at civic and patriotic functions. The Lieutenants also published the Lee school directory as a special project and as a service to the School.

Last Spring, the Jazz Team placed second in the HISD competition at Worthing High School. Over the summer, the officers attended officer camp at Southern Methodist University and received a superior rating. The officers later attended jazz camp at Northbrook High School, and in July the entire squad attended copps camp at the University of Houston where they received 45 blue ribbons.

The Lieutenants attended competitions in December and February and had their annual Spring formal "Rebelee" in March. The Lieutenants encouraged school spirit as they danced their way through an exciting year.

GENERALS JAM

The fifty plus member marching General band, under the direction of Mr. Tom Schriner, proudly performed at half-time shows. They provide entertainment and boost spirits at football games and pep rallies as well as the booster club bonfire.

Ms. Doris Countee, long time "voice of the Generals" continued her introductions of the half time shows, although the flag and rifle corps were a fairly new addition.

Arlon Henderson sweetly replies, "I'm a lover, not a fighter."

It's amazing that the General band members stay captivated considering the score of the game.

Candy sales, performances and the spaghetti supper were among the band projects conducted to raise money. The money was used for instruments, instrument repair, awards, and the annual spring banquet. The band competed in HISD marching, solo and ensemble, and sight reading competition. The U. of H. band day was a unique event enjoyed by the students. The highlight of the year was the Foley's Thanksgiving Parade.

"I don't see what you see in that guy," says Rachael Frederick to the starry-eyed Gretchen Hardaway who obviously knows what she wants.

Some students developed a sense of belonging through participation in athletics. This experience served to enhance their character and build a sense of pride which the Generals radiated from the playing fields. Those who played sports learned valuable lessons which could be applied to everyday life:

Com pe ti′ tion (n.) what a person faces when striving for superiority. Ex. — Tough opponents taught General athletes that perseverance is the key to success.

Ded • i • cā' tion (n.) an attitude required to reach the top. Ex. — In order to meet practice requirements many personal sacrifices had to be made.

Rec • ŏg • ni' tion (n.) the result of the hours of hard work the athletes put in Ex. — Those who excelled in their particular sport had the opportunity to compete in regional and state competition. Ex. 2 — Hall signs and favors were made to show the student body's whole-hearted support.

As the Generals approached this season, the outlook was grey. No one knew what to expect. As the season progressed, there were surprises such as the superb performance of sophomore Peter Gardere. However, the many disappointments diminished individual efforts. Injuries occurred and the Generals started the season disabled.

In the second game, the Generals defeated Milby behind the play of running back Tyrone Thompson and a field goal by Gardere. Hope was offered but it was quickly diminished. Lee lost in four straight games.

Finally, the Generals won their first and only district game. Lee took advantage of seven Worthing fumbles in a "mudbowl." For the seniors, it was a season of disappointments. Of their performance you could ask nothing more. The underclassmen, however, may have something to look forward to. Players such as Gardere, Damon Brody, Clay King, Todd Cole, Tyrone Thompson, and many others will leave their mark on District 18-5a.

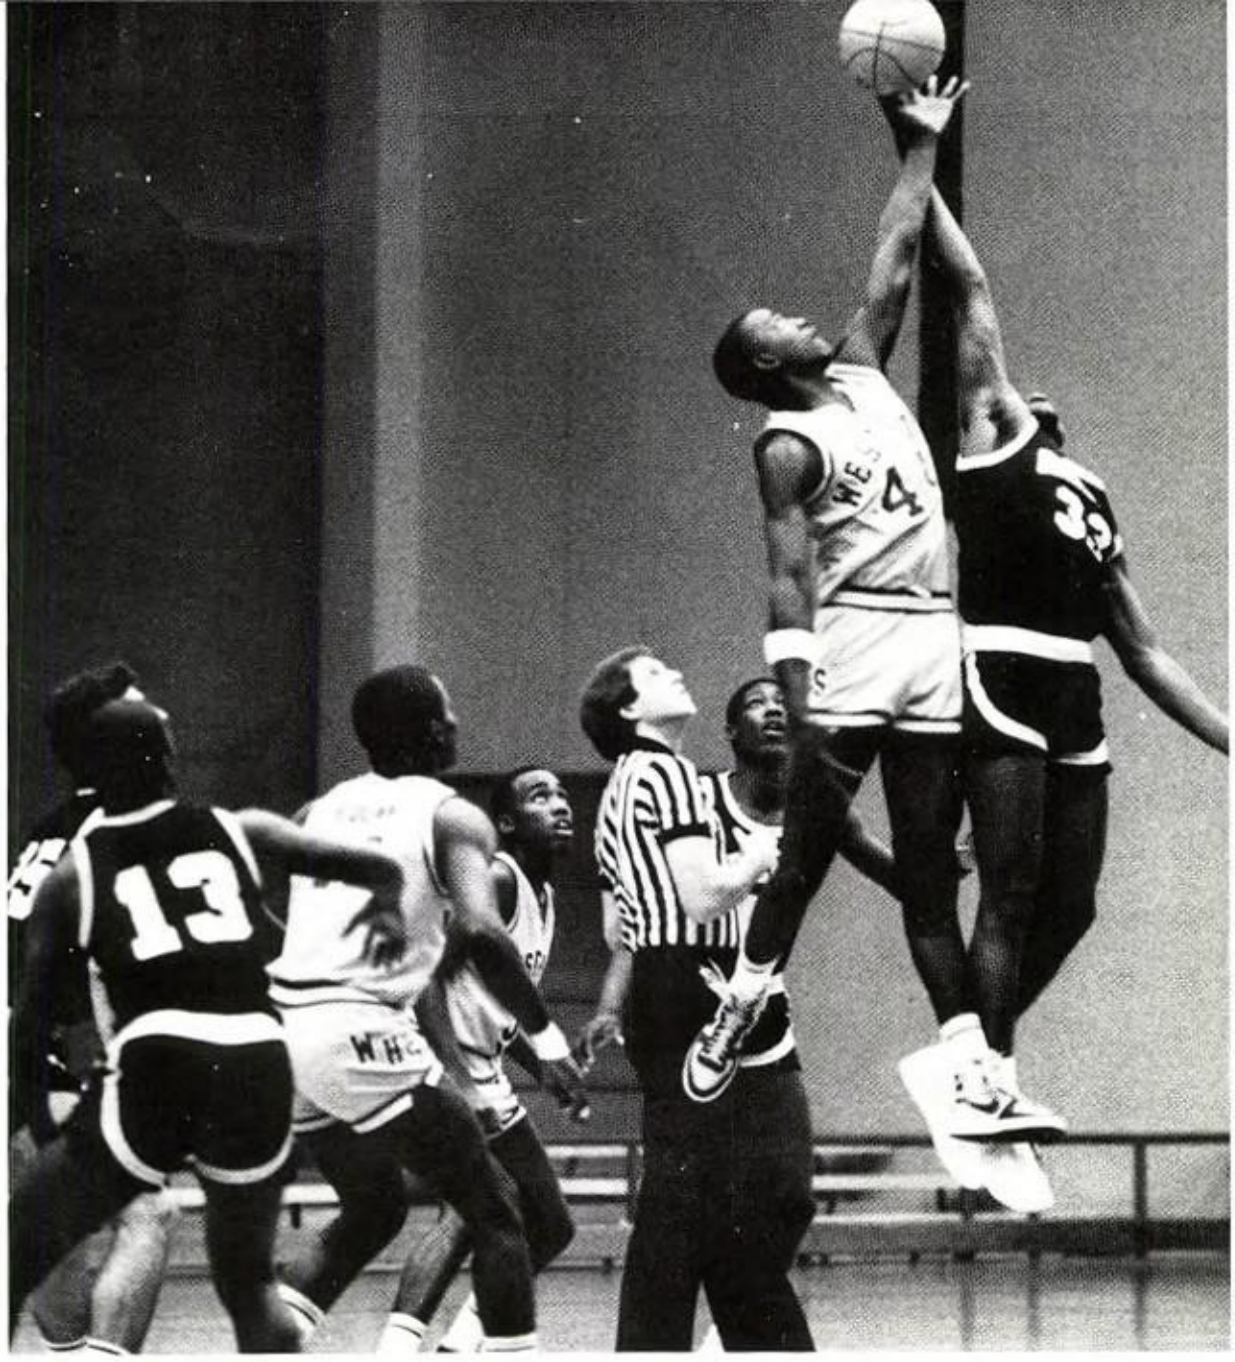
District 6-6
Overall 17-13

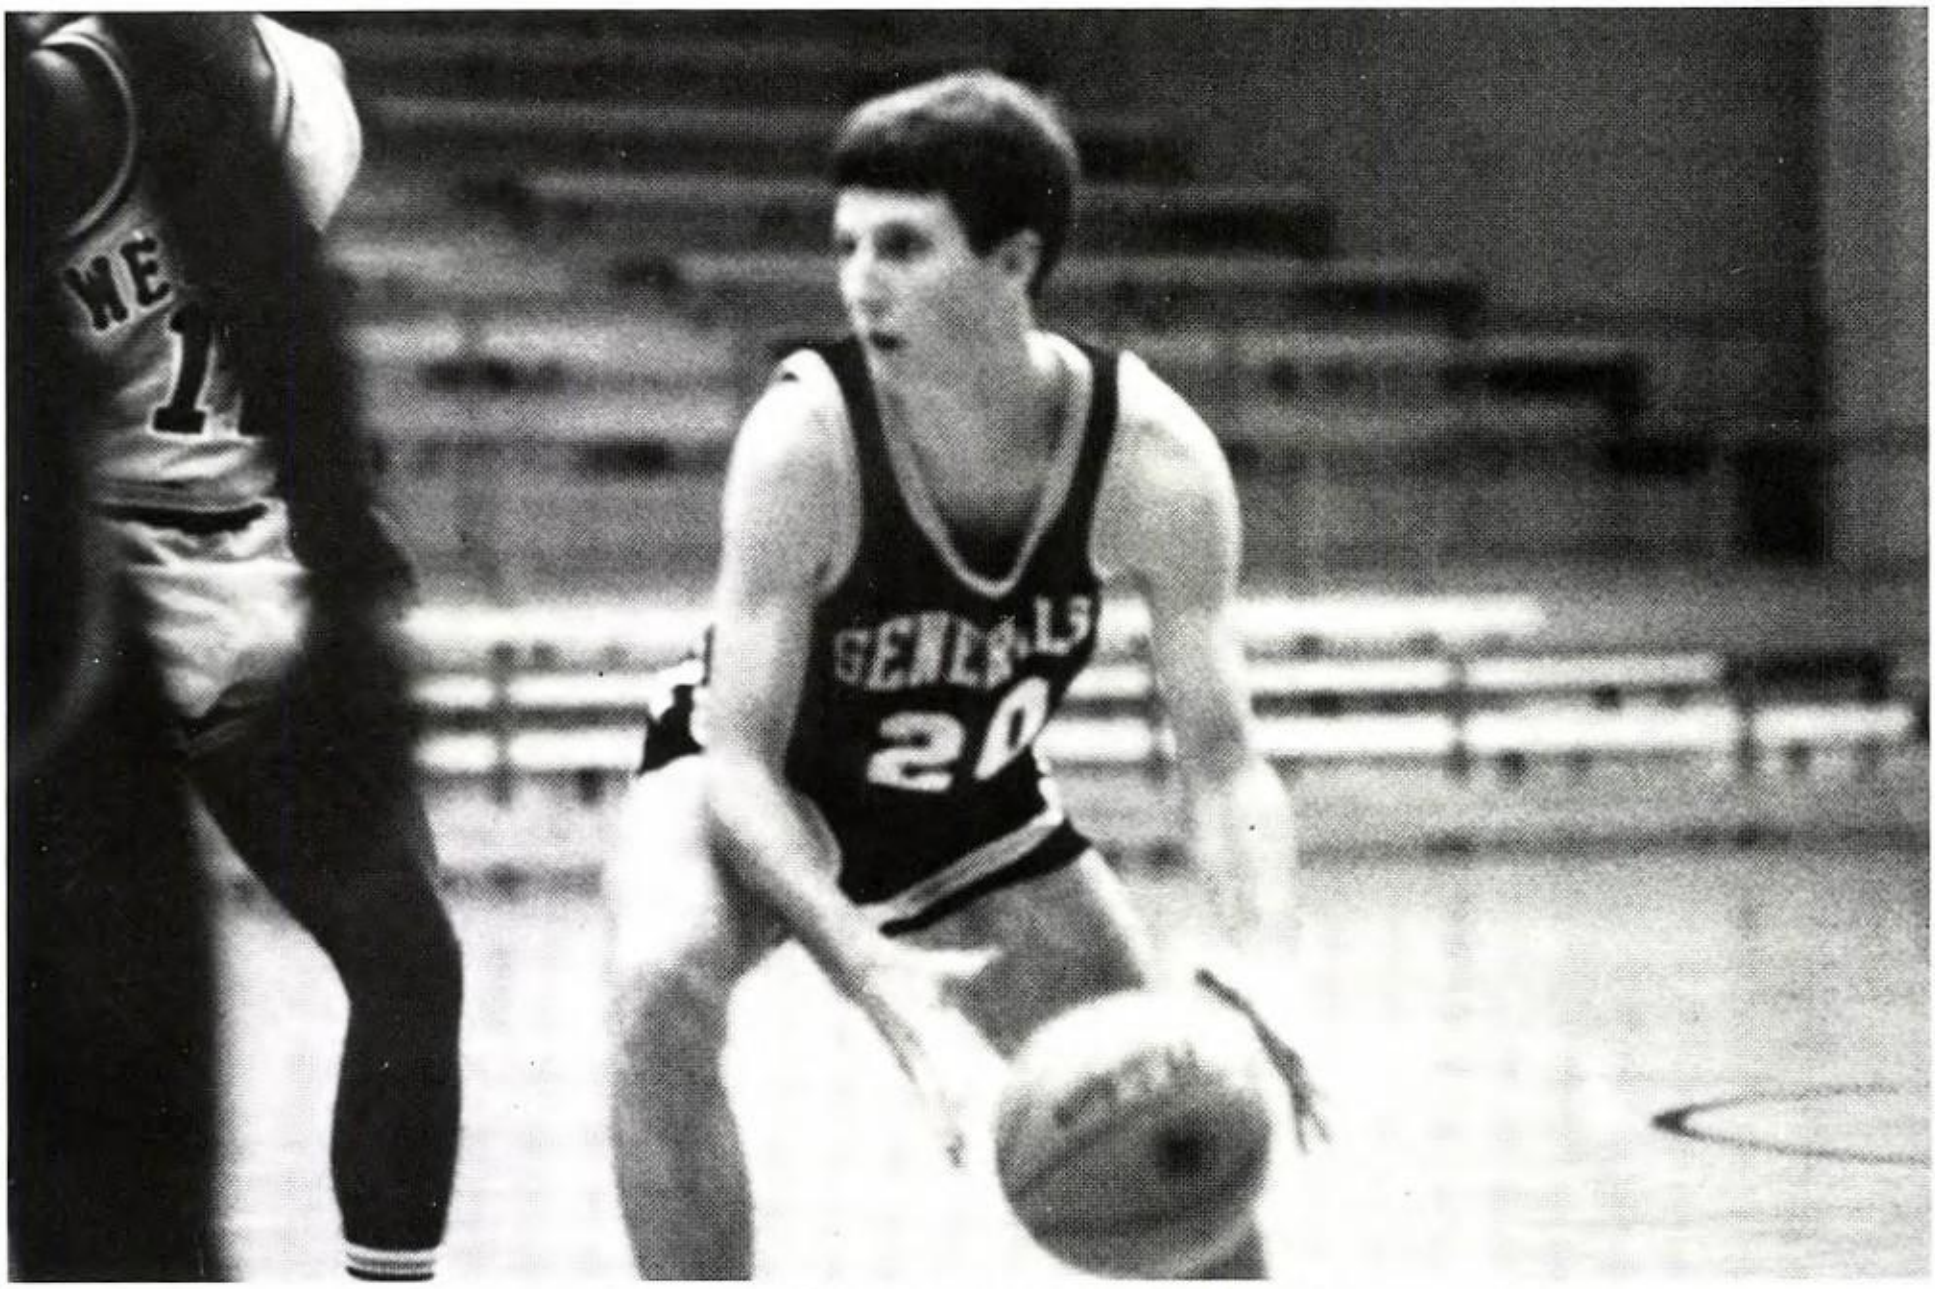
Head Coach Mike Fergus.



Air Felder cleared for takeoff.

Lee basketball is legitimate. Falling just short of the playoffs, the Generals proved that Lee has a basketball program that is more than respectable. It is not over yet. Walter Felder, Jarryd Harrell, and Michael Billingsley will all be around next year. The acquisition of Felder from Marion Christian greatly aided the team. He led the team in scoring with 12.7 points per game and in rebounding with 9.5 per game. Focusing on Coach Fergus, the team has averaged 17 wins a year since he has had the program. In the three years before Fergus took over, Lee won 12 games combined.

The steady and controlled game of the Generals can be attributed to Bill Ruddell. Bill was one of the top ten scorers in the district with 10.6 points. Ellery Mitchell was also in the top ten with 10.2 points per game. Ellery improved greatly from last year and was a continual outside threat. Returning letterman Ron Franklin played consistently all year long with good defense and the addition of some offense when needed. The Generals were exciting. For the first time in years Lee students didn't have to watch the Madison game to see a dunk.



Point guard Bill Ruddell dishes it off to an inside man.

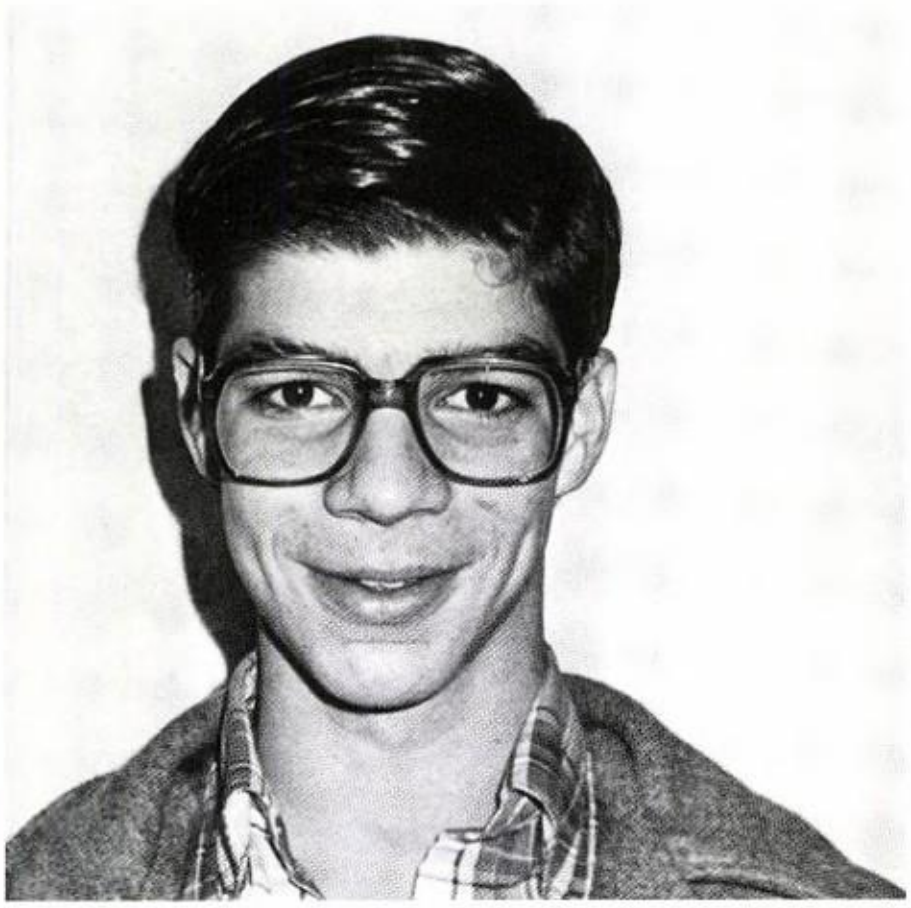
SWIMMERS TAKE DISTRICT TITLE ONCE AGAIN

Front Row: Myer, J. Kovacs, C. Kovacs, Michaels. Second Row: K. Daniels, Duncan, Strain, Martinez, Coach Duvall. Third Row: Anderson, Allen, Sirois, Wright, Connolly, J. Daniels.



Chris Kovacs led the Generals to a district championship.

Behind swimmers such as the Kovacs brothers, the Lee Swim Team has stayed victorious. First year coach Mrs. Lesley Duvall, did an excellent job of keeping the Generals in the win column. The team captured the district title and many of the swimmers had first place finishes.

Both of the Kovacs had wins, with Chris winning the 100 yd. back and the 200 I.M. James Connally took a gold medal in the 100 yd. breast.

The Generals took their district title to Regionals and found that the competition was tough. John Kovacs placed seventh in the 100 fly, and John Sirois had an eighth place finish. Chris Kovacs continued to do well as he took second in the 100 back and third in the 200 I.M.

Chris was the only boy swimmer from Lee to swim in the State meet. He brought home a tenth and a thirteenth place finish.

WRESTLING TEAM APPEALS TO AN UNUSUAL CROWD

Though the Wrestling Team has yet to find any challengers within our district, they kept up with their vigorous training schedule. James McKissick and Jeff Nuttall make up the "Kiwanian Giants." They plan to win district as soon as they can get H.I.S.D. to approve the sport. Coaches of the Wrestling Team are Miss Sandy Malicote, once associated with the WWF, and Mrs. Margaret Wisdom. Jana Jones and Meredith McKay are also members and hope to compete in the boy's divisions.

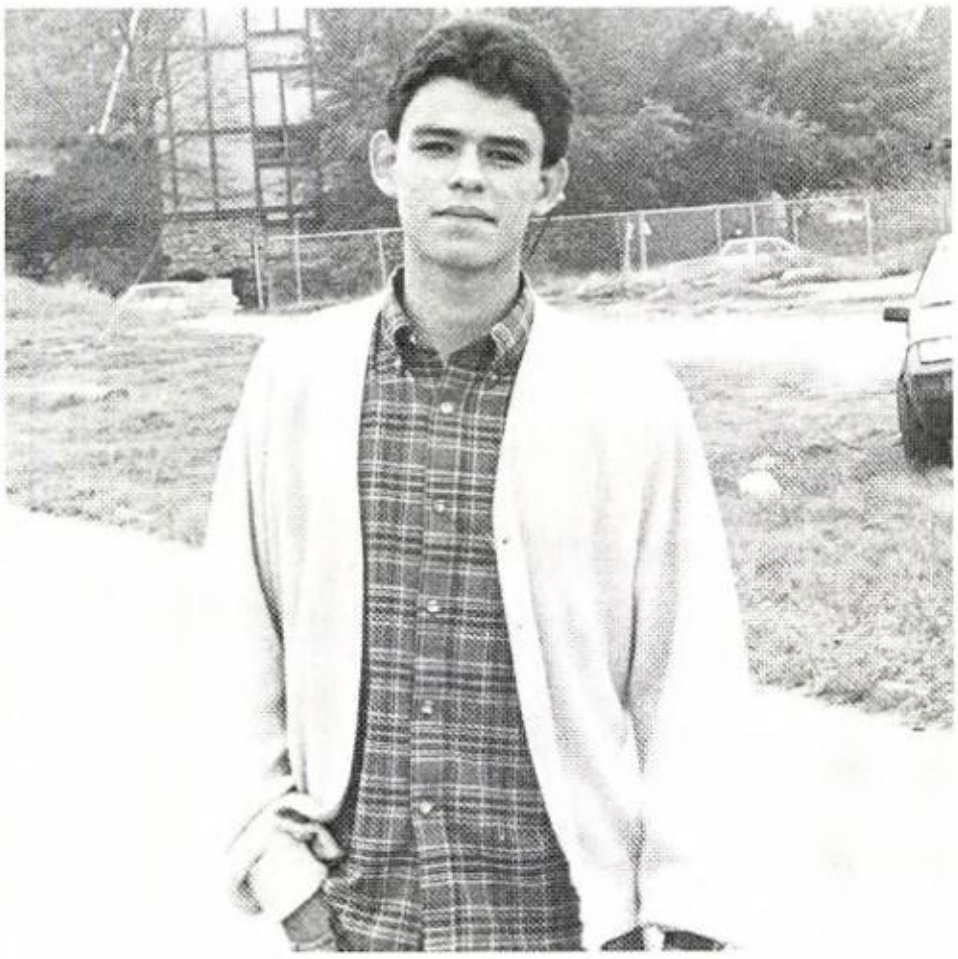
CROSS COUNTRY RUNS TO A DIFFERENT BEAT



Renee Parr — 1 year letterman.

Matt Adams acted as a catalyst for the Cross Country Team.

Mathew Alvarez — 3 year letterman.

Our prestigious Cross country team was coached by Coach Gerald Mills. Although the team was small, they were very productive. The Generals finished second in district and had two runners make it to regionals.

Individually Mathew Alvarez finished eleventh in district and faired very well in the regionals. Steve Watson won the District Cross Country individual title. Matt Adams was always there to add emotional support. Renee Parr and Clay Cossey contributed greatly to our district finish.

VARSITY TRACK TEAM: Aldridge, Scott, Walker, Harris, White, Felder, Bond.

Under the supervision of Coach Gerald Mills, the 1986 Track Team was ready for the upcoming season. Newcomer Walter Felder added strength and depth to the short distance events that had been the burden of Ray White. Long distance runner Bryant Bond helped round out the General squad.

The Tennis Team was coached by Miss Linda Hill again this year. The team looked extremely strong as they entered competition in early February. Leif Krosby joined his two brothers Tor and Bjorn who are both four year lettermen. Darren Inoff also added some much needed experience to the team.

The Generals eased through district play looking very impressive. In their last district match, however, Bellaire proved to be too tough for Lee. This one loss cost the Generals a district title.

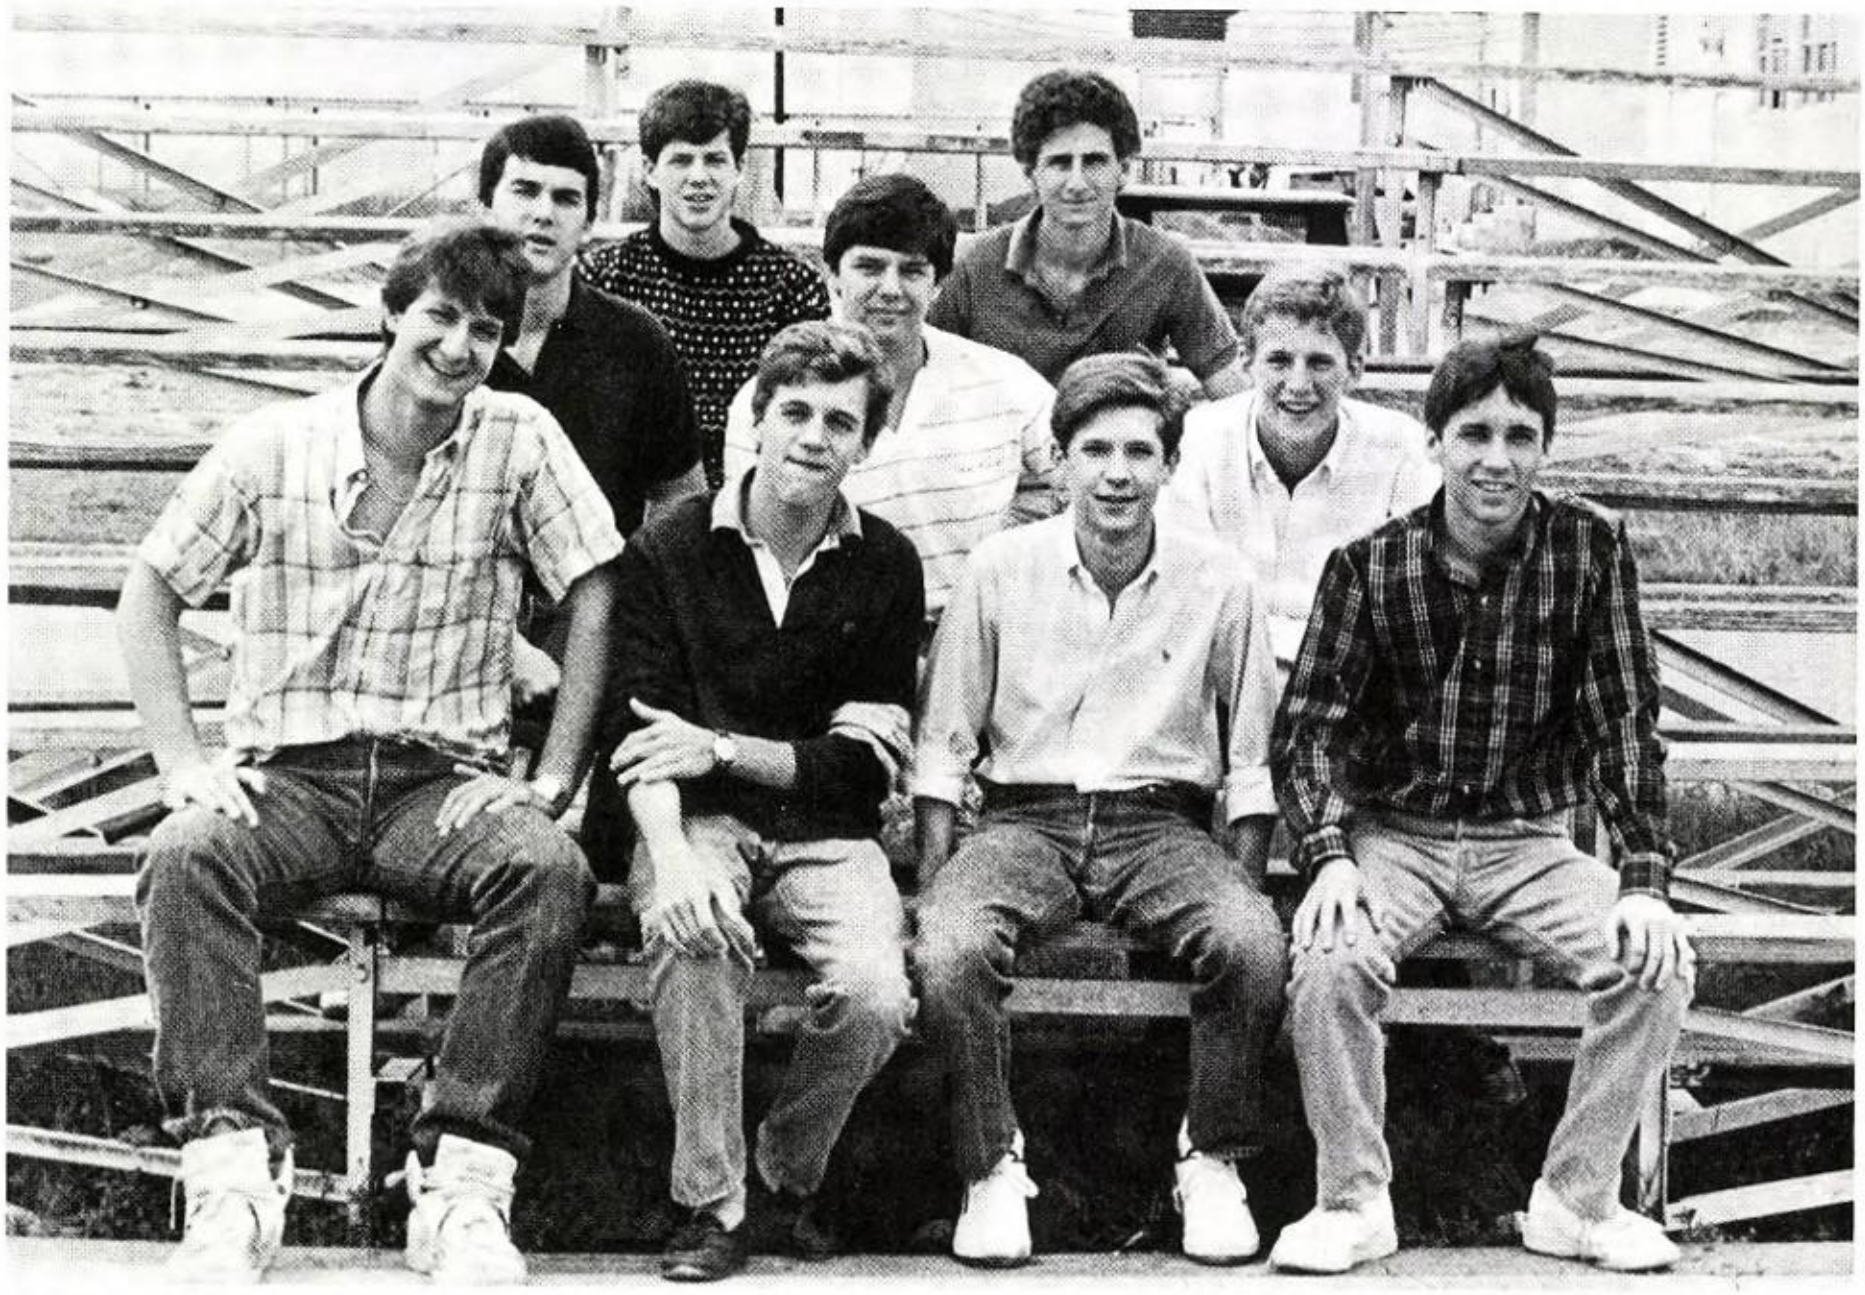
LINKSTERS '86 — PAR EXCELLENCE



VARSITY GOLF TEAM: Front Row: K. Robbins, J. Jackson, A. Price, K. Mondshine. Second Row: J. Blacketer, L. Cooper, V. Tarver. Third Row: D. Montgomery, M. Schillaci.

The Golf Team, under the direction of Coach Jim Hale, was strengthened by the return of Mondshine, Montgomery, Armstrong, and Tarver. Prior to district, they attended many tournaments including the Westbury Invitational, the Strake Jesuit Tournament, and the Galveston Ball High Tournament.

In their first four tournaments the Generals had a second place finish and two third place finishes. In the Clear Creek Tournament held at South Shore Harbor, Lee placed third in a tough 22 team field. Kennith Mondshine, Johnny Armstrong, and Dan Montgomery had top individual finishes to keep the Generals at the top throughout their season.

Coach Perry talks over strategy with his outfielders.

There were some changes in this year's baseball program. A new coach and five sophomores provided new scenery. Coach Doug Perry had a tough act to follow, but once again he came through. The Generals had only one returning letterman, but last year's J.V. made it to the city playoffs for the second year in a row under Coach Perry.

Individually, Clay King and Peter Gardere were two of the top ten hitters in district. To accompany the hitting was a solid defense, by far the Generals' best attribute. Up the middle were two sophomores, Clay King played shortstop and Lance Russell was at second. Matt Blackmon did an incredible job at first while Bobby Skinner and Jeff Nuttall shared the duties at third. The pitching staff was a definite weak point, but they were able to hold their own throughout the season.

Entering district Lee was 8-3 and people were beginning to believe in the young ball club. After three district games and a second loss to Waltrip, who was ranked first in state, the Generals were 10-5. With continual hard play Lee will make another run at the playoffs.

A SMASHING SEASON

Guided by the expertise of Coach Linda Hill, the tennis team had a successful year. They endured the disappointment of another year without the promised tennis courts and remedied this problem with other facilities. Using Southwest Tennis Center as its headquarters, Lee challenged their district opponents and played in many tournaments outside the boundaries of district play. Karen Biggerstaff led the team as the top singles player and they finished third in district.

CROSS COUNTRY GETS LOST

Running over the hills, through trees, across plains for miles without rest is the Robert E. Lee girl's Cross Country team. Perhaps the most trying of all the special teams, the cross country team is also part of the track team, making a united representation from Lee. These girls must be very conditioned to endure the exhaustion of running many miles. But when the going gets tough, the cross country girls go the distance. They finished second in district.

TRACK GETS THE RUN AROUND

Within the halls of Robert E. Lee is a fine group of young runners. There was a total of thirty two, and they form the girls' track team. Under the sharp eyes of coaches Willie Frazier and Rick Holden, these girls faithfully work towards their potential. Outstanding performances were from Julia White, Nutrena Alridge, Brenda Shepard, and Charlsetta Mont- gomery, better known as "The Pimps." Confidently displaying their school pride, these girls worked with maturity and endurance matched only by the attitudes of professionals. The momentum will certainly carry the team to very high standings.

Realizing that she is running the wrong way, Lorette Benjamin makes a quick change in direction.

Girl's basketball, coached by Tony Edmonds, compiled a much improved record of 6-11. Connie Adams led the team by averaging 18.4 points per game. For a young team they had a very commendable season. With eight returning lettermen the Generals are sure to excel in '87.

SWIMMERS "TURN" TO SUCCESS

When Robert E. Lee alumni ponder over the successes of its athletic program, they can be proud of the girls' swim team. Coach Leslie DuVall cannot go unnoticed, for she was the backbone and mastermind of the swim program. In the state championship, there was Kirstin Torgerson with a fourth in the 100 back; Cathy Periera with a sixth in the 200 I.M.; and the girls won an eleventh in the 200 medley relay.

VARSITY HAS ITS MOMENTS

Commanded by Ms. Carole Hornsby, the girls' Varsity Volleyball team started out strong. Their strength lay in steady play and teamwork. Tracey Meyer, Allison Poellinger, and Connie Adams showed great leadership. Fine performances produced five victories including their last match against Bellaire. Allison Poellinger and Tracey Meyer closed their last district match with a perfect set and winning spike.

J. V. RISES TO THE OCCASION

Directed by Ms. Linda Hill the Junior Varsity shows much promise. Many of the girls had never played before, which made their work even harder. Outstanding players include Sonia Garcia and Charlesetta Montgomery. The results of their work were four victories. Robert E. Lee should be proud of these girls with high expectations for next year.

PRINCIPALS AND A DEAN KEEP US IN CONTROL

Mr. Lawrence Bergen provided Lee High School with a foundation of accuracy during the 1985-1986 school year. He diligently helped to support school activities such as spirit issues and safety rules. In addition to promoting spirit and safety, Mr. Bergen aided in school improvement. He embarked on the production of two new additions to the original school campus: a new east wing and a vocational education building.

Mr. Bergen faced many new, enforced rules this year. His efficiency and accuracy made the rules firm, and the students adjusted well.

As a principal, Mr. Bergen was confronted with many difficult tasks and tough decisions. However, because of his great concern and care for the students and the faculty, he was able to produce tactics pleasing to all involved with Lee High School. His inward drive and determination created a school atmosphere that was able to make this year one of Lee's finest.

Top: Mr. Lawrence Bergen, Principal
Right: Representing the faculty, Mr. Nichols, Mrs. Hair, Miss Bogan, and Mr. Bergen promote school spirit by loyally attending the games.

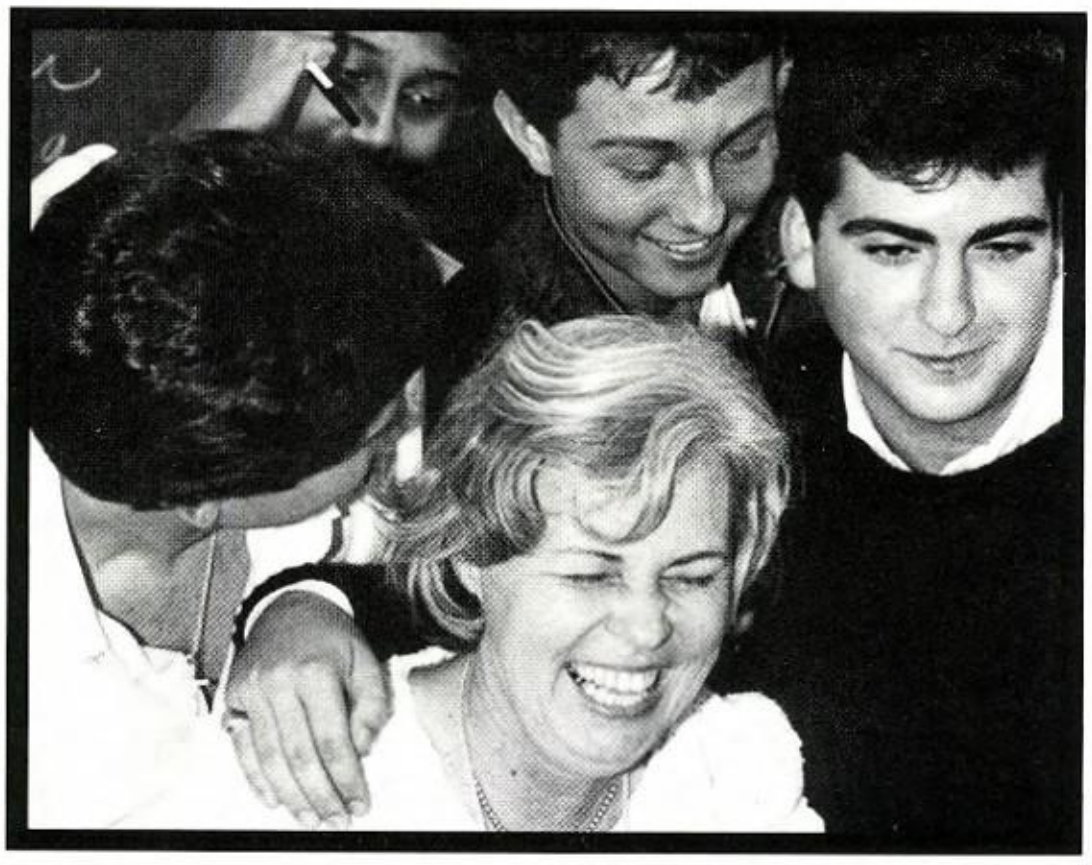
Fac′ ul • ty

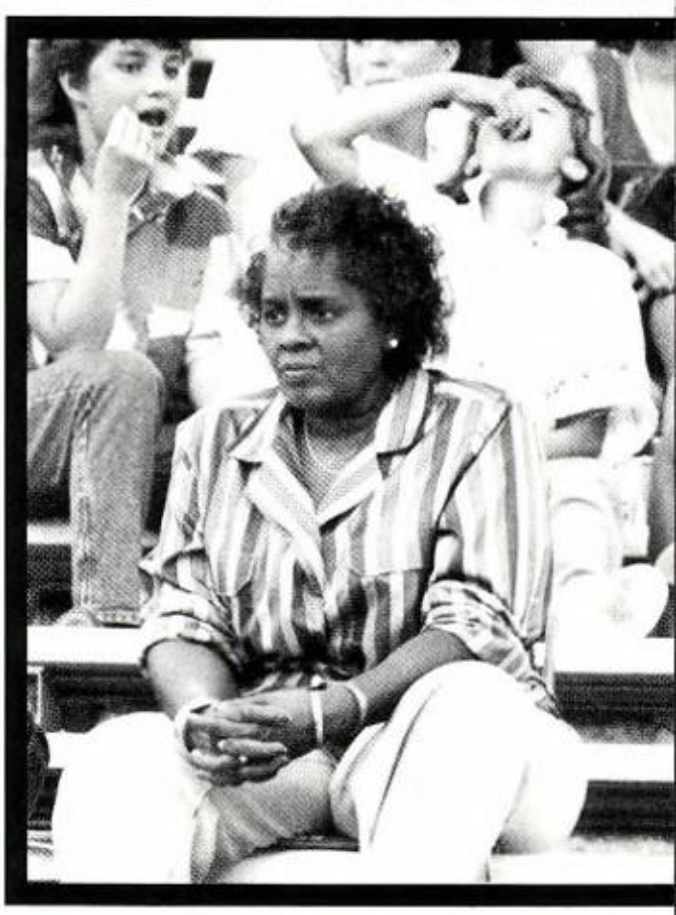
Those special people who were responsible for molding Lee's students into responsible, well-rounded citizens were known as the faculty. Although often underpaid and unappreciated the teachers each gave not only their time and energy but also a part of themselves for which the student body will be forever indebted:

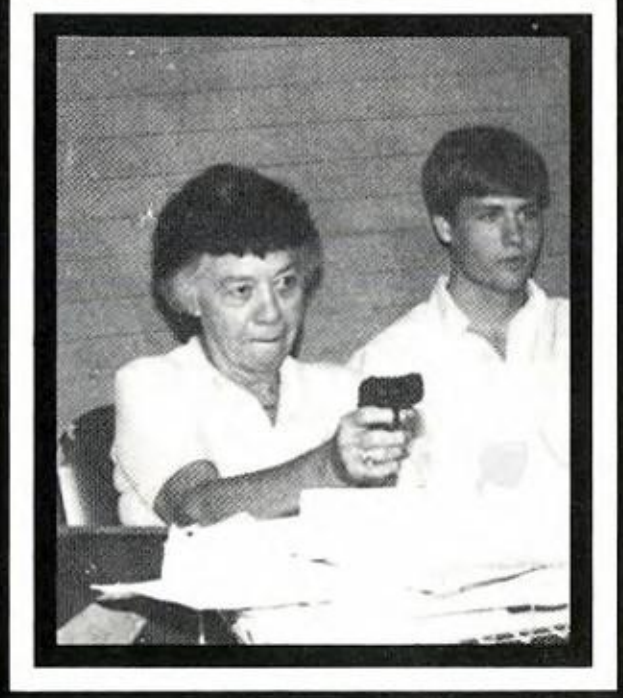
Guĭd′ ă nce (n.) the advice given to the students by the faculty which enabled them to turn their lives in a productive direction Ex. — The faculty set prime examples of proper values and moral standards.

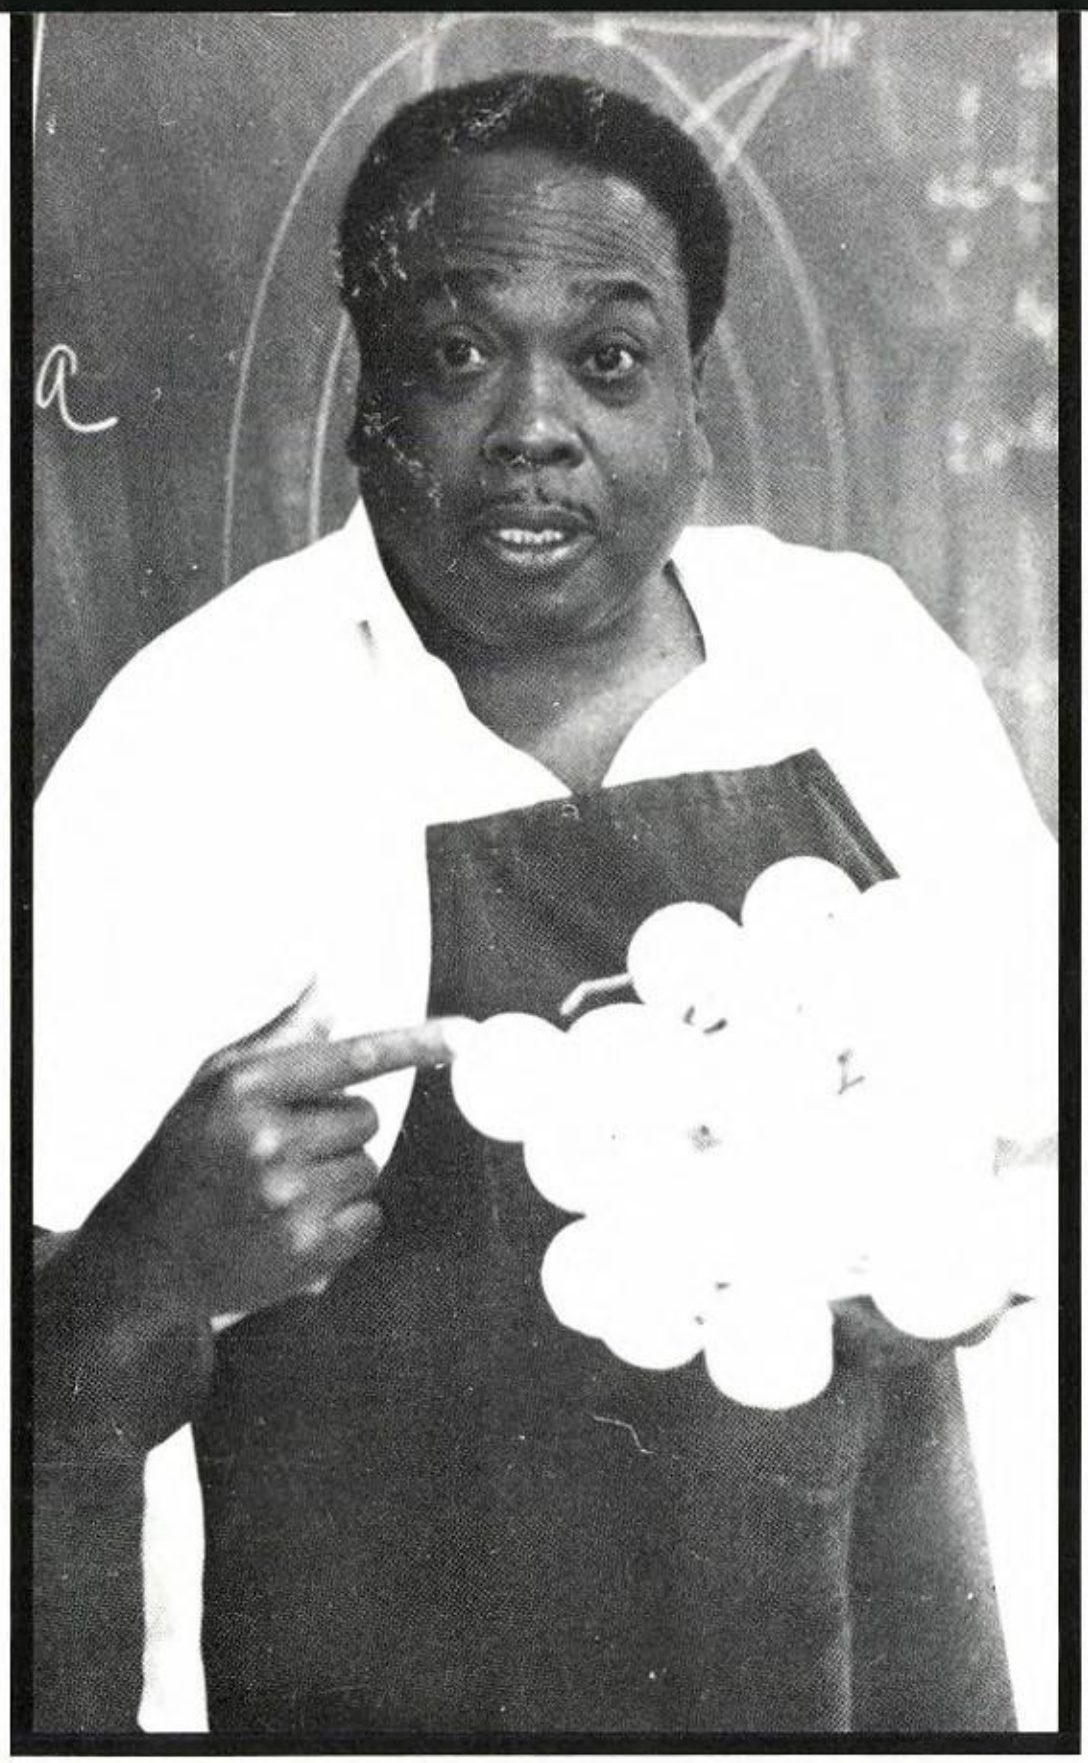
Knowl′ edġe (n.) facts which the faculty exchanged with the students in order to fully develop their minds. Ex. — The addition of the International Baccalaureate program gave Lee's students the opportunity to receive an education as good as any in the world.

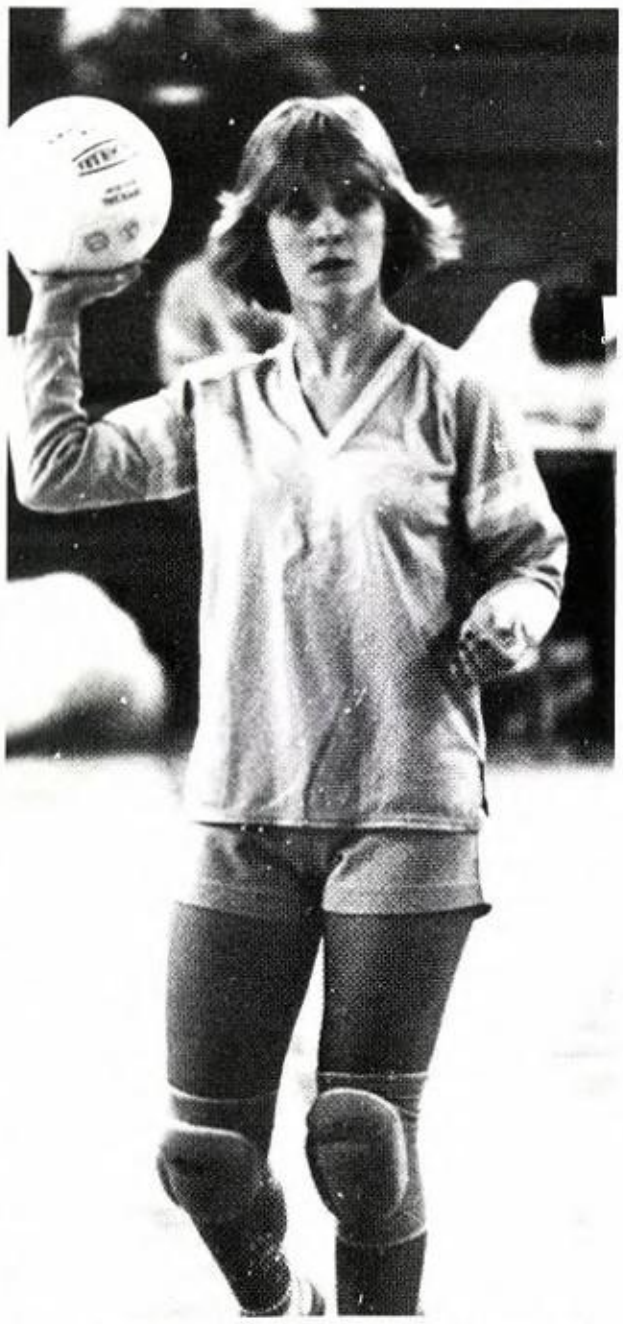
Friend′ ship (n.) a bond established between the faculty and the students Ex. — Teachers went beyond the required and made the extra effort to bridge the communication gap between teenager and adult.



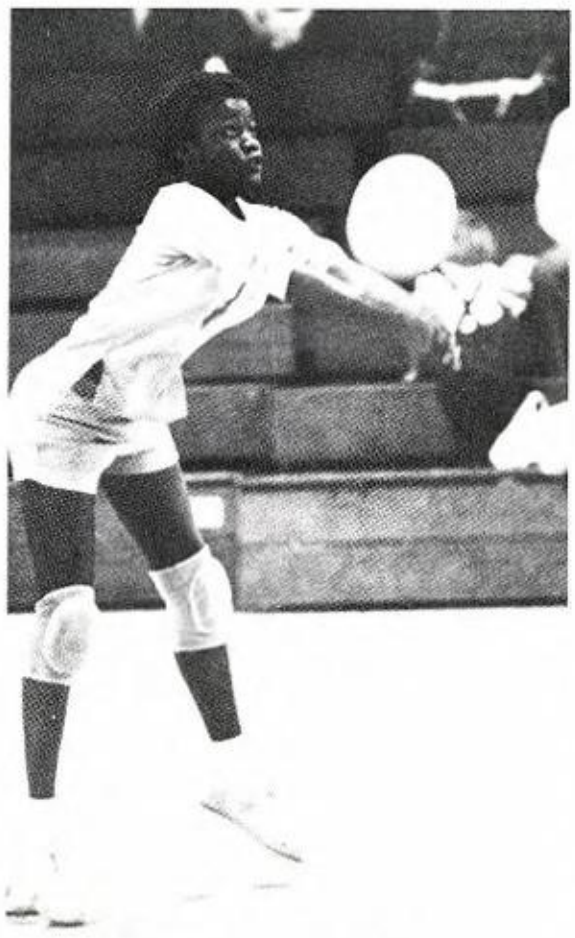








Amanda Brown practices before the match.



Lisa York: in perfect form.

FRESHMEN ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE

At the opening of volleyball season, hopes for a Freshmen team were bleak. However, Miss Jeanne Reynaud put together a team. Because of their late start, they only played eight matches. With consistently fine performances, Amber Dobson and Abla Agbanjo led the team to victories over Westbury and Worthing. The J. V. and Freshman teams have accomplished much this year and next year is promising.

The assistant principals, Mrs. Mary Carolyn Smith, Mr. Fred Skains, and Mr. Charles Henderson assisted Mr. Bergen and the staff in various ways.

Mr. Charles Henderson helped with cafeteria duties and bus transportation. He also was in charge of disciplining Freshmen and Sophomores.

Mr. Fred Skains enforced discipline of Juniors along with assisting on campus construction and inventory.

Mrs. Mary Carolyn Smith was in charge of Senior discipline along with the issuing and recollecting of textbooks.

There was a new addition this year to Mr. Bergen's staff, Mrs. Betty Von Maszewski. She was the new Dean of Instruction. Her duties included supervising all the teachers and curriculum. Her guidance, along with the teachers', made the 1985-1986 school year one of the best academic years ever.

ENGLISH STRIVES FOR PERFECTION

The English Department, headed by Mrs. Sharon Nickel, emphasized the importance of diligent preparation for the S.A.T., as well as the fall and the spring Proficiency Tests. Lee offered both the International Baccalaureate Program and CVAE courses in English for further study.

The English electives, Creative Writing, Developmental Reading, and Word Power helped increase a student's language skills. The English Department takes pride in the success of its literary arts magazine ECHOES. Under the direction of Mr. Vincent D'Amico, outstanding pieces of literature were written by Lee's students. ECHOES continued for its sixth, successful year as a major publication at Lee.

MATH SOLVES THE PROBLEM

With courses ranging from the basic to the involved, Lee's Math Department, headed by Mrs. Thera Yoes, strove to fulfill every student's career and college needs. Lee students were offered instruction in everything from the basics of Algebra and Geometry to the more complex theories of Trigonometry and Calculus. Interested students could learn the techniques of programming in Computer Math, while the most dedicated students chose to take the more challenging International Baccalaureate curriculum.

Mu Alpha Theta, a nationally affiliated math club, was available to those students who wished to participate in math contests and related activities. The department continued to stress the importance of math in higher education, as well as in the business world.

SCIENTISTS DO IT IN THE LAB

The Science Department, directed by Miss Anna J. Schweitzer, gave students a deeper insight into the wonders of life and the forces that govern our world. The International Baccalaureate Program (IB) offered courses in Biology, Physical Science, Biology II, Chemistry, and Physics this year. Basic and advanced courses in Biology, Oceanography, Physical Science, Chemistry, and Physics enriched the students' understanding of nature along with the Science Club, Critters and Creatures, Chemistry Honor Society, and J.E.T.S.

HISTORIANS TURN THE PAGES

The Social Studies Department, headed by Ms. Harriett Isgren, included study in the areas of Geography, Psychology, American and World History, Government, and Economics. The IB Program expanded this year to include American History, Government, and Economics. There were many special enrichment programs available to Social Studies students. The most popular was the Close-Up trip to Washington, D.C., in February, and a Mock Trial in celebration of Law Day in May.

Students were also involved in such clubs as Young Conservatives Club, the Texas History Club, and the Lee Y Law Club just to name a few. The Lee Y Law Club encouraged participation in the Democratic process.

LINGUISTS SPEAK IN TONGUES

The Foreign Language Department, headed by Mrs. Inez Anido, was created to increase the student's ability to communicate in a foreign language. The department made languages such as Spanish, French, German, and Latin available. For students who wished to increase their vocabulary and understanding of the English language, courses in Word Power and Basic Latin were offered. Each of the languages sponsored a club as well as an Honor Society. The department offered a great variety of courses designed to meet each student's needs.

THE FINE ARTS DEVELOP TALENT

The Art Department, under the leadership of Mr. Henri Gadbois, stressed the importance of many facets of the artistic world. Students were offered courses in drawing, painting, sculpture, and photography. The Language Arts Department, headed by Mr. Rod Nichols, helped students develop their skills in writing and speaking. Journalism, speech, and debate were among the courses offered. For students wishing to develop their skills in journalism, positions on the SABER and Traveler staffs were offered. The Drama Department, under the direction of Miss Linda Shuler, helped further students' education in drama while Razz-M-Tazz entertained many.

HOME-MAKERS ARE SEW EFFICIENT

Lee's Homemaking Department's goal this year was to improve the student's knowledge of the home and its operations. Under the leadership of Miss Beth Bogan, classes were offered in Clothing, Foods, Home Management, Home and Family Living, and Consumer Education. The Future Homemakers of America (F.H.A.) Club was available to students who wished to pursue a career in this field.

ATHLETICS STRENGTHEN OUR BODY

Lee's Physical Education Department was designed to increase the students' physical fitness and build healthy attitudes about being active. A variety of sports was offered for both boys and girls, including football, volleyball, swimming, diving, archery, and golf.

The ROTC corps, led by Colonel Arthur Butcher and Sergeant Richard Cockroft, learned about the many aspects of our military system and the many possibilities of a career in this field.

Mrs. Anne Hair sponsored Lee's drill team, the Lee Lieutenants. Through hard work and long hours of practice, the girls put together the half-time shows for all the football games.

TEACHERS SHOW US THE ROPES

Vocational Education was again a strong aspect of the Lee curriculum. From business education, under the leadership of Mrs. Sandra Meyer, to Vocational Agriculture, led by Mr. Roy Sheffield, students had the opportunity to get the first hand experience in the fields that intrigued them. With classes like Shorthand, Accounting, Business Law, individuals could learn more about subjects that interested them.

Class'es

As students swarmed into Lee in early September, they eagerly scrambled up another notch on the totem pole and became part of a melting pot filled with 2400 individuals:

Sēn'iŏrs (n.) CLASSiest Ex. 1 — Seniors of '86 provided unusually outstanding leadership. Ex. 2 — There was "no substitute for the seniors of '86."
Jŭn'iŏrs (n.) CLASSier Ex. — Enduring what is reputed to be the toughest academic year, Juniors were caught in a limbo because they weren't at the bottom and they weren't at the top.
Soph • ŏ • mōres (n.) touch of CLASS Ex. — After coming of age, the Sophomores were allowed to participate in many more school activities. Ex. 2 — Sophs sought revenge for the abuse they had taken as Fish.
Fresh'men (n.) no CLASS Ex. 1 — While adjusting to their new surroundings, they flopped around and proved to be "Fish out of water." Ex. 2 — Freshmen once again eagerly bought elevator passes.

TOP OF THE TOTEM POLE

The class of '86 had finally made it! They were now the "top of the totem pole," and there was no stopping them. Excitement of the coming year filled the halls. Great progress had been made on the new buildings, and the clubs again began their activities. Through great determination and hard work, Lee spirit was stronger than ever. Although for the first time Seniors were exposed to the IB program, they still enjoyed both school related and extra-curricular activities to the fullest.

Christmas passed and the new year began, bringing with it the Senior prom, formals, and, unfortunately, finals. However, as graduation time approached and all events became memories, everyone realized how quickly high school had come and gone.

Class of '87

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Karen Coates, Treasurer; Robin Moll, Vice President; Joli Burrows, President; Julie Allison, Secretary.

JUNIORS JIVE

As the 1985-'86 school year approached its end, juniors had great expectatons of their final year. They prepared for the most challenging obstacles to be encountered from House Bill 72. From their experiences they learned valuable lessons that only the pressures of peers and high school could bring.

Juniors realized the importance of their studies as well as the necessity to obtain all information about "every possible subject" to achieve perfect mastery of the loathesome Scholastic Aptitude Tests. Somehow, through it all they managed to enjoy the prestige of being UPPERCLASSMEN.

Row 1: Robin Moll, Carrie Culp, Robin Roark, Michael Johns, Mark Provine. Row 2: Amy Lighter, April Hoelscher, Beth Debrovner, Jennifer Fountain, Joli Burrows, Christine Wang, Sossy Sarikhanian, Barbara Shavlin. CLASS OF '88

Sophomore Class Officers: Leslie Barnard, Historian; Andi Iken, Treasurer; Julie Braswell, Secretary; Kelly Cajahuaringa, Vice President; Dana Dull, President.

CLASS OF '88 MOVES UP

As the Class of '88 climbed another notch on the totem pole, they gained the right to abuse as they had once been abused. The ability to participate in more clubs and social activities created many new experiences that brought close friends even closer. Along with growing older came a few more responsibilities which the sophomores faced with determination. The Class of '88 climbed another step closer to achieving their seniority.

Left: Sophomores stick together in their endeavor to reach the top.

Future Longhorns stick together knowing it's going to be a long hard ride.

CLASS OF '89 FITS IN FINE

The Freshman class entered into Lee life with many goals for the years to follow. Being the youngest proved to be an asset in that it helped them to gain recognition with their new faces and personalities. Although membership into clubs was limited, the freshmen proceeded to make their mark in Lee's history. Not only did they partake academically, but much of the "General Spirit" was contributed by these lowerclassmen, socially. Acknowledged numerically as the largest class, the well-acclaimed 'fish" were swept into the current and fit right in.

FRESHMEN SEEK NEW FELLOWSHIP

"Where's the dog when you need it?" whines a nauseated JoAnna Butler.

Amy Fenton and Megan McKeithan, both victims of the "freshman blues" resort to nametags in hopes of acclaiming some kind of notariety, while self-assured Carol Jasper wonders how anyone could help but remember her name.

Sēn'iŏr Hon'ŏrs and Wŏrds of Wis • dŏm', Ads, In'dex

Although the infamous Senior year often failed to live up to its reputation, it was not without its perks. Having come full circle, Seniors reverted to their "geeky" selves which they had suppressed for three long years. Seniors made the best of their last year and when they cleaned out their lockers they did not go away empty handed:

Gōals (n.) — the plans students made for their futures Ex. — After graduation some students went on to college while others went straight into the big bad world.

Friend'ships (n.) — lasting bonds Ex. — Even though the end of high school closed a chapter in students' lives, they did not leave behind the friendships they had established.

Mem'ō • ries (n.) — the inevitable product of four years of working hard and playing hard Ex. — No one will forget the football games, pep rallies, parties and most importantly House Bill 72.

Opposite Page: Left: "Hi, I'm Jorge. Will you love me? Will you hug me, will you never let me go???" asks Ruddy Rodriguez.

Opposite Page: Right: Which one of these girls is not an easy lover? a. Amy Miracle or b. Sherri Van Eman and Polly Jones.

Left: "These are the only two dogs we can keep a leash on," exclaim two proud puppies to Shelly Walker and Robin Moll.

Right: Amy Delaney glows as she holds her one and only Jennifer Laguarta.

Opposite Page: Left: We can only wonder what Polly Jones and Todd Sinex have been doing as they show the newest style in pajamas.

Opposite Page: Right: Senior James McKissick still insists that when he grows up he will be the rubberband man.

Right: Lindy Turner gives the thumbs up sign while Robin Roark still wonders whether she is ready or not.

Right: Freshmen prove they also can have a rootin' tootin' time even at the bottom of the barrel.

Opposite Page: Left: Matt Adams is all cheeks because he has finally found a place he truly belongs — Baby Land.

Right: Scott Brousard is singing his song, "If I Only Had a Brain" as he enters the Wiz's shack hoping to find help.

Far Right: Sophomore Juli Jones wonders if her sister has a pill for dead fish.

Opposite Page: With Karen Coates, Lindy Turner, Mary Margaret Speed and Jennifer Laguarta around who needs to worry about next year??? EVERYONE!!!

As the Wŏrld turned

Although many world events made the headlines, none was so infamous as the earth shattering occurrence above the coast of Florida:

Dis•ås′tēr (n.) the first deaths in space Ex. 1 — On January 28, at 10:45 a.m. the shuttle flight ended in tragedy as the solid rocket boosters failed 10 miles into space. Ex. 2 — Christa McAuliff, a teacher and the first private citizen in space, was among the casualties.

Shock (n.) the nation's reaction to the shuttle disaster Ex. 1 — News of the tragedy spread quickly; however, it took much longer for people to comprehend and accept what had happened. Ex. 2 — As students watched the explosion for the first time, they sat dumbfounded in silence. Ex. 3 — While Americans die every day, these 7 astronauts were special; they were heroes.

Res•ŏ•lū′tion (n.) an attitude borne out of troubled times Ex. 1 — NASA developed an even greater determination to explore and conquer space. Ex. 2 — Philippinos resolved to end the reign of Ferdinand Marcos whose rule had been marred by corruption and tyranny by bringing Corazon Aquino to power.

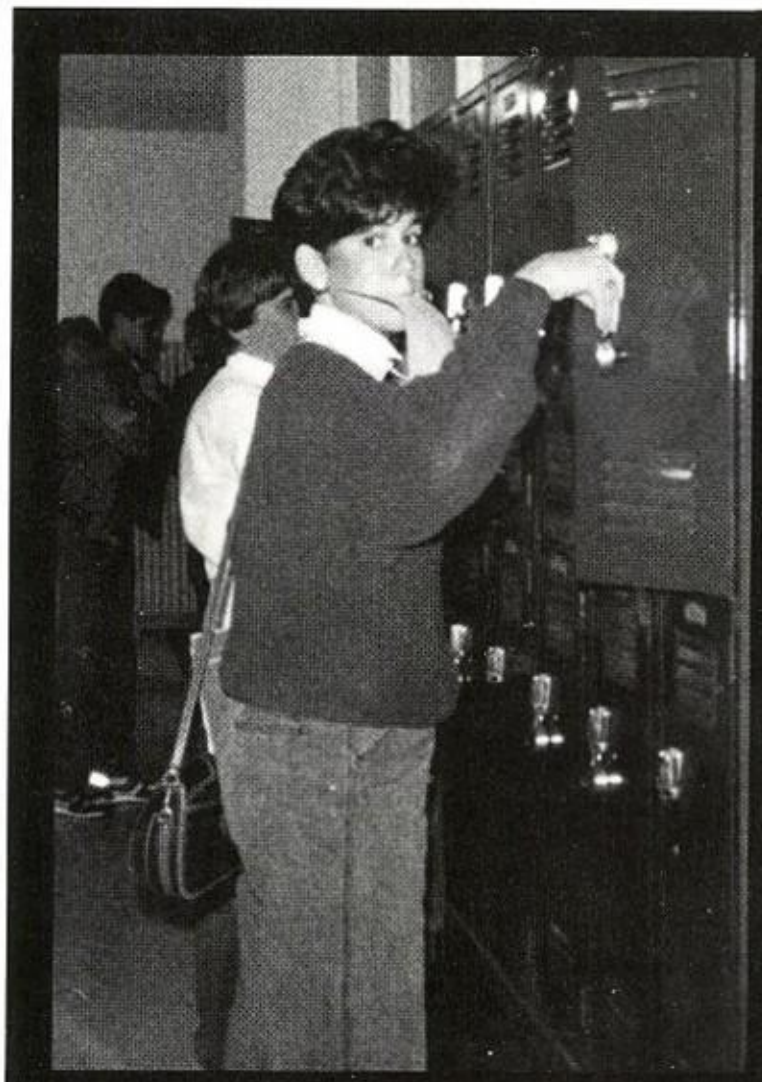
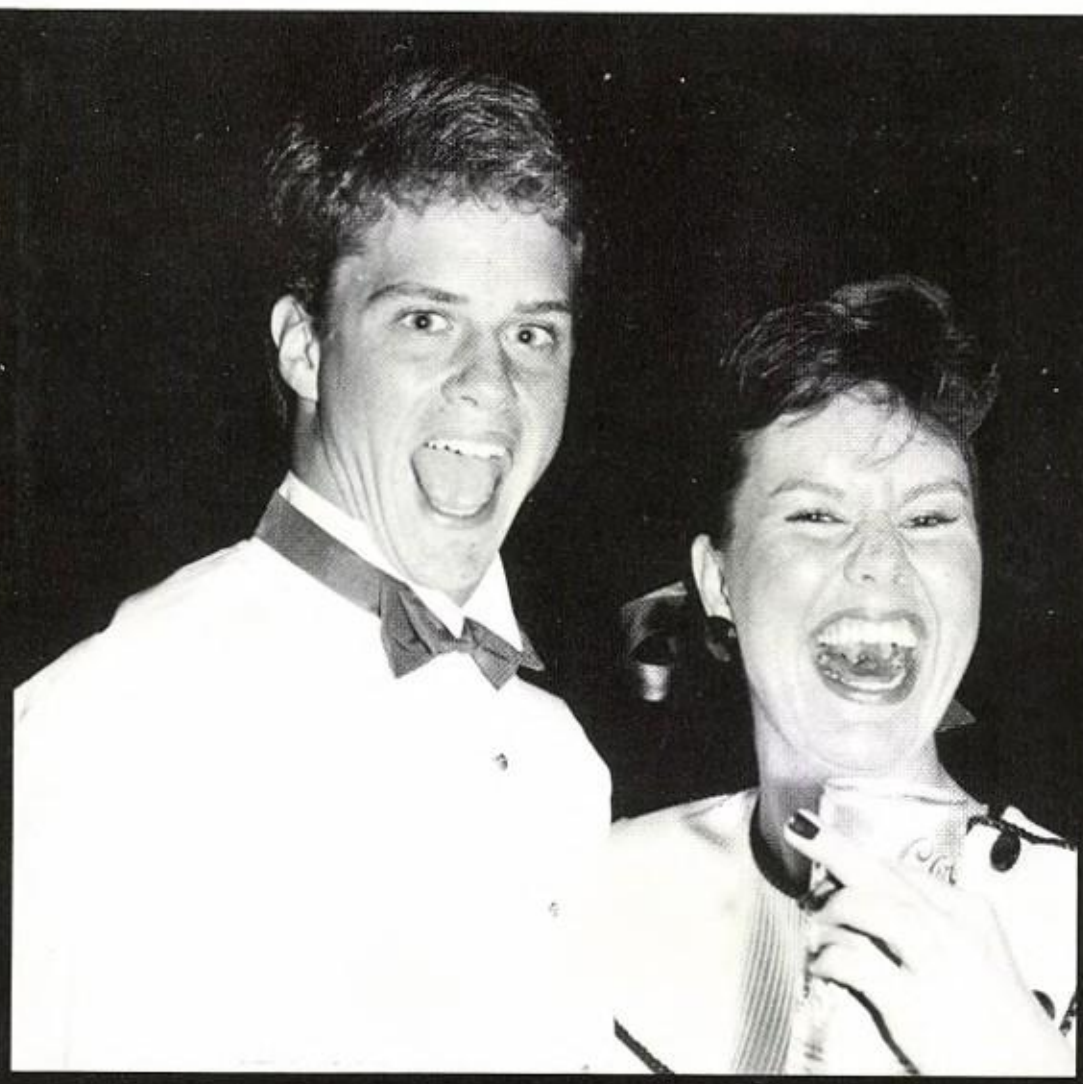
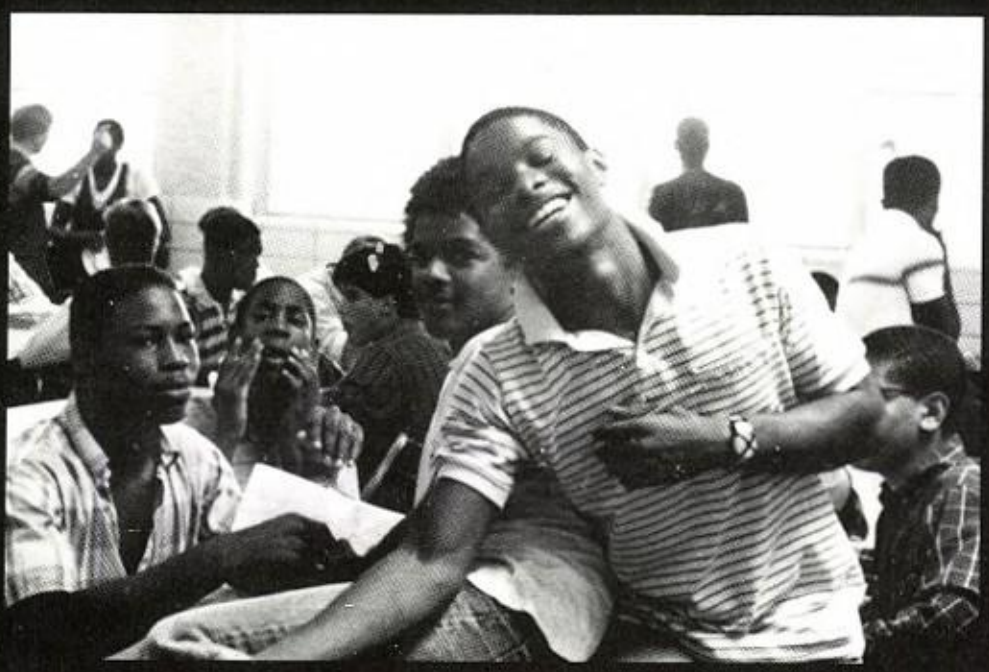
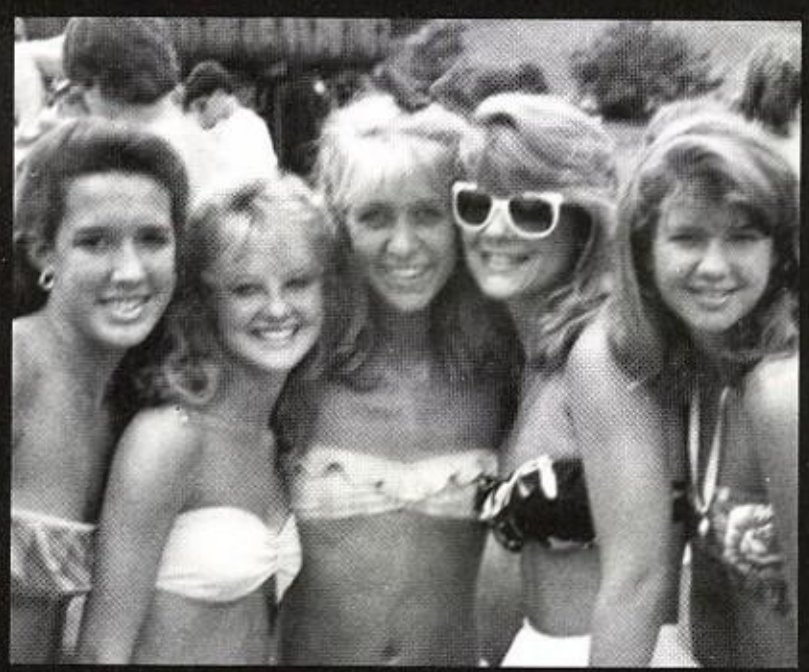
DON









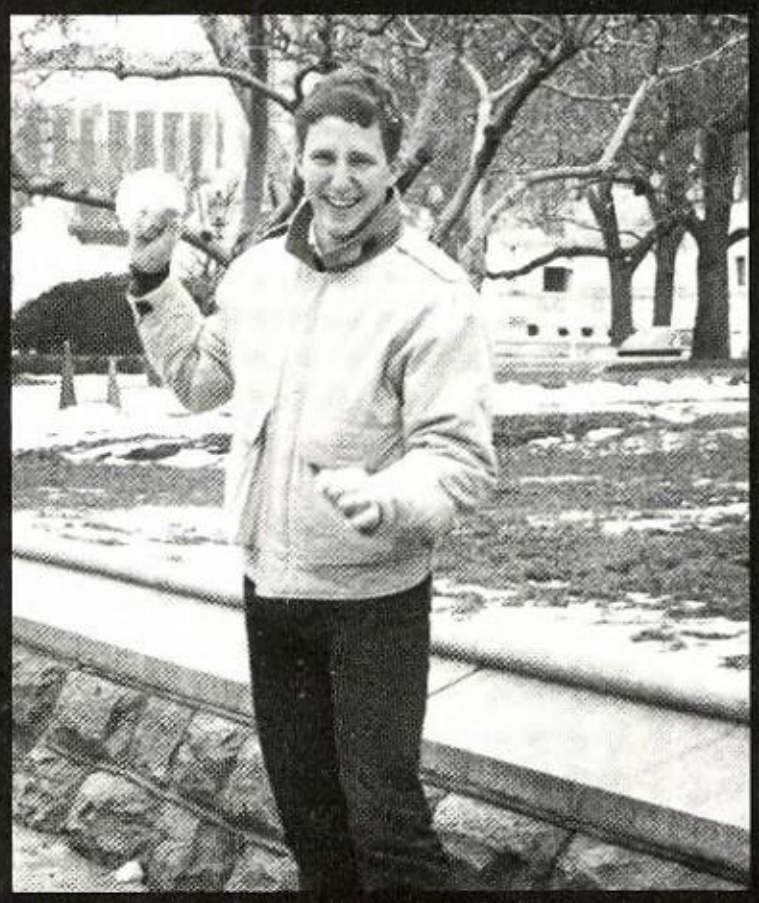
Behî'nd closed Dōors

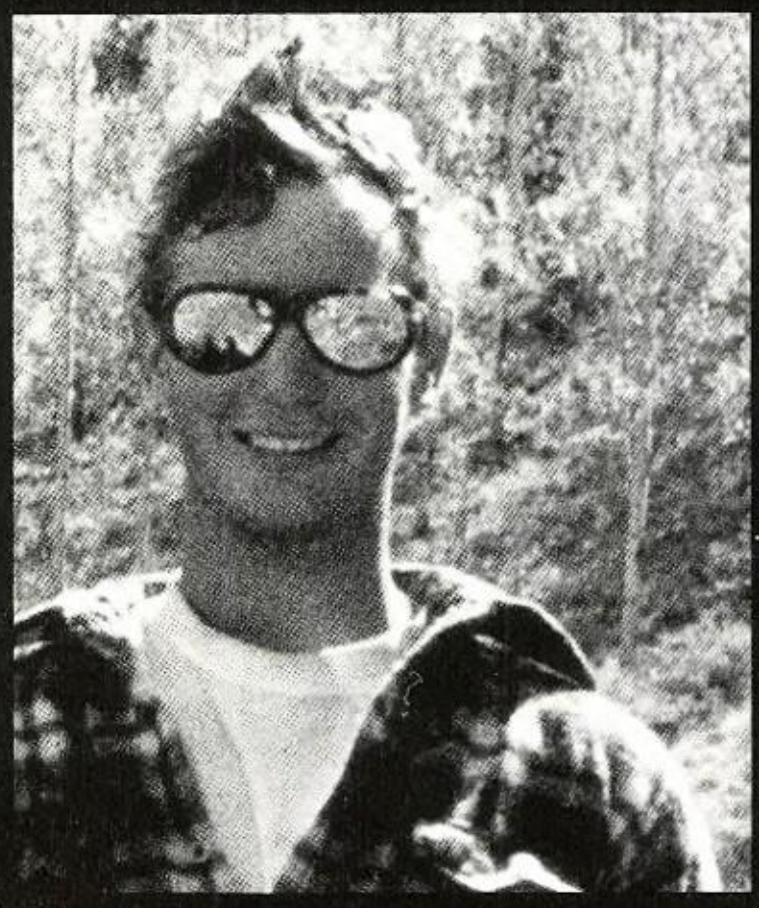
While many of HISD's experiments with techniques to raise the academic standards failed, the district was headed in the right direction:

In'no•vā•tive (a.) the addition of a Dean of Instruction Ex. 1 — Ms. Betty Von Maszewski was responsible for deciding the bell schedule "du jour." Ex. 2 — Teachers prepared for Von Maszewski's "surprise" evaluations weeks in advance hoping they would pass the neatness portion of the trial.

Ef•fi'cient (a.) HISD bookwork Ex. 1 — Teachers were forced to don magnifying glasses in order to bubble in grade sheets. Ex. 2 — Lee High school developed a "black market" in which teachers bartered unwanted paper clips for vital staples and vice-versa. Ex. 3 — HISD proficiencies were not proficient themselves, in as much as, questions were given wrong answers and answer keys were error ridden.

Prō•duc'tive (a.) the GDP (Gross District Product) reached new heights Ex. 1 — Because of the emphasis put on subject proficiencies, some teachers were found using the syllabi as the class textbook.





In the end

Through a never ending process of trial and error, students sought to discover their niche in life. While the world around them distorted their vision, the student body of Lee never lost sight of its purpose. Although new regulations and administrations posed obstacles, Lee students were determined to overcome and be different. The definition of Lee that the students of 1986 created was both unique and positive and one that will not soon be forgotten:

Def•i•ni'tion (n.) the balance betwen connotations and denotations Ex. —Just as people in the real world found it necessary to respect traditional "truths," so did the students at Lee. However, in their rapidly changing environment these young adults also found it vital to adapt old beliefs to modern standards. It is these traditional and modern definitions of life that the individual combines to form his outlook.

"Our knowledge is the amassed thought and experience of innumerable minds."

— Ralph Waldo Emmerson

Oz —

At times like this it's hard to be humble (but I guess we never pretended to be). We sought the Wiz and she gave us many memories, most of which cannot be mentioned here, to forever treasure. It has been said that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link in which case Creel is one tough cookie! Thanks to Jeff who was there when I really needed him and James and Dan for keeping my sense of humor intact. Be grateful that none of us was in need of the beauty sleep we went without. Wiz — Thanks for hangin' in there for us. I can't help but feel sorry for the person who eventually follows you, for it's going to take awfully big feet to fill the shoes of Tiny Wisdom.

Thanks for puttin' up with me; you've created a masterpiece.

All the best,
Kirstin Torgerson
